

NEW YORK FOOTBALL GIANTS

2015 INFORMATION GUIDE

The Giants this year are celebrating the 25th anniversary of one of their most successful and memorable teams in franchise history, the 1990 squad that won Super Bowl XXV. In 1990, the Giants won their first 10 games and finished the regular season with a 13-3 record. They routed the Chicago Bears in an NFC Divisional Playoff Game 31-3. The following week, Matt Bahr's 42-yard field goal as time expired gave the Giants a 15-13 victory over the two-time defending champion 49ers in San Francisco in the conference championship game. The Giants won their second title in five seasons when they defeated the Buffalo Bills, 20-19 in the Super Bowl. The 1990 Giants featured two current members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, head coach Bill Parcells and linebacker Lawrence Taylor. Quarterback Phil Simms started the first 14 games before he suffered a foot injury and was relieved by Jeff Hostetler. The team also included running back Ottis Anderson, the Super Bowl MVP, plus Carl Banks, Pepper Johnson and Leonard Marshall on defense.

HOME OF THE GIANTS METLIFE STADIUM

In 2010, the Giants moved into a beautiful, new, state-of-the-art stadium built just a few yards from where Giants Stadium stood for more than three decades. MetLife Stadium is the nation's finest football stadium. It seats 82,500 fans and is one of the NFL's most technologically advanced stadiums.

MetLife Stadium took more than 4 million man-hours and $1.6 billion to build. The stadium features more than 9,000 club seats, 221 suites and 130,000 square feet of state-of-the-art club lounges. The first row of seats is just 46 feet from the sidelines and the sightlines are superb. The Giants' home is 2.1 million square feet, compared to Giants Stadium's 900,000 square feet. It has four 30 feet by 118 feet high-definition video screens, a 350,000 square foot outdoor plaza filled with interactive activities for fans of all ages.

On Feb. 2, 2014, MetLife Stadium hosted a historic event. It was the site of Super Bowl XLVIII, the first Super Bowl to be played outdoors at a cold weather venue. The Seattle Seahawks defeated the Denver Broncos, 43-8.

In its inaugural 2010 season, the Giants' home was known simply as New Meadowlands Stadium. On Aug. 23, 2011 the Giants, Jets and MetLife announced the signing of a 25-year agreement to name the teams' home venue MetLife Stadium.

"Our partnership with the Giants and Jets goes back to 2008 when we became the first cornerstone sponsor here at the stadium," said Steven A. Kandarian, president and chief executive officer of MetLife. "This expanded partnership provides significant benefits for both sides. MetLife secures the naming rights to a world class venue that will extend the reach of our brand to levels unmatched in the industry. And the Jets and Giants gain a sponsor with a history of financial strength and a brand as strong and storied as their own. MetLife Stadium is clearly one of the world's premier sports marketing facilities."

The NFL's premier venue opened for business in 2010. In addition to being the only stadium that is home to two NFL teams and Super Bowl XLVIII, it hosts dozens of non-NFL events each year including concerts, NCAA football and lacrosse games and international soccer matches.

The entire Meadowlands Sports Complex has been renamed The MetLife Sports Complex.

"It is truly an honor for our team to be affiliated with such a wonderful partner," said John Mara, president and chief executive officer of the Giants. "I know how much MetLife means to so many in New York and New Jersey, as an employer, as a trusted provider of financial services, and as a great corporate citizen. The company's huge presence and influence in our area makes it a natural fit for this stadium and the strength, stability and quality of MetLife matches perfectly with the characteristics that the Giants try to achieve in all aspects of our aspirations. MetLife is a true leader in its industry and brings a powerful, well-known brand that reflects very well on our stadium and what we're trying to accomplish here. For the Giants in particular, MetLife's reputation and long history are very appealing qualities that resonate with us on a very basic level. We are both organizations that value heritage and legacy."

"MetLife Stadium immediately joins the ranks of the most prestigious, high-profile sports-branded venues in the world, and that's the way it should be," said Steve Tisch, the Giants' chairman and executive vice president. "If you look at MetLife and the marketing and branding assets they have, you can understand how proud we feel that they have selected our stadium as the one they want their name on. Clearly MetLife realizes what a unique situation we have: two NFL home teams and twice as many games over the course of the season. And of course, we are very proud that MetLife has recognized just what a fantastic, one-of-a-kind facility this stadium is. Having watched this stadium rise and having enjoyed playing in it last season, the Giants are delighted that we have a naming partner that understands and appreciates the great utility and design Excellence of this venue."

ANN MARA

IN MEMORIAM

Ann Mara, who was often called “The First Lady of Football,” and was one of the most influential figures in Giants history, the matriarch of the franchise’s founding family and a woman beloved throughout the National Football League and the New York sports community, passed away on Feb. 1, 2015. She was 85.

The cause of death was complications from a fall she took in an ice storm outside her Westchester County, N.Y. home on Jan. 18.

Mara and her 11 children shared ownership of 50 percent of the Giants since her husband, Wellington Mara, died in 2005.

“Mrs. Mara was a tower of strength, dignity and inspiration for her family and all of us in the NFL,” said NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell. “Her family and the Giants organization have always reflected Mrs. Mara’s competitive spirit, integrity, and wonderful sense of humor.”

Although she was always a Giants fan, the team became a vital part of Ann Mara’s life in 1952, when she met Wellington at the Church of the St. Ignatius Loyola in Manhattan. She loved to retell the story of their first meeting.

“At 7:30 Mass, a little old lady fainted, and we both went to help revive her; that’s how we met,” she said. “But I had spotted him before that.”

They were married in 1954, and their family eventually grew to four sons and seven daughters, 43 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Three of Wellington and Ann Mara’s sons currently work in the Giants’ front office. John is the president and chief executive officer, Chris is the senior vice president of player evaluation, and Frank is the vice president of community relations.

In addition to her intimate involvement with her family and the Giants, Ann Mara was also a devout Catholic and prominent philanthropist who donated money to numerous causes and organizations. She tirelessly supported efforts to help children reach their fullest potential by aiding educational organizations like Convent of the Sacred Heart, Inner City Scholarship Fund, Boys Hope Girls Hope, and Life Athletes. Mara was also there for children with cancer through her support of the Ronald McDonald House of New York. In November, she dedicated the opening of a new building for the San Miguel Academy for children at risk, which was built through the NFL Snowflake Foundation.

In 2013, three days before MetLife Stadium hosted Super Bowl XLVIII, Ann Mara received the Paul J. Tagliabue Award of Excellence, which is presented to a league or team executive who demonstrates the integrity and leadership Tagliabue exhibited in career development opportunities for minority candidates and advocacy for diversity on the league and club level when he was NFL commissioner.

On Feb. 6, Mara’s funeral was fittingly held at St. Ignatius Loyola, the church where she was baptized and married. A large crowd of football luminaries, as well as former Giants players and coaches, attended the funeral mass.

“The 11 of us in our family are so fortunate,” John Mara, the oldest of Ann and Wellington’s children, said in his eulogy. “We thank God we had Ann and Wellington Mara as our parents. How much more blessed can anybody be than that, to have the two most loving, caring and supportive parents that anybody could ask for? The ideal role models. Our parents gave us so much.”

“Our mother loved being a mother,” said Susan McDonnell, the first in line of the Mara’s seven daughters. “I hope so, she had 11 children, but she really did. Close second to the love she had for our father was the love she had for each and every one of us. From very early on it was clear that mom and dad would help each of us, no matter what, and every day of their lives they did. And, of course, she loved being a grandmother to 43 and a great-grandmother to 16.”

Ann Mara also loved the Giants unconditionally as she did her family. Wellington, after all, was the son of Giants founder Tim Mara. One of the most prominent individuals in NFL history, Wellington is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Ann Mara was fiercely loyal to the Giants.

“My mother quickly grew to love and deeply understand football, almost as much as our father did,” McDonnell said. “And anyone who thought going to a Giants game with our mom was going to be a fun, social event was sadly mistaken. She prided herself in attending almost every game, home and away games, the last 60 years. . . . Mom, like all of us, was darn competitive, and I hate to admit it, but she was a terrible loser. A Giants game could ruin a week for all of us, but mom’s day could be completely destroyed by losing 45 cents playing her bridge games. She was fiercely loyal and very smart.”

Although John Mara has been at the top of the Giants’ club directory since his father’s death, Ann Mara frequently reminded him that she was the club’s top power broker.

“As many of you know, my mother liked telling everyone that she was my boss,” John Mara said. “(She’d say), ‘You are just an employee and you can be replaced.’ She would even heckle me if I was speaking at some event and she didn’t particularly like what I had to say. All of a sudden, she would yell from the audience, ‘Don’t forget, I am the boss.’ It got to the point where she was asked to sign a football and she signed, ‘Ann Mara — John’s boss.’”

The conclusion of the poem reads:

“And I think of her as living in the hearts of those she has touched, for nothing loved is ever lost and she has loved so much.”

“Thank you mom for everything you gave us and taught us,” John Mara said. “You were the best mother and role model for all of us. I may not have always shown it, but I was proud to be your employee.

“But I am even more proud to be your son.”

JOHN K. MARA

PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

John K. Mara is in his 25th season with the Giants. The franchise's President and Chief Executive Officer, he assumed the team presidency upon the passing of his father, Wellington Mara, in 2005. John Mara is the oldest of Wellington Mara's 11 children. He joined the Giants in 1991 as General Counsel and later added the title of Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer.

With team Chairman Steve Tisch, Mara was at the forefront of the planning and negotiations for MetLife Stadium, where the Giants began playing their home games in 2010 after 34 seasons in Giants Stadium. In addition, Mara, Steve Tisch and Jonathan Tisch, as well as Jets owner Woody Johnson, headlined the bid committee that helped convince the NFL owners to award Super Bowl XLVIII to the new stadium. Seattle and Denver played in the game on Feb. 2, 2014. The first Super Bowl to be held in a cold-weather outdoor venue was an overwhelming success, both in the week prior to the game and on game day.

Mara is the chairman of the NFL Management Council Executive Committee and he played an important role in negotiating a new collective bargaining agreement with the NFLPA. He has also served for 15 years on the influential NFL Competition Committee, which studies all aspects of the game and recommends rules and policy changes to NFL clubs, as well as the league's Health and Safety Committee, the Committee on Workplace Diversity, and the Committee on Los Angeles Opportunities.

Mara has been affiliated with the Giants his entire life. The franchise was founded in 1925 by his grandfather, Tim Mara. Wellington Mara was one of the most influential, respected and beloved executives in NFL history. Since John Mara joined the organization in an official capacity, the Giants have reached the playoffs nine times, won five NFC East titles and played in three Super Bowls, winning two.

Born in New York City on Dec. 1, 1954, Mara grew up in Westchester County in White Plains and graduated from Iona Prep High School in New Rochelle. He attended Boston College where he received a B.S. degree in marketing, graduating with Cum Laude honors in 1976. Mara earned his law degree from Fordham University in 1979 and then began his career as an attorney with the New York law firm of Vedder, Price, Kaufman, Kammholz and Day, specializing in labor and employment law and litigation. Two years later he moved to the Manhattan firm of Shea & Gould, where he practiced until joining the Giants.

Mara serves on the Board of Directors of Saint Vincent's Hospital in Harrison, N.Y. and Boys Hope Girls Hope of New York.

John and his wife, the former Denise Walter, have five children and nine grandchildren. The Mara family resides in Harrison, N.Y.

STEVE TISCH

CHAIRMAN AND EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Steve Tisch has been involved with the New York Giants since his father, Preston Robert Tisch, purchased 50 percent of the franchise in 1991. He joined the organization as Executive Vice President in July 2005, and after his father passed away, assumed the additional title of Chairman. Tisch worked closely with John Mara on the planning and construction of MetLife Stadium and cites his father's passion for the Giants as a driving force in his efforts to complete the project. Steve and Mara were named Best Owners in Forbes Magazine's 2011 Best Owners in the National Football League for their success both on and off the field.

In May 2010, Tisch joined with his brother Jonathan (the Giants' treasurer), John Mara and Jets owner Woody Johnson in the teams' successful bid to bring Super Bowl XLVIII to MetLife Stadium in February 2014. It was the first Super Bowl played in an open-air stadium in a cold weather region.

Outside of the Giants, Tisch is a partner at Escape Artists Productions, an independently financed motion picture and television production company with a first look non-exclusive deal at Sony Pictures Entertainment. For more than three decades, Tisch has successfully produced compelling stories in film and television, from the critically acclaimed television movie, The Burning Bed, to Risky Business, the sleeper hit that helped launch Tom Cruise's career. Other notable films include Forrest Gump, American History X, The Pursuit of Happyness, The Taking of Pelham 123, The Back-Up Plan, Hope Springs, Snatch, Lock Stock and Two Smoking Barrels, The Equalizer and Southpaw. Tisch is the only person with both an Academy Award and a Super Bowl ring.

Tisch is also active in philanthropy, generously contributing his time and resources to a variety of organizations. With a particular concern for the next generation, he has focused on their development in two areas in which he is passionate: sports and film.

In May 2014, at a White House summit on youth and sports concussions, President Obama announced Tisch's leadership gift to the David Geffen School of Medicine for the UCLA Steve Tisch BrainsPORT Program. The donation is the single largest gift from an individual to a medical center for a concussion-related initiative. The gift creates the first U.S. fellowship program to train pediatric neurologists who specialize in sports concussions, and establishes the world's most sophisticated research, prevention, diagnosis and treatment program for concussions and brain injuries with a particular emphasis on young athletes.

Working with the NYC Public School Athletic League (PSAL), Tisch created a program which provides qualified medical personnel to be present at all varsity and junior varsity contact football practices and games, allowing kids to get the benefits of participating in a team sport in a safer environment while providing greater peace of mind for their parents and families.

Recognizing the value of storytelling and its ability to increase dialogue and understanding, earlier this year Steve made a transformative gift to Tel Aviv University, elevating its world-renowned Department of Film and Television into a full school, now named The Steve Tisch School of Film and Television. The major investment will help attract and expand top level talent, increase scholarships, provide new state-of-the-art equipment, enable building renovations, enhance curriculums, and bring international collaborations. It will help nurture and grow creative, talented and diverse voices from across Israel, the region and the world.

Tisch also contributes his time to other worthwhile institutions in the arts, health and education fields. He is on the Board of Trustees for The Geffen Theatre in Los Angeles, the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and The Preston Robert Tisch Brain Tumor Center at Duke University. He is also the naming benefactor of the new sports and fitness center at his alma mater, Tufts University.

When asked whether he would rather have his Academy Award for Forrest Gump or one of his Super Bowl rings, Tisch has said he would give back the Oscar before either of the Giants' titles.

CHRIS MARA

SR. VICE PRESIDENT, PLAYER PERSONNEL

Chris Mara joined the Giants as Vice President of Player Evaluation on July 29, 2003. He was promoted to Senior Vice President of Player Personnel in 2011.

This is Mara's second tour of duty with the franchise. He joined the Giants staff prior to the 1979 season and over the next 14 years was a member of the club's player personnel department. Mara was a scout during the franchise's first two Super Bowl Championship seasons in 1986 and 1990.

Following his first stint with the Giants, Mara spent eight years (1994-2001) operating ProRate, Inc., an independent football scouting service contracted by as many as 15 NFL franchises. The service provided an evaluation of the free agent market in the NFL.

Mara spent 2001-02 as the President/General Manager of the New Jersey Gladiators of the Arena Football League. Mara oversaw a myriad of responsibilities including ticket sales, operations, and the arena lease. His primary focus was on player personnel and player contracts. Mara brought his extensive knowledge of professional football to the team and revived the struggling franchise in just one season.

After a difficult first season, the Gladiators posted a 9-5 record in 2002 and a first-place finish in the Eastern Division of the National Conference. Posting the biggest turnaround in AFL history, the Gladiators finished the 2002 regular season with seven more victories than the previous year and qualified for the playoffs for the first time in franchise history.

Mara graduated from Iona Prep in New Rochelle, N.Y. where he was a standout defensive back for three seasons, winning All-Catholic High School Athletic Association recognition after his senior year.

He began his collegiate career at Springfield College, where he was a defensive back on the freshman team and lettered on the varsity golf team. He then transferred to Boston College, where he earned a B.A. in the arts and sciences. During his scholastic and collegiate days, Mara spent many summers working at Giants training camps. During the regular season, he worked with broadcast teams from both CBS-TV and NBC-TV, as well as with visiting and home radio broadcast groups.

Mara was born in New York City. He is married to the former Kathleen Rooney and the couple has four children - Daniel, Kate, Rooney and Conor - and three grandchildren, Judith Kailee, Wellington Rooney and Ann MacKenna (Daniel's children).

JERRY REESE

SR. VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

Jerry Reese is in his ninth season as the Giants' Senior Vice President and General Manager. Reese is one of the most successful general managers in the NFL. His first eight seasons as head of the franchise's football operations included victories in Super Bowls XLII and XLVI, a 71-57 regular season record and an 8-1 postseason mark. During his tenure the Giants have won two NFC East championships, earned three postseason berths and finished .500 or better in six consecutive seasons.

Reese was named the Giants' Senior Vice President and General Manager on Jan. 16, 2007. He succeeded Ernie Accorsi, who had held the positions for nine years before retiring. Reese has been a member of the Giants organization since 1994. Prior to becoming the G.M., he spent four seasons as the team's Director of Player Personnel. Reese coordinated the Giants' college scouting, was in charge of the team's draft preparation and ran the draft room as the players were selected. When Accorsi retired, the team's ownership selected Reese as the team's third general manager since 1979, when the late George Young assumed the position. Young held the position until 1997, when Accorsi took over. Accorsi, who had helped convince Reese to leave college scouting and join the pro personnel department of the Giants, promoted him and championed his cause.

The selection of Reese was historic, as he was the third African-American general manager in NFL history, joining Baltimore's Ozzie Newsome and Houston's Rick Smith. It was particularly poignant for Reese to learn of his appointment to Martin Luther King, Jr. Day.

"I thought about that a lot and it was absolutely perfect timing for this to happen," Reese said. "I don't mean to sound cliché, but I really feel it's my time to carry the torch. There are many people who went before me who really suffered through this process, and now it's my time. I'm going to be successful — I have to be successful on a lot of levels."

And he has been. Last year, the Giants endured an injury-plagued 6-10 season. In 2013, they were 7-9, which ended their streak of non-losing seasons at eight in a row, their longest such stretch since they were at least .500 in 10 consecutive seasons from 1954-63.

During those two years and in the months prior to the 2015 season, Reese continued to add players with an eye toward returning the Giants to the top of the NFL.

In 2013, he signed free agents Cullen Jenkins, Trumaine McBride and Josh Brown and swung an in-season trade for Jon Beason, who stepped in at middle linebacker and quickly became a team leader. Top draft choice Justin Pugh started every game at right tackle to become just the fourth Giants first round draft choice to start every game in their rookie season since the 1970 merger. The others were linebacker Jim Files (1970), guard John Hicks (1974) and Hall of Fame linebacker Lawrence Taylor (1981). Johnathan Hankins, Damontre

Moore, Ryan Nassib and Cooper Taylor were also selected in that draft.

Last year, a strong Giants draft class was highlighted by first-round selection Odell Beckham Jr., who had the greatest season by a rookie wide receiver in NFL history. In just 12 games, Beckham caught 91 passes for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns, all franchise rookie records.

He was named the Associated Press' Offensive Rookie of the Year, the first Giants player to be so honored in the 58-year history of the award. Andre Williams, the Giants' leading rusher in 2014, was also a member of that draft class, as were Weston Richburg, Jay Bromley, Nat Berhe, Devon Kennard and Bennett Jackson, all of whom are expected to contribute in 2015.

In 2012 the Giants finished 9-7, the same record they had the previous season, when they won the Super Bowl for the second time during Reese's tenure. It was the second time in five opportunities the Giants followed a Super Bowl appearance with a winning record (they also did it in 2008); Reese was the general manager each time. One of the highlights of the season was the development of the draft class brought in by Reese and his staff, notably running back David Wilson and wide receiver Rueben Randle. Wilson's promising career ended prematurely when he was forced to retire with a neck injury. Victor Cruz, originally signed as an undrafted free agent in 2010, had his second big season in a row, with 86 catches for 1,092 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Reese and the Giants enjoyed great success in 2011. In the transaction frenzy that followed the end of the lockout, Reese added or re-signed several players who became stalwarts on the Super Bowl champions, including center David Baas, punter Steve Weatherford, running back Ahmad Bradshaw, defensive end Mathias Kiwanuka, offensive lineman Kevin Boothe, safety Deon Grant, defensive lineman Dave Tollefson and defensive tackle Rocky Bernard. Cruz emerged from obscurity to set a franchise record with 1,536 receiving yards on 82 catches. He also scored a touchdown in the victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI. The Giants added an impressive rookie class that included cornerback Prince Amukamara, the team's top draft choice, fullback Henry Hynoski and linebackers Jacquian Williams, Spencer Paysinger and Mark Herzlich.

Reese helped put the Giants on the road to a championship soon after becoming general manager in 2007. That year, he re-signed center Shaun O'Hara, which kept an outstanding offensive line intact, and added linebacker Kawika Mitchell via free agency and running back Reuben Droughns and kicker Lawrence Tynes in trades. He drafted eight players — Aaron Ross, Steve Smith, Jay Alford, Zak DeOssie, Kevin Boss, Adam Koets, Michael Johnson and Ahmad Bradshaw — who all played during the postseason. During the season, the Giants added important players like fullback Madison Hedgecock and wide receiver/kickoff returner Domenik Hixon.

In addition to helping the Giants win a championship as rookies, many of those players made significant contributions in later years. Smith shattered the franchise record with 107 receptions in 2009. Bradshaw led the Giants in rushing in three consecutive seasons (2010-12) and twice ran for more than 1,000 yards. DeOssie is a two-time Pro Bowl long snapper who has never missed a game in his career.

In 2008, Reese's ability to acquire important players helped the Giants win the NFC East title with a 12-4 record. When Tynes was injured in the preseason, Reese signed 21-year veteran John Carney, whose 143 points were then the second-most in Giants history. The Giants also drafted Kenny Phillips, Terrell Thomas and Mario Manningham, all of whom made significant contributions to successful teams. Manningham rejoined the Giants this year after two seasons with the San Francisco 49ers.

Reese continued to acquire key players in 2010. He shored up a position where the Giants were short-staffed by importing safeties Antrel Rolle and Grant. Those two safeties teamed with Phillips to give the Giants much-improved play at that vital position. Rolle was selected to the NFC Pro Bowl team.

The 2010 first-round draft choice was defensive end Jason Pierre-Paul, whose 4.5 sacks were the most by a Giants rookie since Cornelius Griffin had 5.0 in 2000. Pierre-Paul had two sacks vs. Jacksonville on Nov. 28 and two against Washington the following week to become the first rookie in Giants history with at least two sacks in consecutive games. In 2011, Pierre-Paul was one of the very best defensive players in the NFL. His 16.5 sacks were the fourth-highest total in Giants history. JPP joined Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor and Michael Strahan as the only Giants with at least 16 sacks in a season. Pierre-Paul was selected to his first Pro Bowl and was named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press. He was twice selected NFC Defensive Player of the Week in December — when he was also named NFC Defensive Player of the Month. In 2012, JPP was selected to play in his second Pro Bowl, this time as a starter.

While serving as the Giants' Director of Player Personnel, Reese oversaw all aspects of the team's college scouting. During his tenure as personnel director, the Giants drafted Eli Manning, Osi Umenyiora, David Diehl, David Tyree, Chris Snee, Gibril Wilson, Justin Tuck, Brandon Jacobs, Barry Cofield, Corey Webster and Kiwanuka, all of whom played big roles in the 2007 championship season and beyond.

Reese originally joined the Giants' scouting department on Dec. 15, 1994. In the spring of 1999, he became Dave Gettleman's assistant in the pro personnel department. In that position, he scouted the Giants' upcoming opponents and evaluated NFL players. Reese was promoted to Director of Player Personnel on May 1, 2002.

Reese came to the Giants after a successful playing and coaching career at the University of Tennessee at Martin. During his college playing career (1981-84), Reese was honored as a two-time All-Gulf South Conference pick. He is among the leaders on UT-Martin's all-time career list in interceptions. Reese led the team with seven interceptions in 1982 and was UT-Martin's leading tackler in 1984 with 99. Reese was GSC Defensive Player of the Week three times during his career and was named team MVP following his senior season.

Following his playing career, Reese served as a student assistant and as a graduate assistant before becoming a full-time coach of the secondary from 1988-93. He moved to receivers coach and assumed the assistant head coach title in January of 1993.

In 2008, Reese was inducted into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame.

Reese has his bachelor's degree in health and physical education and earned his master's degree in education administration and supervision. In the fall of 1995, Reese was inducted into the U-T Martin Hall of Fame.

Reese, a native of Tiptonville, Tenn. is married to the former Gwen Moore. They have two children, Jasmyne Danielle and Jerry II.

TOM COUGHLIN

HEAD COACH

Tom Coughlin is one of the finest, most successful and most admired coaches in NFL history.

His signature achievements are the Giants' victories against the New England Patriots in Super Bowls XLII and XLVI. Coughlin's 2-0 record in Super Bowls makes him one of 13 coaches to win multiple Super Bowls. He is one of 19 coaches with a perfect Super Bowl record.

In 18 seasons as a NFL head coach, Coughlin is 164-140 (.539) in the regular season and 12-7 (.632) in the postseason for an overall record of 176-147 (.545). The 164 regular season victories place him 13th on the NFL's career list. Coughlin's 176 total victories put him in 12th place on that list. Coughlin is second among active coaches in both regular-season and total victories, trailing only New England's Bill Belichick (233 victories).

Coughlin has led the Jacksonville Jaguars and the Giants to five division titles and nine playoff berths.

Coughlin is one of the very best coaches in the Giants' 90-year history. The 2015 season is Coughlin's 12th with the Giants. He is just the second man in Giants history to coach the team for at least 12 seasons. Only Hall of Famer Steve Owen, who reigned for 24 seasons from 1930-53, led the team for a longer time period.

Coughlin has the NFL's third-longest head coaching tenure with one team, behind Belichick (who is in his 16th season with the Patriots) and Cincinnati's Marvin Lewis (in his 13th season).

With the Giants, Coughlin is 96-80 in the regular season and 8-3 in the postseason. The 96 victories are second in franchise history to Owen's 151. Coughlin has led the Giants to two NFC East titles and five playoff berths. His eight postseason triumphs tie him with Pro Football Hall of Famer Bill Parcells for the most ever by a Giants coach. Coughlin was the team's wide receivers coach under Parcells from 1988-90.

Coughlin is by far the longest-tenured coach in the NFC East. He has been the Giants' coach since 2004. Dallas' Jason Garrett took over in 2010, Philadelphia's Chip Kelly, is in his third season at the helm and Washington's Jay Gruden is in his second year with the club.

The 2014 Giants won three of their final four games to finish 6-10. The previous year, the Giants finished 7-9, breaking a streak of eight consecutive non-winning seasons, the team's longest stretch of finishing .500 or better since they did it 10 straight years from 1954-63. The Giants had a winning record each season from 2010-12, the first time they had done that in three consecutive years since 1988-90 (when they were 10-6, 12-4, 13-3).

In 2012, the Giants were 9-7 and scored 429 points, the second-highest total in franchise history; the 1963 Giants scored 448. The 2012 season was the fifth in the history of the franchise in which the Giants scored more than 400 points. Four of them have occurred since Coughlin became head coach: 2012 (429 points), 2008 (427), 2005 (422) and 2009 (402). The 2012 Giants scored a franchise-record 278 points at home, shattering the old mark of 248, set in 2007.

In 2011, the Giants finished 9-7 and won the NFC East championship before winning four postseason games, including their second Super Bowl in five seasons. In leading the Giants to another title, Coughlin reached a number of impressive milestones. He increased his number of career postseason victories to 12, tying him with former Pittsburgh Coach Bill Cowher for the seventh-highest total in NFL history:

Coaches' Postseason Victories:

- 22: Bill Belichick
- 20: Tom Landry
- 19: Don Shula
- 17: Joe Gibbs
- 16: Chuck Noll
- 13: Mike Holmgren
- 12: Tom Coughlin, Bill Cowher

Coughlin and Belichick are the only two active coaches on the list.

The 2011 Giants, who won Super Bowl XLVI, were victorious in two road postseason games, the NFC Divisional Playoff in Green Bay and the conference championship game in San Francisco. When the Giants won Super Bowl XLII four years earlier, they won three road games, in Tampa Bay, Dallas and Green Bay. Including two wins with the Jacksonville Jaguars, Coughlin has nine postseason victories away from home - seven on the road and two neutral site Super Bowls. Coughlin's seven career road playoff victories tie another Hall of Famer, Landry, for the most in NFL history. Coughlin is 7-4 on the road in the playoffs (5-1 with the Giants). Landry was 7-7. The Giants have won seven consecutive postseason games away from home (five on the road, two neutral sites). Both streaks - five consecutive on the road, seven in a row away from home - are NFL postseason records.

Coughlin is 7-3 in postseason games against teams he faced in the regular season, including victories in 2011 over Green Bay, San Francisco and New England.

Coughlin was 65 years, 158 days old when Super Bowl XLVI was played on Feb. 5, 2012, making him the oldest coach to win a Super Bowl and the second-oldest to guide his team to the title game. Buffalo's Marv Levy was 68 years old when he coached the last of his four Super Bowls in January 1993. Coughlin is also the fourth-oldest coach to win a Super Bowl as a result of his team's Super Bowl XLII victory.

In 2011, Coughlin improved to 2-2 in conference championship games, including 2-0 with the Giants.

The 2011 Giants gained a franchise-record 6,161 yards. The former mark of 6,085 was set in 2010. Those are the only two 6,000-yard seasons in Giants history.

That 2011 Giants team shattered the franchise record with 4,734 net passing yards. The former mark of 4,019 was set in 2009. Last season, the Giants finished with 4,272 net passing yards. Those are the only three 4,000-yard passing seasons in Giants history. In 2014, the Giants also set a team record with 379 pass completions.

In 2011, the Giants won five regular-season games in which they trailed in the fourth quarter, tying the franchise record they set in 2002. They tied Denver and Cincinnati for the NFL's second-highest total. Arizona led the league with six.

That season, the Giants won their fourth Lombardi Trophy, and second under Coughlin, with an unexpected late-season run. A loss to the Washington Redskins on Dec. 18 left the Giants with a 7-7 record. It was their last defeat of the season. Six days later, the Giants defeated the Jets, 29-14. On the final night of the season they crushed Dallas, 31-14, to clinch the NFC East title, their eighth division championship since the 1970 merger. The Giants then defeated Atlanta, Green Bay and San Francisco to advance to Super Bowl XLVI, where they found a familiar foe in New England, a team they had defeated three months earlier. This time, the Giants scored with 57 seconds remaining and held off a late Patriots charge to win, 21-17.

The 2011 Giants were unique Super Bowl champions. They were the first team to win the title after a) losing seven games in the regular season; b) losing four consecutive games in the regular season; c) finishing with a negative scoring differential (394-400) in the regular season, and d) finishing last in the NFL in rushing in the regular season. They did so thanks to their resilience, toughness and tenacity, which are hallmarks of Coughlin-coached teams. In their four postseason victories, the Giants defeated 10-6 Atlanta, 15-1 Green Bay, 13-3 San Francisco and 13-3 New England to become the first team to beat four teams in the playoffs with better regular-season records. The Giants are the only team to twice win four games in a single postseason (doing it in 2007 and 2011).

Coughlin is one of seven active coaches to lead a team to a Super Bowl victory. The others are Belichick, Pittsburgh's Mike Tomlin, New Orleans' Sean Payton, Green Bay's Mike McCarthy, Baltimore's John Harbaugh and Seattle's Pete Carroll. Coughlin, Belichick and Payton are former Giants assistant coaches.

The two championship seasons, division titles, postseason berths, the streak of eight seasons at .500 or better and the impressive offensive statistics are successes in a Giants' revival that began when Coughlin was named the 16th head coach in franchise history on Jan. 6, 2004. The Giants won only four games in the season prior to his arrival. A longtime successful head coach on the collegiate level and in the NFL, Coughlin was the wide receivers coach of the Giants when they won Super Bowl XXV in 1990. When he returned to the team as head coach, Coughlin quickly put the team back on a path that would ultimately lead to two more Super Bowl victories.

The Giants improved from four to six to 11 victories and won the NFC East title in Coughlin's first two seasons with the team. In 2006, they went 8-8 and earned an NFC Wild Card playoff berth. The following season, the Giants were 10-6 in the regular season and again reached postseason play as a Wild Card, which served as a springboard to the team's Super Bowl victory. In 2008, they were one of the NFL's very best teams at 12-4 and reached the playoffs for the first time in the season following a Super Bowl appearance. Two years later, the Giants were only the sixth double-digit victory team to fall short of the postseason since the NFL's realignment in 2002. In 2011, they had one less regular season victory, a fact long forgotten when Coughlin held the Lombardi Trophy on the podium in the center of Lucas Oil Field on Feb. 5.

Coughlin twice led the Jacksonville Jaguars to the AFC Championship Game prior to leading the Giants to victories in two NFC Championship Games. He is one of just seven coaches to lead teams to a championship game in each conference since the 1970 merger. The others are Parcells and Dan Reeves (both former Giants coaches), as well as Chuck Knox, Jon Gruden, Tony Dungy and John Fox (a former Giants defensive coordinator).

Coughlin first ascended to the pinnacle of his profession in the 2007 season, when he led the Giants to a victory in Super Bowl XLII. The Giants, heavy underdogs entering the game, scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns to defeat the previously-undefeated New England Patriots, 17-14. Coughlin's 2007 team also set several milestone achievements on their way to the NFL championship. The Giants became the fifth Wild Card team to win the Super Bowl, the second in three years (the Pittsburgh Steelers in Super Bowl XL) and the first from the NFC (the Green Bay Packers joined the list in 2010). The Giants repeated that feat in 2011. They were the second team to win the Super Bowl after winning three postseason road games to get there (again joining the 2005 Steelers and again followed three years later by the Packers). The No. 5 Giants were then the lowest-seeded NFC team to win the Super Bowl since the NFL began seeding teams in 1990 (Green Bay was seeded sixth in 2010). Prior to the Giants' victory, a second seed was the previous low NFC team to win a Super Bowl. The 2007 Giants were just the third team to win the Super Bowl after starting the season 0-2. The others were the 1993 Cowboys and the 2001 Patriots.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of that title team was its ability to win on the road. The Giants won 10 consecutive games as visitors (seven regular season, three postseason), an NFL single-season record. They were the visiting team in the Super Bowl, which was their 11th consecutive triumph away from Giants Stadium. The Giants won their first 2008 road game, at St. Louis, to extend their road winning streak to 11 games, which tied them with three other teams for the second-longest such streak in NFL history. They achieved much of that success with 11 rookies on their 2007 active roster, a record for a Super Bowl winner.

After their 0-2 start in 2007, the Giants won six consecutive games to become just the fifth team in history and the second since 1947 to follow two opening losses with six straight triumphs. The last of those victories was over the Miami Dolphins in London's Wembley Stadium, which made the Giants the first team in history to win a regular season game outside of North America.

In 2008, Coughlin led the Giants to the NFC East championship with a 12-4 record. The 12 victories was their highest total since the 2000 NFC champions won 12 games. It was the eighth time in franchise history and the sixth time since the merger that the Giants finished a season with at least 12 victories. The Giants advanced to postseason play for the fourth consecutive season, the first time they accomplished that feat in their history.

Coughlin also led the Jaguars to four consecutive postseason berths (1996-99) and is one of only three coaches in NFL history to accomplish that feat with two different teams. The others are Marty Schottenheimer (Cleveland, 1985-88 and Kansas City, 1990-95) and Mike Holmgren (Green Bay, 1993-98 and Seattle 2003-07).

Under Coughlin, the Giants have routinely established franchise statistical milestones. Two constant points of emphasis for him are avoiding costly penalties and winning the turnover battle. In 2012, the Giants finished with 72 penalties for 578 yards, both franchise-low totals for a 16-game schedule. In addition, their plus-14 turnover differential placed them fourth in the NFL and was Coughlin's best figure as an NFL head coach. The Giants also allowed just 20 sacks in 2012, the lowest total in the league.

Coughlin's career turnover differential is plus-44 in the regular season and plus-eight in the postseason. The plus-44 places him fourth among active head coaches, behind Belichick (+147), McCarthy (+87) and Carroll (+67). In 2008, the Giants set what was then an NFL record (tied that season by the Miami Dolphins) by coughing up the ball only 13 times in 16 games (New England established a new mark with just 10 turnovers in 2010). The Giants and Dolphins were the seventh and eighth teams to average less than one turnover a game over a 16-game season. Coughlin was the head coach of two of the teams, the 2002 Jaguars and the 2008 Giants, and was an assistant on another (the 1990 Giants).

Under Coughlin, the Giants are 70-15 when leading at halftime, 74-10 when leading after the third quarter, 72-31 when they rush for at least 100 yards, 55-17 when holding the opposition to less than 100 yards on the ground and 63-13 when the turnover differential is to their advantage.

In 2014, the Giants finished 10th in the NFL in yards per game (367.2), the sixth time in Coughlin's tenure they were in the top 10 in total yards. They established franchise records for pass completions (383) and completion percentage (63.1) and their 4,272 net passing yards were the second-highest total in their history.

In the 2011 championship season, the Giants were fifth in the NFL with a franchise-record 295.9 passing yards a game, their highest ranking since they finished fifth in 1984. In 2010, they finished in the top 10 in the NFL's offensive and defensive rankings. The Giants were fifth on offense with an average of 380.3 yards a game and seventh in defense, allowing an average of 310.8 yards per game. They gained a then franchise-record 6,085 yards, the first 6,000-yard season in their history. The previous record was 5,884 yards in 1985. The Giants scored 48 touchdowns, which tied for the third-highest total in team history. Their 331 first downs were the third-highest total in franchise history — a total they matched in 2011. The team's 62.9 completion percentage was a team record, besting the 62.4 percentage set in 2009. The Giants and Indianapolis Colts allowed an NFL-low 16 sacks in 2010. That was easily the fewest sacks allowed by the Giants since the 16-game season was instituted in 1978. Their previous low total was 24 sacks allowed in 2002. The Giants did not allow a sack in a franchise-record five consecutive games (Nov. 7-Dec. 5).

Defensively, the 2013 Giants ranked eighth in the NFL, allowing 332.3 yards a game. Both the ranking and yardage were significant improvements over the defense's numbers in 2012, when the unit ranked 31st, yielding an average of 383.4 yards a game. In 2011, the Giants allowed an average of 14 points in four postseason games, significantly below the 25 points a game given up in the regular season.

In 2009, the Giants scored 402 points after scoring 425 the previous year, the first time in franchise history they scored at least 400 points in consecutive seasons. The Giants gained 5,856 yards, then the second-highest total in franchise history. The Giants set a team record with 4,019 net passing yards, the first 4,000-yard season in team history.

From Sept. 20 to Oct. 4, 2009, the Giants won consecutive road games in Dallas, Tampa Bay and Kansas City. They are one of just 10 of the 131 teams (7.6 percent) that have played at least three consecutive road games since 1990 to win every game. Both the Giants and Coughlin are on the list twice. The Giants swept a three-game trip in 1994, when they traveled to Houston, Washington and Cleveland on successive weeks. Coughlin's 2001 Jacksonville Jaguars also won three road games in three weeks. Of course, Coughlin's 2007 Giants won three straight road playoff games on the way to Super Bowl XLII.

The 2008 Giants established several milestones and records. The Giants had two more victories than they finished with the previous year to become the fifth defending Super Bowl champion to win more games the season following a championship than they did on their way to winning the Lombardi Trophy (not counting the strike-shortened 1982 season). The Giants were the first defending Super Bowl champion in 10 years — and only the fourth overall — to earn a top seed in the postseason a year after winning the championship game (since seeding began in 1990). In 2011, Green Bay became the fifth team to accomplish the feat — and the Packers promptly lost to the Giants.

In 2008, the Giants rushed for NFL-leading and franchise-record numbers of 2,518 yards and 5.0 yards per carry. The previous records were 2,451 yards in 1985 and 4.7 yards an attempt in 2005 and 2006. The Giants' run offense finished seventh or better in the league every season from 2005-08, the first time since 1990-93 that they were in the NFL's top 10 four years in a row. The Giants finished the season with 427 points and 338 first downs, both the second-highest totals in franchise history. They scored 448 points in 1963 and had 356 first downs in 1985.

Three years after setting the franchise rushing mark, the Giants struggled to run the ball. So the 2011 Giants became the best passing team in franchise history with their average of 295.9 yards a game. Eli Manning's 4,933 passing yards were the sixth-highest total in NFL history and Victor Cruz (1,536) and Hakeem Nicks (1,192) became the first pair of 1,000-yard receivers in the same season in Giants history.

In both 2011 and 2012, the Giants scored 47 touchdowns — one less than they had in 2010, which was their highest total since the 1985 team scored 48. In 2012, Victor Cruz caught 10 touchdown passes and Andre Brown rushed for eight scores. The previous season, Ahmad Bradshaw rushed for nine touchdowns and had two scoring receptions, while Cruz added nine receiving scores. In 2010, Hakeem Nicks caught 11 touchdown passes and Mario Manningham added nine as they became the first pair of Giants with at least nine touchdown catches since 1967, when Homer Jones had a franchise-record 13 and Aaron Thomas had nine. In addition, Brandon Jacobs rushed for nine touchdowns and Bradshaw eight, the first time the Giants had two backs run for at least eight scores in the same season.

The Giants scored 46 touchdowns in 2009 when Steve Smith (7), Nicks (6), Manningham (5) and Kevin Boss (5) all had at least five touchdown receptions. It was the first time the Giants have had four different receivers with at least five touchdown catches apiece since 1963, when five players reached that total: Del Shofner (9), Frank Gifford (7), Joe Morrison (7), Joe Walton (6) and Phil King (5). The Giants scored 45 touchdowns in both 2005 and 2008. In the first of those seasons, they were only the fifth team in NFL history to have five different players score at least seven touchdowns. Tiki Barber scored 11, and Jeremy Shockey, Plaxico Burress, Amani Toomer and Jacobs scored seven apiece. The Giants' 5,787 total yards that year were then the third-most in team history and their offense ranked fourth in the NFL with an average of 361.7 yards a game. It was the team's highest ranking since 1972, when the offense also ranked fourth with an average of 320.2 yards a game.

Defensively, the Giants have ranked in the top eight in the NFL rankings four times under Coughlin (seventh in 2007, fifth in 2008, seventh in 2010 and eighth in 2013). When they allowed 292.0 yards a game and were ranked fifth in total defense in 2008, it was their highest ranking since 2000, when they were also fifth. The 292 yards per game were the fewest allowed by the Giants since 2000, when they gave up 284.1.

The Giants have also had several special teams standouts under Coughlin. In two seasons with the Giants (2013-14), Josh Brown made 47 of 52 field goal attempts, a percentage of 90.4 that is the highest in Giants history (minimum 50 attempts). That included a single-season record 92.3 percent (24 of 26) in 2014. Brown made a Giants-record 17 consecutive field goal attempts in 2013. A year earlier, Lawrence Tynes made 33 of 39 field goal attempts and all 46 of his extra point tries for 145 points, which was both the second-highest total in Giants history and in the NFL in 2012. That season, David Wilson set a Giants record with 1,533 kickoff return yards, easily breaking the former mark of 1,291, set by Domenik Hixon in 2009. Wilson's 57 returns tied the team record Hixon set in 2009.

Many Giants players have enjoyed outstanding seasons in the Coughlin era. Eli Manning owns each of the team's significant career passing records, including attempts, completions, yards and touchdowns. In 2014, Manning set a franchise record with 379 completions and his 4,410 yards were the second-highest total in franchise history. From 2005-12, Manning threw for at least 3,000 yards and 20 touchdowns in eight consecutive seasons, the fifth-longest streak in NFL history. In 2011, Manning was the first NFL quarterback to throw at least four touchdown passes of at least 72 yards since Kurt Warner of St. Louis in 2000 (six). He was the first Giants quarterback to do it since Earl Morrall threw four in 1965. In 2010, Manning threw 31 touchdown passes, the third-highest total in Giants history and the most by a Giants quarterback in 47 years. Y.A. Tittle threw 36 in 1963 and 33 in 1962. In 2014, Manning approached the record with 30 touchdown passes. Manning threw an NFL-record 15 fourth-quarter touchdown passes in 2011. The previous record of 14 was set by Hall of Famer Johnny Unitas in 1959 and tied by Peyton Manning (2002). From 2009-11, Manning threw for 4,002, 4,021 and 4,933 yards to become the first Giants quarterback with three 4,000-yard seasons. He added a fourth 4,000-yard season in 2014.

In 2009, Steve Smith shattered the franchise record with 107 receptions and was the first Giants wide receiver to play in the Pro Bowl since Homer Jones in 1968 (not including David Tyree's selection as a special teams player in 2005). Victor Cruz was a Pro Bowl receiver in 2012, when he caught 86 passes, the second-highest total in franchise history. Last year, Odell Beckham Jr. played in the Pro Bowl after setting numerous franchise and NFL rookie records. Despite missing the first four games with an injury, Beckham caught 91 passes for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns.

With Jacobs (1,089 yards) and Derrick Ward (1,025) going over the 1,000-yard mark, the 2008 Giants were just the fourth team in history with two running backs rushing for at least 1,000 yards apiece in the same season. Jacobs was the fourth back in Giants history to run for at least 1,000 yards in at least two consecutive seasons. He ran for 15 touchdowns in 2008 and was just the second player in Giants history to run for that many scores in a single season.

Defensive end Michael Strahan, who played for Coughlin from 2004-07, was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2014. Strahan's 141.5 career sacks place him fifth in NFL history.

Prior to joining the Giants, Coughlin coached the Jaguars for eight seasons (1995-2002). He was named the first head coach of the expansion Jaguars on Feb. 21, 1994, a full 559 days before the franchise played its first regular season game. In 1995, Jacksonville won four games, more than any previous expansion team in NFL history. The following year, Coughlin was named NFL Coach of the Year by United Press International as the Jaguars made the playoffs in just their second season and advanced all the way to the AFC Championship Game, where they lost to New England.

That began a streak of four consecutive playoff seasons for the Jaguars. In both 1997 and 1998 Jacksonville won 11 games, winning their first division title in 1998. The following season, the Jaguars had an NFL-best record of 14-2 and again advanced to the conference title game.

Under Coughlin, the Jaguars were the most successful expansion team in NFL history. Coughlin compiled a 68-60 regular season record (.531), plus a 4-4 mark in the playoffs, including those two trips to the AFC Championship Game. The Jaguars made the playoffs every year from 1996-99, the only expansion team in history to earn four postseason berths in its first five seasons.

Under Coughlin, the Jaguars were 55-12 in games in which they owned a lead entering the fourth period. The Jaguars were 40-28 in games against division opponents, 21-3 in games in which they scored a touchdown on their initial offensive possession, and 51-30 in games in which they rushed for at least 100 yards.

Coughlin quickly established himself as one of the NFL's finest offensive coaches. During his tenure, the Jaguars led the NFL in both passing yards (4,367 in 1996) and rushing yards (2,091 in 1999). In addition to having the most rushing yards in the NFL in 1999, Jacksonville boasted the league's leading receiver in Jimmy Smith (116 receptions). The only other team in history to accomplish that double was the 1954 San Francisco 49ers.

Coughlin arrived in Jacksonville following three years as the head coach at Boston College, where he turned a struggling program into a Top 20 team. He was 21-13-1 in three seasons (1991-93) with the Eagles, including 9-3 in 1993, when Boston College won eight consecutive games, defeated top-ranked Notre Dame, 41-39, and beat Virginia in the Carquest Bowl. Coughlin's last Boston College team was ranked 12th in the USA Today/CNN coaches poll and 13th by the Associated Press, despite starting the season 0-2. The Eagles were 8-2-1 in 1992 and 4-7 in his first season in 1991.

Coughlin, Pete Carroll of the Seattle Seahawks, Chip Kelly of the Philadelphia Eagles, Jim Caldwell of the Detroit Lions and Jim O'Brien of the Houston Texans are the only current NFL head coaches with experience as college head coaches.

Coughlin was the Giants wide receivers coach under Parcells from 1988-90. Under his tutelage, receivers such as Mark Ingram, Lionel Manuel, Odessa Turner and Stephen Baker all improved and helped the Giants win their second Super Bowl.

Coughlin began his coaching career in 1969 as a graduate assistant at Syracuse, his alma mater. He was the head coach at the Rochester Institute of Technology from 1970-73, compiling a record of 16-15-2. Coughlin returned to Syracuse in 1974, first serving as quarterbacks and offensive backfield coach for three seasons before being promoted to offensive coordinator for four years. He directed an offense that led the Orangemen to victory in the 1979 Independence Bowl, their first postseason triumph in 13 years.

In 1981, Coughlin went to Boston College for the first time, as quarterbacks coach under Jack Bicknell. He helped the Eagles win their first bowl game and coached Doug Flutie, who would win the Heisman Trophy in 1984, one season after Coughlin's departure. In 1983, Boston College won the Lambert-Meadowlands Trophy as Eastern Champion, its first in 42 years.

Coughlin entered the NFL as the Philadelphia Eagles' wide receivers coach in 1984 and 1985. He held the same position with the Green Bay Packers in 1986 and 1987 before moving to the Giants for a three-year stint.

Coughlin was a standout scholastic star at Waterloo (N.Y.) Central High School, where the football stadium now bears his name. He was a three-year letterman at Syracuse for legendary coach Ben Schwartzwalder from 1965-67. A wingback, Coughlin played in a backfield with All-America backs and Pro Football Hall of Famers Larry Csonka and Floyd Little. As a senior in 1967, Coughlin broke Syracuse's single-season pass receiving record. That year, he won Syracuse's Orange Key Award as the university's outstanding scholar-athlete. He graduated in 1968 with a bachelor's degree in education and received a master's degree in education the following year.

Thomas Richard Coughlin was born on Aug. 31, 1946 in Waterloo. He is the oldest of seven children. Coughlin and his wife Judy have two daughters, Keli and Kate; two sons-in-law named Chris; two sons, Brian and Tim; two daughters-in-law, Andrea (Tim's wife) and Susie (Brian's wife); and 11 grandchildren: Emma Rose, Dylan, Shea, Cooper, Caroline, Marin, Wesley, Brennon, Clara, Walker and Ally.

THE TOM COUGHLIN JAY FUND FOUNDATION

The Tom Coughlin Jay Fund helps families tackle childhood cancer by providing comprehensive financial, emotional and practical support. From diagnosis to recovery and beyond, they are part of the team, allowing parents to solely focus on their child's well-being. Their goal is to BE THERE for parents facing the unthinkable so they can be there for their families.

Jay McGillis was a very special young man who was a member of Coughlin's team at Boston College. McGillis contracted leukemia and passed away on July 3, 1992. The courage, compassion and faith he demonstrated during the course of his illness were an inspiration to many people. Coach Coughlin started the foundation to BE THERE in Jay's honor in 1996. Since then the Jay Fund has evolved in size and scope helping thousands of families in Northeast Florida and the New York/New Jersey Metropolitan Area who are fighting childhood cancer, providing more than $5 million in grants.

The foundation hosts several annual fundraising events including a Wine Tasting Gala and Celebrity Golf Classic Tournament in Jacksonville and the Champions for Children Gala in Manhattan.

BEN McADOO

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Ben McAdoo is in his second season as the Giants' offensive coordinator. With McAdoo devising game plans and calling plays, the team's offense was markedly improved in 2014.

The Giants finished 10th in the NFL in total offense one year after they were ranked 28th. They averaged 367.2 yards a game, a 59.7 yards-per-game improvement over their 2013 average of 307.5. It was the team's largest one-year jump since 2005, when the Giants were ranked fourth in the league with an average of 361.7 yards per game.

The Giants increased their per-game yardage both on the ground (100.2 rushing yards per game from 83.3) and through the air (267.0 passing yards a game from 224.3). They ranked seventh in the league in passing yardage.

The Giants totaled 5,875 net yards in 2014, the fourth-highest total in franchise history. Their 336 first downs were the third-highest total in Giants history.

The 2014 Giants set a team record with 218 passing first downs, two more than the previous mark, set in 2011.

The Giants set franchise records for completed passes with 383 (shattering the former mark of 359, set in 2011) and completion percentage with 63.1 (the former record of 62.9 was set in 2010). They finished with their second-highest totals in franchise history in passes attempted (607) and net passing yards (4,272).

The Giants scored at least 24 points in each of their final six games, their longest such streak since they scored 24 or more points in eight consecutive games from Sept. 29-Nov. 17, 1963.

Before joining Tom Coughlin's staff, McAdoo spent eight years as an assistant coach with the Green Bay Packers, the first six as the team's tight ends coach and the final two as the quarterbacks coach.

During his tenure in Green Bay, the Packers earned six playoff berths, won four NFC North titles and defeated Pittsburgh in Super Bowl XLV.

He began mentoring the Packers' quarterbacks in 2012, one year after Aaron Rodgers was selected the NFL's Most Valuable Player. Rodgers continued to excel under McAdoo's direction. He was voted the NFC Pro Bowl starter after completing 371 of 552 attempts for 4,295 yards and 39 touchdowns against only eight interceptions, and leading the league in passer rating for the second consecutive season (108.0).

In 2013, Rodgers missed seven games with a fractured collarbone and McAdoo was forced to prepare three other players to start at quarterback (Seneca Wallace, Scott Tolzien and Matt Flynn). Even with the frequently changing cast of quarterbacks, Green Bay won the NFC North championship with an 8-7-1 record. The Packers' offense finished the season ranked third in the NFL (400.3 yards a game) and, despite missing Rodgers for almost half the season, sixth in passing yards (266.8). When he did play, Rodgers was outstanding, completing 66.6 percent of his passes, throwing for 17 touchdowns against only eight interceptions and finishing with a passer rating of 104.9.

In McAdoo's final season as the Packers' tight ends coach in 2011, he helped then fourth-year pro Jermichael Finley return to the field following a season-ending knee injury suffered the previous year. Finley was named a Pro Bowl alternate after playing in all 16 games for the first time and setting new career highs with 767 yards and eight touchdowns, while matching his previous career best with 55 catches. He was the first tight end in Green Bay history with two 55-catch seasons. McAdoo also helped develop second-year tight ends Tom Crabtree and Andrew Quarless.

In 2010, the Packers won the Super Bowl as the NFC's sixth seed with significant contributions from McAdoo's tight ends. Finley got off to a torrid start, posting 21 catches for 301 yards and a touchdown in the opening four games. That included back-to-back 100-yard receiving performances as Finley joined Paul Coffman (1979) as the only tight ends in Packers history to accomplish that feat.

After Finley sustained his knee injury on the opening series at Washington in Week 5, Quarless, then a rookie, and Crabtree, a first-year pro, moved into more significant roles under McAdoo's guidance. Quarless went on to catch 21 passes for 238 yards, the best marks by a Green Bay rookie tight end in each category since Bubba Franks (34-363) in 2000. Quarless' 62 receiving yards at Detroit in Week 14 were the most by a Packers rookie tight end since Ron Kramer had 68 at Detroit on Nov. 28, 1957.

In 2009, McAdoo oversaw one of the most productive seasons by the tight ends in team history. With the emergence of youngsters Finley and Spencer Havner, along with veteran Donald Lee, Green Bay's tight ends posted a collective 99 receptions for 1,048 yards, franchise records in both categories.

Finley (55 receptions) and Lee (37) became the first tight-end duo in franchise history to each post 35-plus receptions in the same season, and they were one of only two tandems in the league to do so in 2009, along with New Orleans' Jeremy Shockey and David Thomas. And with Finley (five scores) and Havner (four), the Packers were the only team in the NFL to have two tight ends catch at least four touchdown receptions apiece.

Finley was a third-round draft choice in 2008 and McAdoo helped him learn the pro game as a rookie, when the youngster posted three receptions for 64 yards and his first NFL touchdown in the final two games.

In 2007, it was former backup Lee who had a breakout year after moving into the starting role. Lee tallied career highs with 48 catches for 575 yards and six touchdowns. In 2008-09, he became the first Packers tight end since Coffman (1981-83) to catch at least 35 passes in three consecutive seasons.

Upon arriving in Green Bay in 2006, McAdoo helped the Packers' tight ends adapt successfully to additional blocking and pass-protection duties they hadn't previously been assigned. The added assistance helped a young offensive line, which at times had as many as three rookie starters, allow only 24 sacks all season.

Originally named to the tight ends post on Jan. 17, 2006, the 36-year-old McAdoo replaced Joe Philbin, who had been made the team's offensive line coach after Mike McCarthy was introduced as head coach. McAdoo worked for McCarthy at each of his previous NFL spots. Philbin, who became the offensive coordinator, is now the Miami Dolphins' head coach.

McAdoo went to Green Bay from the San Francisco 49ers, where he served as assistant offensive line/quality control coach in 2005. In that role, he assisted the offensive line and tight ends.

Prior to joining the 49ers, he had a brief stint at Stanford University as tackles and tight ends coach. He resigned after the 2005 recruiting season to take the 49ers position and reunite with McCarthy, then the San Francisco offensive coordinator, with whom he worked in New Orleans the previous season.

McAdoo entered the NFL in 2004 with the New Orleans Saints as an offensive assistant/quality control coach. He worked directly with McCarthy and assisted the offensive line and tight ends.

Prior to working in the NFL, McAdoo spent 2003 as an offensive assistant at the University of Pittsburgh, helping the Panthers earn a trip to the Continental Tire Bowl after an 8-5 season. At season's end, the University of Akron hired him as an assistant coach, but he stayed only through the 2004 recruiting period before joining the Saints staff.

Earlier, he served as offensive line/tight ends coach at Fairfield (Conn.) University in 2002. After that campaign, the head coach left the team and McAdoo was appointed assistant head coach before the program was disbanded.

He began his college coaching career at Michigan State University (2001) as a special teams/offensive assistant, on the heels of coaching four years at the high school level. McAdoo spent two years in the Homer Center school district in Pennsylvania and two years in the Indiana (Pa.) area.

McAdoo attended Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP) and earned a degree in health and physical education. Later, he received his master's degree in kinesiology from Michigan State.

McAdoo is married to Toni, a fellow native of Western Pennsylvania. They have a daughter, Larkin, and a son, BJ.

McAdoo was born on July 9, 1977, in Homer City, Pa.

STEVE SPAGNUOLO

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Tom Coughlin this year reached into his past to lead the Giants' defense into the future when he hired Steve Spagnuolo (pronounced SPAG-no-low) to be the team's defensive coordinator, a position he held in 2007-08.

During his first tenure with the team, the Giants won Super Bowl XLII and ranked seventh and then fifth in the NFL in total defense. In 37 regular season and postseason games, the Giants' defense allowed 17 points or fewer in 19 contests. The Giants were 19-0 in those games and 17-2 in games in which the opposing starting quarterbacks had a passer ratings lower than 75.0.

A 34-year coaching veteran, including 17 in the NFL, Spagnuolo succeeds Perry Fewell, who held the coordinator's position the previous five seasons. Spagnuolo has coached for teams that have made eight playoff appearances, won six division titles, played in five conference championship games, earned two conference titles and won a Super Bowl.

Spagnuolo, 55, was first hired by the Giants on Jan. 22, 2007, after an eight-year stint on the Philadelphia Eagles' coaching staff, the last three as the club's linebackers coach. In his first two games as coordinator, the Giants allowed 45 and 35 points in losses to Dallas and Green Bay, respectively. But Spagnuolo stressed to the players that he had faith in both them and the defensive system. In Week 3, a goal-line stand late in a victory in Washington ignited a six-game winning streak in which the Giants allowed an average of just 13.2 points a game.

With Spagnuolo as the architect of the defense, the Giants that season ranked in the NFL's Top 10 in eight single-season statistical categories, including a league-high 53 sacks. They yielded an average of 305 yards a game, a 37.4-yard improvement over the previous season.

Spagnuolo's defense did its best work in the four-game postseason, allowing an average of 16.3 points per game. In the Super Bowl, his schemes and adjustments held the 18-0 New England Patriots — who had league-high averages of 411.3 yards and 36.8 points a game in the regular season to 274 yards and 14 points.

In 2008, the Giants' defense continued to improve, finishing fifth in yards allowed (292.0 per game), helping the Giants to a 12-4 record and an NFC East title. Despite losing standout defensive ends Michael Strahan (retirement) and Osi Umenyiora (preseason injury), the defense finished ninth in rush defense (95.8 yards-per-game) and eighth in pass defense (196.2) and the Giants' 18.4 points allowed per game placed them fifth in the NFL. They gave up 294 points, 57 fewer than the previous season. The Giants' 42 sacks in 2008 ranked sixth in the league.

Spagnuolo left the Giants in 2009 to become the head coach in St. Louis, where he inherited a 2-14 team and within two seasons had the Rams within one game of a playoff berth, losing in the final game of the 2010 season to finish 7-9. In 2012, he was the defensive coordinator in New Orleans. Spagnuolo led a unit that finished with 15 interceptions, including four that were returned for touchdowns, and forced 11 fumbles to help the Saints finish with a plus-2 turnover differential. In Week 15, the Saints defeated Tampa Bay, 41-0, earning their first shutout victory since 1995.

Spagnuolo spent the previous two seasons on the coaching staff of the Baltimore Ravens, in 2013 as a senior defensive assistant, and last season as an assistant head coach and secondary coach. Baltimore finished the 2014 season ranked eighth in the NFL in yards allowed (336.9 per game) and sixth in points allowed (16.9).

Prior to his first stint with the Giants, Spagnuolo spent eight seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles, the last three as the club's linebackers coach. While he was in that role, middle linebacker Jeremiah Trotter was selected to two Pro Bowl berths. In 2005, Trotter was voted to the game after leading the Eagles with 169 tackles, including 13 for a loss. That season, Philadelphia led the NFL with 60 tackles for a loss, including 25 by the linebackers.

Spagnuolo spent his entire tenure in Philadelphia working under highly-respected defensive coordinator Jim Johnson. During six of his eight seasons with the Eagles, Spagnuolo coached a player who earned Pro Bowl honors.

In his eight seasons in Philadelphia, Spagnuolo helped coach an Eagles defense that was traditionally one of the NFL's best. In a six-year period from 1999-2005, Philadelphia's defense ranked first in the NFL in opposing third down percentage (33 percent), second in points allowed (17.0 per game), second in sacks (265) and third in red zone defense (43.3 percent). During this period, the Eagles played in four consecutive NFC Championship Games and one Super Bowl. In 2001, the Eagles' defense allowed no more than 21 points in all 16 regular season games, just the fourth time in league history that was accomplished.

Spagnuolo originally joined the Eagles coaching staff in 1999 as a defensive assistant/quality control coach working specifically with the team's safeties. Two years later, he was promoted to defensive backs coach, where he spent three seasons tutoring Pro Bowlers Brian Dawkins, Bobby Taylor, Troy Vincent, Lito Sheppard and Michael Lewis. In those three seasons, the Eagles pass defense ranked in the NFL's top 10 in three key statistical categories: third-down defense, touchdown passes allowed and net yards per pass attempt.

Prior to joining the Eagles, Spagnuolo coached 15 seasons in college football and two years in NFL Europe. He spent the 1998 season as the defensive coordinator of NFL Europe's Frankfurt Galaxy, who finished second in the league in total defense en route to a World Bowl appearance. Four of the six linebackers and nine of the 11 defensive starters he tutored went on to play in the NFL. Spagnuolo also served as the defensive line and special teams coach of the Barcelona Dragons in 1992.

A native of Grafton, Mass. Spagnuolo has served as a defensive coordinator on the college level with Connecticut and Maine. In addition, he served as assistant coach at Massachusetts, Lafayette, Rutgers and Bowling Green.

Prior to his stint at Maine, Spagnuolo spent four months as a scout for the San Diego Chargers under then-general manager Bobby Beathard. His first NFL experience came in 1983 as an intern with the Washington Redskins under then-assistant general manager Charlie Casserly.

Spagnuolo played football at Springfield (Mass.) College for head coach Howard Vandersea. He was a two-year starter at wide receiver and received the school's AAUP Male Scholar Athlete award in 1982.

Spagnuolo was born in Whitinsville, Mass. He attended Grafton High School, where he is a member of the school's athletic Hall of Fame. Spagnuolo played wide receiver at Springfield College, where he was named the schools' Male Scholar Athlete of the Year in 1982. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from Springfield and a master's degree in sports management from the University of Massachusetts.

Spagnuolo is married to Maria. They engage in community outreach through The Spagnuolo Foundation, whose mission is centered on the biblical verse Hebrews 11:1 ("Now faith is confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see.") and is designed to give hope to youth who otherwise may not have the opportunity to pursue and achieve their dreams.

TOM QUINN

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Tom Quinn is in his 10th season with the Giants and his ninth as the team's special teams coordinator. His first year with the team was spent as an assistant to Mike Sweatman, who retired following the 2006 season. Head coach Tom Coughlin quickly named Quinn to replace Sweatman.

In 2014, the Giants' kickoff coverage team ranked second in the NFL, holding opponents to an average return of just 18.3 yard.

Kicker Josh Brown enjoyed the finest season of his 12-year career. Brown made 24 of 26 field goal attempts, a 92.3 percent success rate that was the highest in Giants history for a kicker with a minimum of 14 attempts. One of his misses was a block in St. Louis. The former mark of 92.1 (35 of 38) was set by John Carney in 2008.

In his two seasons with the Giants, Brown has succeeded on 47 of 52 field goal attempts, a 90.4 percentage. That is the highest in franchise history by a kicker with at least 50 attempts.

Last season, Brown was 4-for-4 on field goal attempts of 50 or more yards, the first Giants kicker to be perfect on at least four 50-yard tries. Brown's four field goals of at least 50 yards were a Giants single-season record.

Punter Steve Weatherford's 38.6-yard net average was the third-highest of his career.

On Sept. 21, Damontre Moore blocked a punt by Houston's Shane Lechler. It was Moore's second block in as many seasons; on Nov. 10, 2013, when he blocked a punt by Oakland's Marquette King. That one was scooped up and returned 21 yards for a touchdown by Cooper Taylor.

In 2013, David Wilson, who had performed so well as a kickoff returner in his 2012 rookie season, had just nine runbacks before suffering what ultimately became a career-ending neck injury. Quinn turned to other return specialists, notably Michael Cox and Jerrel Jernigan. The Giants' kickoff team ranked ninth in the NFL, allowing an average return of 21.8 yards.

The previous season, Quinn's special teams made significant contributions to the Giants' winning season and finished seventh in the Dallas Morning News' annual comprehensive ranking of the league's special teams. The Giants led the NFL with five special teams takeaways. Their average drive start following a kickoff was at the 25.2 yard line, which led the NFL.

Wilson set a Giants record with 1,533 kickoff return yards, easily breaking the former mark of 1,291, set by Domenik Hixon in 2009. Wilson's 57 returns tied the team record Hixon set that season. With Wilson accounting for all but six runbacks, the Giants averaged 26.2 yards per kickoff return, which placed them seventh in the NFL.

Lawrence Tynes made 33 of 39 field goal attempts and all 46 of his extra point tries for 145 points, which was both the second-highest total in Giants history and in the NFL in 2012. His game-winning field goal in overtime of the NFC Championship Game in San Francisco sent the Giants to Super Bowl XLVI.

Weatherford's gross punting average of 47.5 yards placed him eighth in the NFL and was the highest single-season average by a Giants punter with at least 35 kicks. The previous mark of 46.6 yards was set by Don Chandler in 1959 (on 55 punts).

Quinn's special teams underwent significant changes in the Giants' 2011 championship season. Weatherford became the team's punter. Aaron Ross was the most frequently-used punt returner and Devin Thomas and rookies Da'Rel Scott and Jerrel Jernigan combined for 47 kickoff returns. The three leading special teams tacklers — rookies Jacquian Williams (17) and Tyler Sash (15) and veteran Derrick Martin (12) — were newcomers.

In 2010, Zak DeOssie, the snapper on both return and placekicks, was selected to his second Pro Bowl in three seasons. The Giants' kickoff coverage unit was ranked fourth in the NFL, allowing an average return of only 19.7 yards.

The Giants benefited from outstanding play by Quinn's special teams in 2009. Tynes led the Giants and was fifth in the NFL in scoring with 126 points. With Hixon doing the bulk of the work, the Giants were seventh in the NFL with a 10.9-yard punt return average. Hixon — who missed most of the 2010 and 2011 seasons with knee injuries — also set Giants single-season records with 57 kickoff returns for 1,291 yards. On Oct. 18 at New Orleans, Hixon had 303 total yards, shattering Joe Scott's 61-year-old franchise record by 24 yards. The total included 230 kickoff return and 51 punt return yards. Opposing teams averaged only 21.0 yards per kickoff return, the NFL's eighth-best figure.

In 2008, three of the Giants' special teams players — kicker John Carney, Jeff Feagles and DeOssie — played for the NFC Pro Bowl team.

Carney was signed just prior to the season because Tynes was sidelined with an injury. Quinn quickly integrated Carney into the kicking unit and the veteran had the best season a Giants kicker has ever had, succeeding on 35 of 38 field goals attempts for a franchise-record 92.1 percentage. Carney's 35 field goals tied the team single-season record, which he shares with Ali Haji-Sheikh (1983) and Jay Feely (2005).

That season, Feagles had a gross average of 44.0 yards and a career-high net average of 40.2 yards on 64 punts. His previous best net average was 38.2 yards in 1995, his first Pro Bowl season. Feagles' gross average tied for the second-highest of his career and was just three-tenths of a yard less than the career best of 44.3 yards he set with Arizona in 1997. Feagles holds the NFL records for punts (1,713), punting yards (71,211) and punts downed inside the 20-yard line (554).

The Giants allowed only 140 punt return yards all season and were ranked third in the NFL in punt coverage, giving up an average of only 5.9 yards a return. The team's field goal percentage of 92.3 was ranked third. The Giants blocked three field goals and opposing teams converted 73 percent of their attempts, the fourth-lowest figure in the NFL. The 40.2-yard net punting average was a Giants record and placed them fourth in the league. Hixon averaged a team-record 60.0 yards on three kickoff returns at Arizona.

The special teams overcame adversity and performed well in Quinn's first season as coordinator in 2007, when the Giants won Super Bowl XLII. Long-snapper Ryan Kuehl suffered a season-ending injury in training camp, and the Giants used rookie snappers Jay Alford (on placekicks) and DeOssie (for punts) the entire year. Tynes made 23 of 27 field goal attempts (85.2 percent), plus a game-winning 47-yarder in overtime in the NFC Championship Game in Green Bay.

Quinn employed three kickoff returners — Ahmad Bradshaw, Reuben Droughns and Hixon — and the Giants finished seventh in the NFL with a 23.9-yard average. The coverage teams were also strong; Giants opponents averaged only 6.2 yards on 28 punt returns.

Quinn, 47, coached in the collegiate ranks for 15 years. Before joining the Giants, he spent four years on the coaching staff at Stanford University. Quinn coached the special teams in each of those seasons, plus the tight ends in 2002 and 2003, and the outside linebackers in 2004 and 2005.

Quinn began his career coaching linebackers at Davidson College in 1991. From 1992-94, he was the special teams coach and recruiting coordinator at James Madison University. In 1995, he was the defensive coordinator at Boston University and from 1996-98 Quinn was the defensive coordinator at College of the Holy Cross.

Quinn moved back to the West Coast in 1999 to coach at San Jose State University, where in three years he worked with the linebackers, tight ends and special teams. He joined the staff at Stanford University in 2002.

Quinn grew up in Southern California, where he played at Foothill High School (Pleasanton, Calif.). From 1986-90, Quinn was a linebacker at the University of Arizona, where he played on three bowl teams. He earned a bachelor's degree in interdisciplinary studies in 1990 and a master's in education the following year.

Quinn and his wife, Alison, have a son, Shane, and two daughters, Logan and Riley.

OFFENSIVE LINE

Giants' offensive line coach. He joins David Merritt and Jerry Palmieri as the only coaches who have been with the Giants for Tom Coughlin's entire 12-year tenure as head coach.

The Giants have consistently had one of the NFL's best and most dependable offensive lines during Flaherty's tenure. The team's offense has been ranked among the top 10 in the NFL in five of the last seven years and the Giants had at least two linemen selected to the Pro Bowl in three of those seasons.

In 2014, the line helped the Giants gain an average of 367.2 yards a game, a 59.7 yards-per-game improvement over their 2013 average of 307.5. The Giants totaled 5,875 net yards in 2014, the fourth-highest total in franchise history. With the line providing consistent protection, Eli Manning set franchise records for single-season completions (379) and completion percentage (63.1).

Flaherty oversaw the development of Weston Richburg, a second-round draft choice who started 15 games at left guard in his rookie season.

In 2013, Flaherty had to constantly restructure the line because of injuries. The Giants used seven different starting offensive line combinations, the second-highest total in the NFL; Oakland used eight.

One constant was Justin Pugh, the team's first-round draft choice, who started all 16 games at right tackle. Pugh was a) the first Giants rookie to start an entire 16-game season since defensive tackle Barry Cofield in 2006; b) the first offensive lineman to do it since David Diehl 10 years ago; and c) the first Giants' first-round draft choice to do so since Hall of Fame linebacker Lawrence Taylor in 1981.

Pugh was just the fourth Giants first-round draft choice to start every game in their rookie season since the 1970 merger. The others were linebacker Jim Files (1970), guard John Hicks (1974) and Taylor (1981).

In 2012, the offensive line allowed an NFL-low 20 sacks and helped the Giants score 429 points, the second-highest total in franchise history.

Flaherty had to do some injury-induced shuffling on the line. Right guard Chris Snee, center David Baas and left guard Kevin Boothe started all 16 games. In Games 1-2, the tackles were Sean Locklear on the left side and David Diehl on the right. In Games 3-8 and again in Game 12, Beatty started at left tackle and Locklear was the right tackle. In Games 9-11 and 13-16, Beatty was the left tackle and Diehl started on the right side.

Snee was selected to his fourth Pro Bowl, the first Giants offensive linemen to be honored so often since Hall of Famer Rosie Brown was selected to his ninth in 1965. Snee was also selected to the Pro Bowl in 2008, 2009 and 2010.

The 2011 season was one of change for the offensive line. Longtime stalwarts Rich Seubert and Shaun O'Hara retired in July. Injuries forced the Giants to start five different offensive line combinations. Beatty's year ended after 10 games because of eye surgery. Baas missed five games. Boothe and Mitch Petrus stepped in at left guard when Diehl moved back to tackle.

Despite the different lineups, Flaherty's group helped the Giants win Super Bowl XLVI and set franchise records with 6,161 total yards and 4,734 net passing yards. With the line providing outstanding protection for Manning, the Giants finished fifth in the NFL in passing yards, their highest ranking since they finished fifth in 1984.

In 2010, Snee and O'Hara were each selected to the Pro Bowl for the third consecutive year (O'Hara was unable to play in the game because of injury). O'Hara and Snee were the first Giants offensive linemen selected to three Pro Bowls since center Bart Oates in 1990, 1991 and 1993, and the first chosen in three consecutive years since Brown was selected to six in a row from 1955-60.

With the line playing at a high level, the Giants were fifth in the NFL with an average of 380.3 yards a game. They gained 6,085 yards, the first 6,000-yard season in their history. The Giants were one of only two teams with a pair of backs who rushed for more than 800 yards apiece in Ahmad Bradshaw (1,235 yards) and Brandon Jacobs (823). And the Giants tied the Indianapolis Colts by allowing an NFL-low 16 sacks in 2010. That was easily the fewest sacks allowed by the Giants since the 16-game season was instituted in 1978. Their previous low total was 24 sacks allowed in 2002. The Giants did not allow a sack in a franchise-record five consecutive games (Nov. 7-Dec. 5) and in seven games overall.

The line registered these accomplishments despite a spate of injuries that forced Flaherty to start six different offensive line combinations, including three left tackles (Diehl, Shawn Andrews and Beatty), three left guards (Seubert, Diehl and Boothe) and three centers (O'Hara, Adam Koets and Seubert).

Five players — O'Hara, Snee, Seubert, Diehl and Kareem McKenzie — were mainstays on the line from 2006-10. The group started 38 consecutive regular season games from 2007-09, then the longest such streak by five linemen since the 1970 NFL merger.

In 2009, O'Hara, Snee and Diehl all played in the Pro Bowl, the first time the Giants had three players from the same position group play in the game since 1962.

The previous year, Snee and O'Hara were selected to the NFC Pro Bowl team. Snee, who was a starter, was the first Giants guard to play in the Pro Bowl since Ron Stone in 2001, and O'Hara the first Giants center to go to the game since Oates in 1993. In addition, Diehl was selected as a third alternate.

With the line leading the way, the Giants that season rushed for NFL-leading and franchise-record numbers of 2,518 yards and 5.0 yards per carry. It was the first time since 1993 that the Giants led the NFL in rushing.

In 2007, the line was an important factor as the Giants won Super Bowl XLII and finished fourth in the NFL in rushing yardage with 134.3 yards a game. The Giants were also fourth in the league with a 4.6-yards-per-carry average. In 2006, the Giants were seventh in the NFL with an average of 134.8 rushing yards a game and sixth with an average of 4.7 yards per carry. The Giants' 138.1-yard rushing average in 2005 placed them sixth in the league. In 2004, the Giants averaged 119.0 yards a game and 4.5 yards a carry, which were far superior to the 97.4 and 4.0 averages the Giants posted in 2003, the year before Coughlin and Flaherty arrived.

The Giants have had a 1,000-yard rusher in seven of the 11 seasons in which Flaherty has coached the line. In 2008, Jacobs (1,089) and Derrick Ward (1,025) became just the fourth set of running back teammates in NFL history with more than 1,000 rushing yards in the same season. Tiki Barber made the only three Pro Bowls of his career while rushing for 1,518, 1,860 and 1,662 yards in the three years he ran behind a Flaherty-coached line.

Prior to joining the Giants, Flaherty was the Chicago Bears' tight ends coach for three seasons. In 2000, Flaherty coached the Washington Redskins' tight ends and helped Stephen Alexander earn an invitation to the Pro Bowl. Alexander was third on the Redskins that season with 47 catches.

Flaherty began his coaching career at his alma mater, Delone Catholic High School in McSherrystown, Pa., from 1978-80.

Flaherty coached in the collegiate ranks from 1980-99. He began with a two-year stint coaching the offensive line at East Stroudsburg University, his alma mater. Flaherty joined the staff at Penn State University in 1982, a season in which the Nittany Lions defeated Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to win the national championship. After two seasons at Penn State, Flaherty moved to Rutgers University, where he coached the offensive line for eight years.

Flaherty spent the 1992 season coaching the defensive line at East Carolina University. From 1993-98 he was on the staff at Wake Forest University, where he coached the offensive line, tight ends and special teams. In 1999, he coached tight ends and special teams and was in charge of recruiting at the University of Iowa.

Flaherty was an All-America center at East Stroudsburg. He was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in October 2004. He and his wife, Lynne, have two children, Shawn, an offensive lineman at Towson University, and Colleen, a sophomore at Loyola University in Baltimore.

KEVIN M. GILBRIDE

TIGHT ENDS

Kevin M. Gilbride is in his second season as the Giants' tight ends coach and his sixth as a member of Tom Coughlin's staff.

In 2014, Gilbride helped turn a largely anonymous group of tight ends into a productive unit. Larry Donnell finished third on the team with 63 receptions and 623 yards and second with six touchdown catches. He entered the season with three receptions and no scores.

On Sept. 25 at Washington, Donnell caught seven passes for 54 yards, including touchdown receptions of five, six and six yards, the latter two in the second quarter. He was the first Giants player to score three touchdowns in a game since Victor Cruz had touchdown receptions of 70, 18 and 10 yards at Dallas on Sept. 8, 2013. Donnell was the first Giants tight end with three touchdown receptions in a game since Dec. 16, 1962, when Joe Walton caught scoring passes of 10, 20 and eight yards from Y.A. Tittle in a 41-31 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Daniel Fells, who was out of the league in 2013, had 16 receptions for 188 yards and four touchdowns. He scored in three consecutive games — on a one-yard reception vs. Arizona on Sept. 14, a nine-yarder vs. Houston on Sept. 21 and a two-yarder at Washington on Sept. 25. His fourth touchdown was scored on a four-yard catch at Dallas on Oct. 19.

Adrien Robinson — who played in just three games and had no receptions in his first two seasons — played in all 16 games and finished the year with five catches for 50 yards and a touchdown. Robinson's first career catch was a 15-yarder at Washington on Sept. 25. He scored his first touchdown on a one-yard reception with three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter vs. Dallas on Nov. 23.

In 2013, Gilbride completed a two-year stint as the Giants' wide receivers coach.

That year, Victor Cruz continued to be one of the NFL's most productive receivers, catching 73 passes for 998 yards and four touchdowns, despite missing the final two games with a knee injury. Second-year pro Rueben Randle led the team with six touchdowns, all on receptions, and caught 41 passes for 611 yards. In the season opener in Dallas on Sept. 8, Cruz (118 yards), Hakeem Nicks (114) and Randle (101) each had at least 100 receiving yards, the first time in franchise history that three different players exceeded the century mark in the same game. Jerrel Jernigan came on at the end of the season and finished with 29 receptions for 329 yards and two touchdowns and two rushing attempts for 57 yards, including a 49-yard score.

In Gilbride's first year coaching the receivers in 2012, Cruz led the Giants with 86 receptions for 1,092 yards and 10 touchdowns and became just the second Giants wideout since 1968 to play in the Pro Bowl. Cruz's 86 catches placed him seventh in the NFC and 12th in the NFL and his 1,092 yards were 10th in the conference and 15th in the league. He was one of 10 NFL players with at least 10 touchdown catches.

In 2011, Gilbride held the title of offensive assistant. He joined the coaching staff in 2010 as the team's offensive quality control coach. Gilbride succeeded Ryan in that position.

Gilbride is the son of former Giants offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride, who retired after the 2013 season. Prior to joining the Giants, he spent three seasons as the wide receivers coach at Temple University. In 2009, Gilbride was a member of the Temple coaching staff that led the Owls to a 9-4 record — their first winning record since 1990 — and their first bowl game since 1979, the EagleBank Bowl in Washington.

The previous season, Gilbride coached Bruce Francis, who earned the Owls' offensive most valuable player award. Francis, who was an All-MAC selection, became Temple's Division I-A career leader in receiving touchdowns (23). The Owls' leading receiver with 687 yards on 45 catches for a Division I-A school record 13 touchdowns, Francis finished his collegiate career with a reception in a school record 38 consecutive games.

Before his stint at Temple, Gilbride coached the slot receivers and tight ends at Georgetown University in 2006. He also headed the kickoff coverage unit and assisted on punt, kickoff return and punt block. He recruited in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Florida and Delaware for the Hoyas.

Gilbride was an offensive graduate assistant coach at Syracuse University for two seasons (2004-05), working closely with the tight ends in 2005. The Orange captured a share of the Big East title in 2004 and earned a berth in the Champs Sports Bowl. Gilbride first joined the SU staff as a graduate assistant for video in 2003 before then head coach Paul Pasqualoni moved him into a coaching role.

Gilbride, 34, graduated from the University of Hawaii in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in speech communications. He was a backup quarterback and played on special teams for the Warriors in 2000 after sitting out the 1999 season following his transfer from Brigham Young. He also earned four letters as a baseball player at Hawaii, playing outfield, first base and designated hitter. As a senior, he batted .308, had a .413 on base percentage and did not commit an error.

JIM HERRMANN

LINEBACKERS

Jim Herrmann is in his seventh season as the Giants linebackers coach and 10th year in the NFL.

Herrmann joined the Giants coaching staff on Jan. 22, 2009 following three seasons as the linebackers coach for the New York Jets. Prior to entering the NFL, Herrmann was on the coaching staff at the University of Michigan, his alma mater, for 20 years, including a nine-year stint as defensive coordinator.

In 2014, Herrmann's group overcame the loss of middle linebacker Jon Beason and was led by a pair of newcomers, one a veteran and the other a rookie.

Beason was limited to four games because of a foot/toe injury he originally suffered in an organized team activity on June 12. He aggravated the injury during the season was placed on injured reserve on Oct. 29 and underwent surgery. Beason was replaced in the lineup by former Baltimore Raven Jameel McClain. McClain played in all 16 games with 14 starts — nine at middle linebacker and five on the strong side — and led the Giants with a career-high 117 tackles (75 solo) and tied his career best with 2.5 sacks.

One of the most impressive Giants defenders was rookie linebacker Devon Kennard, a fifth-round draft choice from USC. Kennard played in 12 games with six starts and finished with 43 tackles (36 solo) and 4.5 sacks.

Kennard was selected as the NFC Defensive Player of the Week for his performance in the Giants' 36-7 victory over the Tennessee Titans on Dec. 7. He had six solo tackles, including two sacks, two tackles for losses, and a forced fumble. Kennard was the first Giant to receive a Player of the Week award since Justin Tuck in Week 13 of the 2013 season and the first Giants linebacker to be honored since Kiwanuka in Week 9 in 2011 against New England.

Kennard was the first Giants defensive rookie to be honored as a Player of the Week. The only Giants rookies to receive the award were Jessie Armstead (special teams, 1993), Matt Bryant (special teams, 2002 — twice), Osi Umenyiora (special teams, 2003), David Wilson (special teams, 2012) and Jeremy Shockey (offense, 2002).

Kennard had 2.0 sacks at Jacksonville on Nov. 30 and 2.0 at Tennessee, the first four sacks of his career. He was the first Giants player with at least two sacks in back-to-back games since Tuck, who had 4.0 at Washington on Dec. 1 and 2.0 at San Diego on Dec. 8, 2013. Kennard was the first Giants rookie to do it since Jason Pierre-Paul on Nov. 28 and Dec. 5, 2010. The last Giants linebacker to accomplish the feat was Jessie Armstead on Oct. 3 and 10, 1999. Kennard was the first Giants rookie linebacker with at least two sacks in consecutive games and the first NFL rookie linebacker to do it since San Francisco's Aldon Smith in 2011.

In 2013, Herrmann's linebackers helped the Giants' defense finish eighth in the NFL, allowing 332.3 yards a game. Beason was acquired in a trade on Oct. 4 and Herrmann integrated him into the group so quickly and successfully that the veteran started the final 11 games and finished second on the team with 98 tackles (75 solo). Spencer Paysinger, Jacquian Williams and Mark Herzlich, who joined the Giants together in 2011, all made significant contributions to the defense that year.

The previous season, Herrmann had to manage a group hit by injuries to key contributors Williams and Keith Rivers. Chase Blackburn started 15 games at middle linebacker and finished second on the team with 97 tackles (67 solo). Herzlich manned the middle vs. Pittsburgh on Nov. 4. Mathias Kiwanuka started the first five games at strongside linebacker, but in the latter part of the season he was playing primarily on the defensive line. On the weak side, Williams (who missed six games with a knee injury) and Paysinger split time with Michael Boley.

In 2011, Herrmann overcame the early season-ending loss of a starter and produced with a blend of veterans and rookies who helped the Giants win Super Bowl XLVI. Jonathan Goff, who started every game at middle linebacker in 2010, suffered a season-ending knee injury in a Labor Day practice. He was replaced by a committee that included rookie Greg Jones and — after he rejoined the team on Nov. 30 — Blackburn. Boley missed 2½ games with a hamstring injury, but was second on the team with 91 tackles (72 solo). Kiwanuka was a stalwart on the strong side, where he had 81 tackles, including 3.5 sacks. Blackburn had 19 postseason tackles and a key interception in Super Bowl XLVI.

Herrmann has become accustomed to change among the linebackers. In 2010, Kiwanuka was limited to three games because of a herniated disk in his neck. Goff, a reserve for most of his first two seasons, became the starter in the middle. Keith Bulluck joined the Giants after 10 seasons with the Tennessee Titans and started eight of the 12 games in which he played. On the weak side, Boley started every game but the season opener and finished fifth on the team with 74 tackles. Steady play from the linebackers helped the Giants finish seventh in the NFL in total defense (310.8 yards a game) and eighth against the run (101.3).

In 2009, injuries forced Herrmann to juggle his linebackers throughout the season. Four different players — Antonio Pierce, Goff, Blackburn and Bryan Kehl — started at middle linebacker. Boley and Blackburn were starters on the weak side.

The previous season, Herrmann helped coach a Jets defense that finished seventh in the NFL against the run (94.9 yards a game) and 16th overall (329.4). Two of the linebackers Herrmann coached, Eric Barton and Calvin Pace, were the team's top two tacklers.

In 2007, one of Herrmann's former Michigan players, David Harris, joined the Jets. As a rookie, Harris led the team with 117 tackles and tied for the team lead with five sacks.

Prior to joining the Jets, Herrmann was on the Michigan coaching staff for two decades. In 1997, Herrmann's first year as defensive coordinator, the Wolverines won the national championship while leading the country in three important defensive statistical categories: total yards, scoring and pass efficiency. Herrmann was the recipient of the Broyles Award as the National Assistant Coach of the Year.

During Herrmann's nine years as coordinator, Michigan won five Big Ten championships and the defense held 47 opponents to less than 100 rushing yards. His defense led the Big Ten in sacks in 1997, 2001 and 2002, including a school-record 50 sacks in 2001. Herrmann coached six All-Americans at Michigan, including Marlin Jackson, Ernest Shazor, Leon Hall, LaMarr Woodley, Larry Foote and Charles Woodson, who won the 1997 Heisman Trophy and was named the national Defensive Player of the Year as a senior.

Herrmann spent two seasons coaching high school football in Michigan, in 1984 at Harper Woods Notre Dame High School and in 1985 at Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Herrmann was a three-year letter winner at linebacker for Michigan and was a member of Bo Schembechler's first Rose Bowl-winning team in 1980. A Michigan native, Herrmann was a three-sport athlete and standout linebacker at Dearborn Divine High School.

Herrmann has three children, Jessica, Cory and Timothy.

LARRY IZZO

ASSISTANT SPECIAL TEAMS

Larry Izzo, one of the best special teams players in NFL history, is in his fifth season as the Giants' assistant special teams coach. Izzo works closely with special teams coordinator Tom Quinn.

In 2014, kicker Josh Brown enjoyed the finest season of his 12-year career. Brown made 24 of 26 field goal attempts, a 92.3 percent success rate that was the highest in Giants history for a kicker with a minimum of 14 attempts. One of his misses was a block in St. Louis.

In his two seasons with the Giants, Brown has succeeded on 47 of 52 field goal attempts, a 90.4 percentage. That is the highest in franchise history by a kicker with at least 50 attempts.

Last season, Brown was 4-for-4 on field goal attempts of 50 or more yards. Brown's four field goals of at least 50 yards were a Giants single-season record.

The Giants' kickoff team allowed an average return of just 18.3 yards, which ranked second in the NFL, and their opponents' drives following a kickoff started on average at the 20.9-yard line, which was eighth in the NFL.

Punter Steve Weatherford's 38.6-yard net average was the third-highest of his career.

On Sept. 21, Damontre Moore blocked a punt by Houston's Shane Lechler. It was Moore's second block in as many seasons; on Nov. 10, 2013, he blocked a punt by Oakland's Marquette King which was scooped up and returned 21 yards for a touchdown by Cooper Taylor.

In 2013, the Giants' kickoff team ranked ninth in the NFL, allowing an average return of 21.8 yards.

In 2012, the special teams made significant contributions to the Giants' winning season and finished seventh in the Dallas Morning News' annual comprehensive ranking of the league's special teams. The Giants led the NFL with five special teams takeaways. Their average drive start following a kickoff was at the 25.2 yard line, which led the NFL. The Giants averaged 26.2 yards per kickoff return, which placed them seventh in the NFL. David Wilson set a Giants record with 1,533 kickoff return yards, easily breaking the former mark of 1,291, set by Domenik Hixon in 2009. Tynes made 33 of 39 field goal attempts and all 46 of his extra point tries for 145 points, which was both the second-highest total in Giants history.

In 2011, Izzo's first season with the Giants, he won his fourth Super Bowl ring and first as a coach. He also helped develop a group of rookies who quickly became outstanding special teams players, including Mark Herzlich, Spencer Paysinger and Jacquian Williams. The Giants' punt and kickoff coverage teams were solid all season and did not allow a touchdown in 2011.

In a 14-year NFL career (1996-09), Izzo played for three teams and was both a three-time Super Bowl champion with New England and a three-time Pro Bowler. He was credited with 275 special teams tackles in 200 regular season games and 23 more in 21 postseason games. Izzo never played on a team with a losing record and his teams participated in the playoffs nine times, reaching five AFC Championship Games and four Super Bowls. His teammates selected him as a special teams captain nine times, including eight with the Patriots.

Izzo began his career in 1996 as an undrafted free agent with the Miami Dolphins. He made such a rapid and positive impact that in preseason, Coach Jimmy Johnson said only two players were guaranteed to make the team — future Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Marino and Izzo. In his second NFL games, he blocked a Jeff Feagles punt.

As a rookie, Izzo played in all 16 games and finished second on the team with 10 special teams tackles. He was voted the special teams alternate for the AFC Pro Bowl team and was an all-rookie selection by Pro Football Weekly.

Izzo spent the 1997 season on injured reserve after tearing an Achilles tendon in training camp. He returned the following year to play 13 games, register 21 special teams tackles and be Miami's recipient of the team's Ed Block Courage Award. Izzo played in all 16 games — plus his first two postseason games — in 1999, when he led the team with a career-high 33 special teams tackles. He was elected the Dolphins' special teams captain. In 2000, his final season in Miami, Izzo earned his first Pro Bowl selection after finishing with a team-high 31 special teams tackles.

Prior to the 2001 season, Izzo joined New England. In his first season with the Patriots, Izzo was voted special teams captain for the first of eight consecutive seasons, led the unit with 22 tackles and helped New England defeat St. Louis in Super Bowl XXXVI. The following year, Izzo was voted to the Pro Bowl for the second time after leading the Patriots with 20 special teams tackles. He was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after collecting six tackles in a game vs. Kansas City. In 2003 and 2004, Izzo led New England with 31 and then 28 special teams tackles to help the Patriots win two more Super Bowls. He was a member of the AFC Pro Bowl team in 2004, when he was also an All-Pro. Izzo missed only one game from 2000-08 and was chosen for the Patriots' All-2000's team.

Izzo joined the Jets prior to the 2009 season. He was credited with 18 special teams tackles before going on injured reserve with a neck injury on Dec. 10.

Izzo was a four-year letterman and three-year starter at Rice University, where he played linebacker and finished fourth in school history with 301 tackles, including a record 46 for losses. As a senior, he had 121 tackles, was a team captain, and consensus first-team All-Southwest Conference selection. In 2002, Izzo graduated from Rice with a degree in business.

At McCullough High School in Houston, Izzo played safety and running back. The Houston Chronicle named him its two-way Player of the Year as a senior after he tallied 131 tackles and two interceptions on defense and contributed 1,081 yards rushing.

In 2005, Izzo and Warrick Dunn participated in an NFL-sponsored USO tour to visit troops stationed overseas. They began their trip at Bagram Air Base in Afghanistan, where they helped open the Pat Tillman USO Center, then spent time with troops in Baghdad, Kuwait and Qatar.

Izzo and his wife, Mara, have a son, Boston.

CRAIG JOHNSON

RUNNING BACKS

Craig Johnson is in his second season as the Giants' running backs coach, his 16th season coaching in the NFL, and his 33rd season as a football coach.

In 2014, Johnson welcomed two backfield newcomers, veteran Rashad Jennings and rookie Andre Williams, who helped the team average 100.3 rushing yards a game, a 16.9-yard improvement over the team's output the previous season.

Williams, the team's fourth-round draft choice from Boston College, played in all 16 games and led the Giants with 217 rushing attempts, 721 yards rushing and seven touchdowns. He also had the team's longest run of the season, a 50-yard touchdown at Tennessee on Dec. 7.

Williams is the first rookie to lead the Giants in rushing since Joe Montgomery in 1999 with 348 yards. Williams' 721 yards are the highest total by a Giants rookie since Ron Dayne had 770 in 2000. Hall of Famer Tuffy Leemans holds the franchise rookie record with 830 yards in 1936. Williams' seven rushing touchdowns were the most by a Giants rookie since Brandon Jacobs had seven in 2005.

On Dec. 7, Williams rushed for 131 yards at Tennessee. Two weeks later, he ran for 110 yards in St. Louis to become the first Giants rookie with two 100-yard rushing games in a season since Eddie Price in 1950.

Despite missing five games with knee and ankle injuries, Jennings was second on the team with 639 yards and four touchdowns on 167 carries.

In a victory over Houston on Sept. 21, Jennings led the Giants with 176 rushing yards on 34 carries, both career-high totals. His 34 carries were the most by a Giant since Dec. 5, 1999, when Joe Montgomery had 38 rushing attempts vs. the Jets. His 176 yards were the highest total by a Giants back since Ahmad Bradshaw ran for 200 yards on 30 carries vs. Cleveland on Oct. 7, 2012.

Prior to joining the Giants' staff, Johnson spent three seasons as the Minnesota Vikings' quarterbacks coach. In 2013, injuries led to three different quarterbacks starting at least one game for the Vikings, with both Matt Cassel and Christian Ponder playing in nine games. Cassel, in his first season with the Vikings, led the team with 1,807 passing yards, 11 touchdown passes, and an 81.6 passer rating.

Ponder played the best football of his career during a four-game winning streak to close the 2012 season that enabled Minnesota to earn an NFC Wild Card playoff berth with a 10-6 record.

In the regular-season finale that clinched a spot in the postseason, Ponder threw for three touchdowns and posted a career-high 120.2 passer rating in a victory over Green Bay. Ponder did not throw an interception in the final three games, completed at least 70 percent of his passes in five games, and had four games with a passer rating of 100.0 or better.

Johnson's first year with Minnesota in 2011 was also the rookie season for Ponder, the team's first-round draft choice that year. Under Johnson's tutelage, Ponder threw for 1,853 yards and 13 touchdowns in 11 games. Ponder also finished the season with eight touchdown passes and only one interception in the red zone, where he had a league-leading 114.3 passer rating.

Johnson was the Tennessee Titans' quarterbacks coach from 2002-09, when Steve McNair, Vince Young and Kerry Collins all had Pro Bowl seasons under his direction. McNair was the NFL's Co-Most Valuable Player (with Peyton Manning) in 2003 and Young was voted the 2006 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year. In 2008, Collins was pressed into action after Young suffered an injury in the season opener and responded by completing 58.3 percent of his passes, leading the team to a 12-3 record as the starter and returning to the Pro Bowl. McNair earned Pro Bowl honors in 2000, 2003 and 2005.

During Johnson's tenure with Tennessee the team won three AFC South titles and made the playoffs five times with three different starting quarterbacks. In 2010, Johnson was promoted to assistant head coach/running backs after a late-preseason staff shuffle. That year, Pro Bowler Chris Johnson ran for 1,364 yards and led the team with 44 catches.

In his first two years in Tennessee — 2000 and 2001 — Johnson was the Titans' offensive quality control and quarterbacks coach.

Before joining the Titans staff, Johnson coached on the collegiate level for 17 years (1983-99) as a quarterbacks and running backs coach at the University of Maryland (1997-99), Northwestern University (1992-96), Virginia Military Institute (1989-91), Rutgers University (1986-88) and Army (1985). Johnson was a graduate assistant in 1983 (University of Wyoming) and 1984 (University of Arkansas). He coached the Maryland quarterbacks and was the team's offensive coordinator in 1997-98. During his five seasons at Northwestern, Johnson helped the Wildcats win consecutive Big Ten titles for the first time in school history in 1995-96. The 1995 Wildcats posted the school's first winning season since 1971 and earned their first trip to the Rose Bowl since 1949. Johnson's pupil, QB Steve Schnur, was a first-team All-Big Ten honoree and the Big Ten Most Valuable Player runner-up in 1996.

Johnson came to Northwestern from VMI, where he was quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator and helped the school lead the nation in rushing in 1991. Johnson coached the running backs at Rutgers for three seasons after a one-year stint at Army as a part-time assistant working with the fullbacks. Johnson broke into coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Wyoming, in 1983.

Johnson and wife, Darlene, have two daughters, Shelby and Sydney.

ROB LEONARD

DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

Rob Leonard is in his third season as the Giants' defensive assistant coach.

The Giants finished the 2014 season with 47 sacks, 14 more than they had the previous year and their highest total since they had 48 in 2011. The Giants had at least one sack in all 16 games for the first time since 2007.

In Leonard's first year with the team, the defense ranked eighth in the league in total defense, allowing 332.3 yards a game, a significant improvement over the 2012 season, when the defense was ranked 31st, allowing 383.4 yards per game.

Leonard came to the Giants from North Carolina State, where he was a graduate assistant the previous three seasons. His duties included putting together the defensive playbook, writing up practice scripts, running the scout team, and signaling in defenses from the sidelines during games.

Leonard began his coaching career in 2009 as a defensive assistant at Cardinal Gibbons High School in Raleigh.

Leonard played three seasons at N.C. State after playing the 2004 season at Division III Washington & Jefferson College. The following year, he walked on with the Wolfpack and earned a scholarship while redshirting.

In 2006, Leonard played in all 12 games on special teams and was second on the team with 13 special teams stops.

Leonard saw action from scrimmage in eight games at free safety and played on special teams in the other four contests in 2007. He ranked third on the team with 219 special teams snaps and second with 10 special teams tackles.

In 2008, the former walk-on was the Wolfpack's starting strongside linebacker and leading tackler with 95. His 801 snaps were the highest total on the team. Leonard tied for third in the ACC in fumbles recovered with three. He led the team with a season-high 13 tackles vs. Florida State and tied for the team lead with 11 against Miami. He got his first career interception, which he returned 23 yards, vs. North Carolina. Leonard was the recipient of the team's Mike Hardy Award, given to the player who plays beyond his capabilities.

Leonard was a four-year letterman at Moon High School in Moon Township, Pa. As a senior, he gained more than 1,500 all-purpose yards and scored 14 touchdowns. Leonard had a team-high seven interceptions and was a unanimous first-team all-conference selection after playing running back, defensive back, kick returner and punter. He was a second-team all-state cornerback.

Leonard is married to his wife Anna Carr, who is from Wallace, N.C.

DAVID MERRITT, SR.

SECONDARY COACH/SAFETIES

David Merritt is in his 12th season on the Giants' coaching staff and his 10th as the team's secondary coach/safeties. He joins Pat Flaherty and Jerry Palmieri as the only assistant coaches who have been with the Giants for Tom Coughlin's entire tenure as head coach.

In 2014, safeties Antrel Rolle, Quintin Demps and Stevie Brown ranked second, fifth and 11th, respectively, on the Giants in tackles. Rolle started every game at strong safety, while Demps (9) and Brown (7) split the starts at free safety. Demps led the team with four interceptions. Rookie Nat Berhe was impressive in his limited opportunities.

In 2013, safety Rolle led the Giants in tackles for the third straight season, finishing with 106 stops (85 solo). He was named second-team All-Pro by the Associated Press and played in his third Pro Bowl. Merritt overcame the preseason loss of Brown (knee surgery) and molded a unit that helped the Giants finish eighth in the NFL in total defense and 10th against the pass. Will Hill started 10 of the last 12 games and became one of the defense's most productive players. On Dec. 22 in Detroit, Hill had nine solo tackles and an interception of a Matthew Stafford pass he returned 38 yards for a touchdown with 4:57 remaining. The score tied the game and the Giants won in overtime. The safeties helped the Giants finish sixth in the NFL in defensive quarterback efficiency, holding opposing quarterbacks to a 78.3 passer rating.

The previous season, Rolle and Brown were two of the top performers on the Giants' defense. Rolle led the Giants with 104 tackles (85 solo). He was named the NFC Defensive Player of the Week for his work in a Week 6 victory in San Francisco, where he intercepted two Alex Smith passes in the third quarter, returning the first to the 49ers' 12-yard line and the second to the five-yard line. Both takeaways led to Giants field goals. Rolle also tied Prince Amukamara and Michael Boley for the team lead with six unassisted tackles.

Brown intercepted eight passes, the most by a Giant since Willie Williams had 10 in 1968. His 307 interception return yards broke the former Giants' single-season record of 251, set by Hall of Famer Emlen Tunnell in 1949 and matched by Dick Lynch in 1963.

Brown was twice selected NFC Defensive Player of the Week. He was honored after his Week 8 performance at Dallas, where he intercepted two passes, recovered a fumble and had six solo tackles in a victory over the Cowboys. Brown was cited a second time after the Giants' Week 17 rout of Philadelphia, when he had six tackles and, on the fifth play of the game, intercepted a Michael Vick pass and returned it 48 yards to the Eagles' 26-yard line. Four plays later, Eli Manning threw a touchdown pass to Rueben Randle, and the Giants were on their way to a 42-7 triumph.

In 2011, the safeties were one of the most reliable and consistent units on the Super Bowl champion Giants. Rolle and Deon Grant played in all 20 regular season and postseason games - Rolle started every one - and Kenny Phillips missed only one. The three safeties were often on the field at the same time. Rolle led the team with 96 tackles and intercepted two passes, Phillips had 72 tackles and four picks and Grant had 58 tackles, an interception and a sack.

The safeties were the most improved unit on the team in 2010. Rolle and Grant - newcomers that year - teamed with Phillips (who missed most of the previous season after undergoing knee surgery) - to form a versatile and productive trio. Rolle started all 16 games, was the Giants' second-leading tackler with 100, and was voted to the NFC Pro Bowl team. Phillips started 15 games and had 88 tackles. Grant had eight starts and, like Rolle, was often deployed close to the line of scrimmage. He had 68 tackles. The Giants were ranked seventh in the NFL in total defense and ninth in pass defense that season.

In 2009, Merritt molded a functioning safety unit after Phillips was lost for the season following the second game because of knee surgery. Five different players started at safety for the Giants that year, including converted cornerback Aaron Ross. Despite the shuffling, the Giants were ranked 15th in the NFL in pass defense.

Merritt has demonstrated a knack for developing players who were not highly-touted entering the NFL. When the Giants won the NFC East title in 2008, the starting safeties were Michael Johnson, a seventh-round draft choice, and James Butler, who joined the team as an undrafted free agent. That season, Johnson and Butler tied for second on the team with 76 tackles apiece. They also combined for five interceptions.

In the Giants' 2007 Super Bowl season, one of the team's best defensive players was free safety Gibril Wilson, who arrived as a fifth-round draft choice. Wilson led the club with 33 postseason tackles, was second with 96 regular season tackles, and was one of the top free agent safeties in 2008.

Merritt assumed his current position prior to the 2006 season. In 2005, he was the Giants' defensive assistant coach. The previous year, he had the additional title of quality control coach. Merritt was hired by Coughlin on Jan. 26, 2004 after spending three seasons with the New York Jets as a defensive assistant/linebackers coach.

Before joining the Jets, Merritt coached at the collegiate level for four seasons. In 1997, he was the outside linebackers coach at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga. The following year, Merritt moved to the Virginia Military Institute, where he coached the defensive ends and outside linebackers for one season and the defensive line for two.

A linebacker, Merritt was drafted by the Miami Dolphins in 1993. He played for the Arizona Cardinals from 1993-96 and for the Rhein Fire in NFL Europe in 1997. Merritt was an All-ACC linebacker at North Carolina State in 1992, when he led the conference in tackles. He earned a bachelor's degree in political science from N.C. State.

In 2012, Merritt was a member of the inaugural class of the Millbrook (N.C.) High School Sports Hall of Fame.

Merritt and his wife, Yolonda, have three sons, David Jr., Devin and Dawson, and a daughter, Drayah. He also has an older daughter, Nkechi (Kiki), who lives in Atlanta.

ROBERT NUNN

DEFENSIVE LINE

Robert Nunn is in his 28th season as a football coach, his 16th in the NFL and his sixth coaching the Giants' defensive line.

Nunn's defensive line has consistently been one of the best and most respected in the NFL.

The Giants' defense had 47 sacks in 2014, an increase of 13 sacks over its 2013 total. Nunn's linemen accounted for 36 of those 47 sacks.

Jason Pierre-Paul had 12.5 sacks, the second-highest total of his career and the highest total by a Giants player since he had 16.5 in 2011. Pierre-Paul also had a team-high 21 quarterback hits. After compiling just 3.5 sacks in the first 11 games, JPP had 9.0 sacks in the final five games.

Pierre-Paul had sacks in seven different games, including six with 1.5 or more sacks. That tied with Kansas City's Justin Houston for the NFL's third-highest total, behind Houston's J.J. Watt and Baltimore's Elvis Dumervil, who each had seven. JPP had a career-high 2.5 sacks among his seven tackles vs. Washington on Dec. 14.

Second-year pro Johnathan Hankins started all 16 games. Hankins' 51 tackles were the second-highest total among all 4-3 defensive tackles, trailing only Ndamukong Suh. His 7.0 sacks placed him second on the team and the highest total by a Giants defensive tackle since Keith Hamilton had a team-high 10.0 in 2000.

Another NFL sophomore, defensive end Damontre Moore, was third on the team with 5.5 sacks. Moore picked up his first career sack at Washington on Sept. 25.

In 2013, the linemen accounted for 27 of the Giants' 34 sacks, including a team-high 11.0 by Justin Tuck. Nunn quickly integrated into the unit veteran free agent tackle Cullen Jenkins, who started 15 games. He also compensated for the loss of Pierre-Paul, whose season was cut short by a shoulder injury. Mathias Kiwanuka stepped in and finished with 6.0 sacks, his highest total since 2008.

The previous season, the defensive line accounted for 23.5 of the team's 33 sacks (not counting 3.0 by Kiwanuka, who was listed as a linebacker, but frequently played up front). Pierre-Paul led the Giants in sacks for the second year in a row with 6.5 and was a starter on the NFC Pro Bowl team, his second selection to the game. Defensive tackle Linval Joseph was fifth on the team with 72 tackles (39 solo) and had a career-high 4.0 sacks.

In 2010, the line had 41.5 of the Giants' 48 sacks, which tied for the league's second-highest total (not counting 3.5 by Kiwanuka).

Pierre-Paul had a dominating sophomore NFL season, finishing with 16.5 sacks, the fourth-highest total in Giants history. He joined Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor and Michael Strahan as the only Giants with at least 16 sacks in a season. Pierre-Paul was selected to his first Pro Bowl and was named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press. He was twice named NFC Defensive Player of the Week in December — when he was also named NFC Defensive Player of the Month.

Osi Umenyiora was second on the team with 9.0 sacks despite missing seven games because of preseason knee surgery and an ankle injury suffered on Nov. 28 in New Orleans. Umenyiora and Tuck tied for the Giants' postseason sack lead with 3.5 apiece. Tuck had both of the Giants' sacks of Tom Brady in the Giants' victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI.

Nunn also helped develop a sturdy tandem of tackles in Chris Canty and Joseph, who improved rapidly in his second pro season.

In 2010, Nunn's first season with the team, the defensive line played at a high level throughout the season and helped the Giants finish seventh in the NFL in total defense and eighth against the run. The Giants were second in the NFC and fifth in the NFL with 46 sacks, led the league with 39 takeaways and the line was responsible for 21 of the team's 29 forced fumbles.

Umenyiora and Tuck, a 2010 Pro Bowler, tied for fourth in the NFC and seventh in the NFL — and the team lead — with 11.5 sacks each, the first time the Giants had two players with at least that many sacks since 2005, when Umenyiora had 14.5 and Strahan finished with 11.5.

Pierre-Paul, a first-round draft choice in 2010, finished the season with 4.5 sacks, the most by a Giants rookie since Cornelius Griffin had 5.0 in 2000. Pierre-Paul had two sacks vs. Jacksonville on Nov. 28 and two against Washington the following week to become the first rookie in Giants history with at least two sacks in consecutive games.

Nunn coached the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' defensive line in 2009 and the Green Bay Packers' defensive tackles from 2005-08. In 2008, two of Nunn's players, Johnny Jolly and Ryan Pickett, ranked in the top five in tackles among Green Bay defenders. Jolly set a new career high with 82 stops. Pickett, who joined the Packers in 2006, tallied 236 tackles, 2.5 sacks and 13 passes defended in three seasons under Nunn.

In 2005, Nunn helped elevate the Packers' defense from 25th in the NFL before his arrival to seventh in the league. Tackle Grady Jackson started all 16 games for only the second time as a pro and responded with career bests in tackles (72) and passes defended (four).

Nunn entered the NFL as a defensive assistant with the Miami Dolphins in 2000. The following year, he was promoted to assistant defensive line/quality control coach. He held that role for two years (2001-02), during which time he worked with Pro Bowler Jason Taylor.

In 2003, Nunn coached the Washington Redskins' defensive line. One of his players was Bruce Smith, who broke the late Reggie White's NFL career sacks record.

Nunn returned to Miami in 2004 as a special assistant. He began the year working on off-the-field projects and then assisted with the linebackers after Coach Dave Wannstedt resigned with seven games left in the season.

Nunn's 12-year college coaching experience was highlighted by nine years at Georgia Military College in Milledgeville, Ga. After one season as defensive coordinator, the school promoted him to head coach and athletic director in 1992. In his eight seasons holding that position, Nunn posted an outstanding 66-19 record.

He launched his coaching career at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College in 1988, heading up the defensive line. He then tutored defensive ends at the University of Tennessee for two seasons (1989-90).

A four-year letterman (1984-87) as a linebacker at Oklahoma State University, Nunn served as team captain in 1987. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in secondary education from the school in 1988.

Nunn and his wife, Karen, have five children: a daughter, Josie, and four sons, Noah, Jacob, Nathan and Johnny.

JERRY PALMIERI

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

New Jersey native and longtime Tom Coughlin assistant Jerry Palmieri is in his 12th season as the Giants' strength and conditioning coach, a position he assumed on Jan. 13, 2004. Palmieri joins Pat Flaherty (offensive line) and David Merritt (secondary/safeties) as the only assistant coaches who have been with the Giants for Tom Coughlin's entire tenure as head coach.

Palmieri is one of the NFL's most respected conditioning coaches. He was honored as the 2007 Samson's NFL Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year. In 1999, Palmieri was honored by the Professional Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society as Coach of the Year.

Palmieri was the New Orleans Saints' assistant strength and conditioning coach in 2003. Prior to that he spent nine years as a strength and conditioning coach under Coughlin, one at Boston College (where he was the director of strength and conditioning operations) and eight with the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Palmieri's goal is to help each player increase in size, strength and speed, which ultimately produces a more powerful and productive athlete. "Coach Coughlin wants our team to play physical on the field," Palmieri said. "Our job is to make our players more physical and more powerful, so that their play will be physical in competition."

Palmieri began his career as a strength coach at the University of North Carolina in 1982. From there he moved to Oklahoma State University (1984-86) and Kansas State University (1987-92) before joining Coughlin at Boston College. In addition to his coaching experience, Palmieri has taught physical education classes and written articles about strength and conditioning for national publications.

Palmieri is a 1980 graduate of Montclair State University, which is located just 15 minutes from MetLife Stadium. He received a master's degree in exercise physiology from North Carolina in 1984. Palmieri was a three-time New Jersey Golden Gloves champion (1976-78) and competed in international competitions as a member of the 1978 and 1979 USA Boxing Teams.

Palmieri was raised in Dumont, N.J. He and his wife, Ellen, also a New Jersey native, have two married children. Tony and his wife, Sabrina, live in Richmond, Va., where he is the video director for athletics at the University of Richmond. Annamarie and her husband, Trent Atwood, live in Little Rock, Ark., where she is the Chief of Staff for the Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas, Tim Griffin. Trent is a captain in the United States Air Force and serves as a C-130 pilot.

MARKUS PAUL

ASSISTANT STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

Markus Paul, a former NFL player who has won five Super Bowl rings as a coach in the league, is in his ninth season as the Giants' assistant strength and conditioning coach. Paul works closely with Jerry Palmieri to improve the size, strength, speed and conditioning of the Giants' players.

Paul was on the staff of the Super Bowl-winning Giants in 2007 and 2011 and won three Super Bowl rings with the New England Patriots in 2001, 2003 and 2004.

Prior to joining the Giants, Paul spent two seasons on the coaching staff of the New York Jets, in 2005 as the director of physical development and the following year as the head strength and conditioning coach.

Before his tenure with the Jets, Paul was the New England Patriots' assistant strength and conditioning coach. He worked under Mike Woicik, who has trained six Super Bowl championship teams.

Paul's first NFL coaching position was as the New Orleans Saints' assistant strength and conditioning coach in 1998-99.

A defensive back during his playing career, Paul was the Chicago Bears' fourth-round draft choice in 1989. He played with the Bears until 1993, when he played one game with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Paul played in 71 games with 30 starts at strong or free safety. He intercepted seven passes, which he returned for a total of 100 yards.

A four-year starter at Syracuse University, Paul holds the school record with 19 career interceptions. As a senior in 1988, he was credited with 76 tackles and was named first-team All-America by The Sporting News and Football News. Paul earned a Bachelor of Science degree in retailing.

Paul was raised in Kissimmee, Fla. He and his wife, Patricia, have a son, Jairus, and a daughter, Tabitha.

RYAN ROEDER

OFFENSIVE ASSISTANT

Ryan Roeder is in his third season as the Giants' offensive assistant coach.

Roeder came to the Giants from Princeton University, where he served as tight ends coach and directed the kickoff return and punt return units. In 2012, he helped tight end Mark Hayes earn All-Ivy League honors.

In 2009, Roeder coached the wide receivers at the University of Rhode Island, assisting Shawn Leonard in leading the Colonial Athletic Association in touchdown receptions and earning All-CAA League honors.

From 2006 to 2008, Roeder was the offensive graduate assistant at Temple University. Prior to his position at Temple, he served as running backs coach at the University at Albany (2005) and assistant offensive line coach at the College of the Holy Cross (2004).

As a player, Roeder was named first-team All-Northeast Conference quarterback (2002) and served as team captain leading Albany to the 2002 NEC and Eastern College Athletic Conference championships. He passed for 1,366 yards as a senior with eight passing and eight rushing touchdowns. Roeder ranks third on the career passing list and fifth in total offense in the school's record books.

Roeder received his undergraduate degree in a dual major of communications and psychology in 2002, and earned a master's degree in educational administration from the University at Albany in 2009.

Roeder and his wife Megan have 2 daughters, Lucie, two, and Callie, who was born on May 1.

SEAN RYAN

WIDE RECEIVERS

Ryan also served two seasons as the team's quarterbacks coach.

In 2014, Ryan was instrumental in the rapid development of Odell Beckham Jr., who became the first Giants player selected the Associated Press' Offensive Rookie of the Year in the 58-year history of the award. In just 12 games, Beckham caught 91 passes for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns, all franchise rookie records. He was the first wide receiver in NFL history to reach 1,000 yards after missing the season's first three games – and he sat out the first four with a hamstring injury. Beckham set NFL records for most catches and yards in the first 12 games to start a career. His 91 catches were the second-highest total in franchise history, topped only by Steve Smith's 107 receptions in 2009. Beckham's 91 receptions are tied with Denver's Eddie Royal (2008) for the second-highest total in NFL history for a rookie.

Rueben Randle continued to improve last season. He caught at least one pass in every game and finished second on the team with career-high totals of 71 receptions – he had 60 combined in his first two seasons – for 938 yards. Randle also scored three touchdowns.

Victor Cruz caught 23 passes for 337 yards and a touchdown before suffering a torn right patellar tendon at Philadelphia on Oct. 12. He underwent surgery and was placed on injured reserve. Cruz increased his career total to 264 catches, which places him 12th on the franchise's career list, two behind Mark Bavaro.

Ryan was the Giants' quarterbacks coach in 2012-13. In his first season working with Ryan, Eli Manning was selected to play in his third Pro Bowl after completing 321 of 536 passes for 3,948 yards, 26 touchdowns and 15 interceptions and a passer rating of 87.2. Manning threw a career-high five touchdown passes in the 2012 season-ending victory over Philadelphia. Under Ryan, Manning had his eighth consecutive season in which he threw for at least 3,000 yards and 20 touchdowns, the fifth-longest streak in NFL history.

The Giants' wide receivers were very productive in their first two seasons under Ryan (2010-11). In 2011, the unit helped the Giants set a franchise record with 4,734 net passing yards. Cruz, who did not have a career reception entering the season, caught 82 passes for 1,536 yards and nine touchdowns. The 82 receptions tied Amani Toomer (2002) for what was then second place on the Giants' single-season list and Cruz's 1,536 yards broke Toomer's former team record by 193 yards. Hakeem Nicks caught 76 passes for a career-high 1,192 yards and seven touchdowns. Under Ryan, Cruz and Nicks became the first receivers to have more than 1,000 yards in the same season. Another receiver, Mario Manningham, made perhaps the most important grab of the season for a 38-yard gain in the fourth quarter of the Giants' Super Bowl XLVI victory over New England.

The wide receivers played impressively in 2010, their first season with Ryan as their position coach. Nicks led the Giants with 79 receptions for 1,052 yards and 11 touchdowns, despite missing three games because of injury. His 11 touchdown receptions tied Del Shofner (1962) for the third-highest total in Giants history. Manningham added nine touchdown catches as he and Nicks became the first pair of Giants with at least nine touchdown catches since 1967, when Homer Jones had a franchise-record 13 and Aaron Thomas had nine.

Manningham was second on the team with 60 catches for 944 yards and those nine scores. In the final two games, he caught Manning touchdown passes of 85 and 92 yards that were two of the nine longest pass plays in the 86-year history of the Giants.

Ryan joined the Giants' coaching staff in 2007 and served for three seasons as the offensive quality control coach.

In 2006, Ryan was the recruiting coordinator, running backs coach and head coach of the junior varsity at Harvard University.

Prior to his year at Harvard, Ryan was an assistant coach at Columbia University for three seasons. In 2003 and 2004, Ryan was the running backs coach and special teams coordinator. The following season, Ryan coached the quarterbacks.

Before coaching at Columbia, Ryan spent two years as a graduate assistant at Boston College, where he worked primarily with the wide receivers. The Eagles won bowl games in each of those seasons, beating Georgia in the 2001 Music City Bowl and Toledo in the 2002 Motor City Bowl.

Ryan was the running backs coach at Colgate University in 2000, a graduate assistant at the University at Albany (where the Giants then held training camp) in 1998-99, and the quarterbacks coach at Siena for a season.

Ryan played defensive back and outside linebacker at Hamilton College, where he graduated in 1994 with a degree in American studies. He also earned a master's degree in higher education administration from Albany.

A native of Hudson Falls, N.Y. – north of Albany – Ryan was a standout football, basketball and baseball player at Hudson Falls High School.

MIKE SULLIVAN QUARTERBACKS

Mike Sullivan this season begins his second stint on the Giants' coaching staff. He previously spent six years coaching the team's wide receivers and two as the quarterbacks coach.

Sullivan was most recently the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' offensive coordinator in 2012-13. He spent the 2014 season as a consultant.

In 2012, the Buccaneers set a franchise record with 5,820 yards of total offense and 389 points scored. Their offense ranked ninth in the NFL with an average of 363.8 yards a game. That Tampa Bay team was 10th in passing yardage (248.9 a game) and 15th in rushing yardage (114.8). Quarterback Josh Freeman set franchise records with 4,065 passing yards and 27 touchdown passes and running back Doug Martin was selected to the Pro Bowl after setting a team rookie rushing record with 1,454 yards.

Sullivan was the Giants' quarterbacks coach in 2010-11. In those two seasons, Eli Manning completed 61.9 percent of his passes for 8,935 yards, 60 touchdowns, 41 interceptions and a passer rating of 89.2. He had career-high totals of 31 touchdown passes in 2010 and 4,933 yards the following season, when the Giants won their second Super Bowl with Manning as quarterback. In 2011, Manning set an NFL record with 15 fourth-quarter touchdown passes.

Sullivan coached the Giants' wide receivers from 2004-09. In the last of those six seasons, the team's wide receivers caught 236 passes. Steve Smith shattered the franchise record with 107 catches and was the first Giants wideout to play in the Pro Bowl in 41 years. Smith's receptions accounted for 1,220 yards and seven touchdowns. Mario Manningham contributed 57 catches and Hakeem Nicks had 47 and six scores in an exceptional rookie season.

In 2008, Smith led the Giants with 57 receptions. Domenik Hixon, who had one career reception entering the season, had a team-high 596 receiving yards on 43 catches. Amani Toomer was second on the team with 48 receptions in his final Giants season. In four seasons under Sullivan's tutelage, Plaxico Burress had 344 catches, which places him 12th on the franchise's career list. Burress had 3,681 receiving yards and caught 33 touchdown passes for the Giants.

Burress caught 10 touchdown passes in 2006 and 12 the following year to become the first Giant since Del Shofner in 1961-62 to post back-to-back seasons with 10 or more scoring catches. He set a Giants postseason record with 11 receptions in the NFC Championship Game in Green Bay, one more than Ike Hilliard had in the 2000 Championship Game victory over Minnesota.

David Tyree, another of Sullivan's players, made one of the greatest plays in Super Bowl history when he improbably secured a Manning pass against his helmet for a 32-yard gain on the Giants' game-winning drive in Super Bowl XLII.

Sullivan was the Jacksonville Jaguars' offensive assistant in 2003 after spending the previous season as Jacksonville's defensive quality control coach under Tom Coughlin. He was the only member of Coughlin's coaching staff retained by the Jaguars in 2003.

Sullivan joined the Jaguars after nine years coaching on the collegiate level. He began his career at Humboldt State in 1993. He also coached at Army (1995-96 and 1999-2000), Youngstown State (1997-98) and Ohio University (2001). In 1997, Youngstown State won the Division I-AA national championship under Jim Tressel, who later won a title at Ohio State. At Ohio University, Sullivan coached the defensive backs and tutored the kick blocking units on the special teams.

Sullivan was a defensive back at Army, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1989. He also has a master's degree from Humboldt State. Sullivan is a graduate of the U.S. Army Airborne, Ranger and Air Assault schools.

During his first stint with the Giants, Sullivan earned his Blue Belt in Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu.

Sullivan and his wife, Julie, have two daughters, Carmen Enriqueta and Hope Carolyn. Sullivan was born in Santa Maria, Calif.

TIM WALTON

SECONDARY COACH/CORNERBACKS

Tim Walton is in his first season as the Giants' secondary/cornerbacks coach, his 20th year in coaching and sixth in the NFL. He joined the organization on Jan. 15, 2015.

Walton was most recently the St. Louis Rams' defensive coordinator in 2013. That season, the Rams finished third in the NFL with 53 sacks. They were 15th in the NFL in total defense, allowing 345.0 yards-per-game. St. Louis was ninth in rushing yards allowed per game (102.9) and third in opposing yards-per-carry (3.7). That Rams defense was 13th in the NFL in scoring defense, giving up 22.8 points a game.

Prior to joining the Rams, Walton spent four years with the Detroit Lions where he guided the team's secondary, and, in 2012, added the title of third down package coach. Walton helped Detroit finish 10th in the NFL that season in third down defense as the Lions allowed opponents to convert just 36.5 percent of their third down attempts.

Before his time in Detroit, Walton spent 14 seasons coaching on the collegiate level. During that time, he coached 13 players who were eventually drafted into the NFL, including five first-round selections and four second-round picks.

Walton's college tenure included two stints as a defensive coordinator. He held the position at Memphis in 2008 and at Miami (Fla.) in 2007. In total, he spent four seasons with the Hurricanes.

Walton was promoted from secondary coach to defensive coordinator in 2007 and helped propel the defense to a national ranking of 33rd in total defense. In his first three seasons at Miami, he coached the defensive backs and the Miami secondary ranked in the top 10 nationally in pass defense in 2004 (ninth, when he coached former Giants safety Antrel Rolle) and 2005 (first).

In 2005, Walton's pass defense led the nation, allowing only 152.17 yards per game, and featured All-Americans safety Brandon Meriweather and cornerback Kelly Jennings, as well as freshman All-American Kenny Phillips, who as the Giants' first-round draft choice in 2008.

Walton was at LSU in 2003 and his defensive backs, including former Giants corner Corey Webster, were instrumental in the Tigers winning the 2003 BCS National Championship and a Southeastern Conference title. The LSU defense ranked among the nation's top three in four major defensive statistical categories: total defense (first, 252.0 yards per game), scoring defense (first, 11.0 points a game), pass efficiency defense (second, 89.8 rating) and rushing defense (third, 67.0 yards per game).

In his first stint with Memphis (2000-01), Walton coached the team's defensive backs. In 2000, the Tigers ranked fifth in the nation in total defense (first in rush defense), allowing only 275 yards per game and placed in the top 15 nationally in passing and scoring defense. He left Memphis to coach defensive backs at Syracuse for the 2002 season.

Walton began his coaching career as a defensive graduate assistant at Bowling Green in 1995. He was promoted to running backs coach in 1996 and then moved to coach the defensive backs in 1999.

In addition to his collegiate coaching experience, Walton has had three summer internships with NFL teams. He spent the summer of 1998 serving as a defensive intern with the Chicago Bears, the summer of 2001 as a defensive intern for the Green Bay Packers and in 2004 with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers under current Pittsburgh Steelers Head Coach Mike Tomlin.

As a defensive back at Ohio State, Walton lettered four seasons and served as co-captain for the Big Ten champions in 1993. During his time with the Buckeyes, OSU went to four bowl games, including the Liberty Bowl in 1990. He earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from OSU in 1994.

Walton and his wife, Tracy, have three children, Trei, Timia and Tyler

LUNDA WELLS

ASSISTANT OFFENSIVE LINE

Lunda Wells is in his fourth season on the Giants' coaching staff and his third as the team's assistant offensive line coach. Wells works closely with Pat Flaherty, who has been the offensive line coach since 2004.

In 2011, Wells held the title of offensive assistant coach.

Last season, the line helped the Giants gain an average of 367.2 yards a game, a 59.7 yards-per-game improvement over their 2013 average of 307.5. The Giants totaled 5,875 net yards in 2014, the fourth-highest total in franchise history. With the line providing consistent protection, Eli Manning set franchise records for single-season completions (379) and completion percentage (63.1).

Flaherty and Wells oversaw the development of Weston Richburg, a second-round draft choice who started 15 games at left guard in his rookie season.

In 2013, Flaherty and Wells had to constantly restructure the line because of injuries. The Giants used seven different starting offensive line combinations, the second-highest total in the NFL; Oakland used eight.

One constant was Justin Pugh, the team's 2013 first round draft choice, who started all 16 games at right tackle. Pugh was a) the first Giants rookie to start an entire 16-game season since defensive tackle Barry Cofield in 2006; b) the first offensive lineman to do it since David Diehl 10 years ago; and c) the first Giants' first round draft choice to do so since Hall of Fame linebacker Lawrence Taylor in 1981.

Pugh was just the fourth Giants first-round draft choice to start every game in their rookie season since the 1970 merger. The others were linebacker Jim Files (1970), guard John Hicks (1974) and Taylor (1981).

In 2012, the offensive line allowed an NFL-low 20 sacks and helped the Giants score 429 points, the second-highest total in franchise history.

Before joining the Giants' staff, Wells spent four seasons at Louisiana State University. In 2008-09, he was an offensive line assistant. In addition to his practice and game day duties working with the offensive line, Wells' administrative responsibilities included self-scouting, breaking down tape of opponents and developing scouting reports.

In his final two years at LSU, Wells was an assistant to the head coach and an assistant to special teams coach Thomas McGaughey, who was a member of the Giants' coaching staff from 2007-10. Wells worked with LSU head coach Les Miles on game day responsibilities, practice preparation, administrative tasks and recruiting duties, and with McGaughey on self-scouting, breaking down tape of opponents, assisting with the game plan and scouting reports.

In 2010, Wells was an offensive line intern in the Dallas Cowboys' training camp, where he worked alongside coach Hudson Houck.

Wells was the offensive line coach, run game coordinator and head strength and conditioning coach at Scotlandville High School in Baton Rouge, La. in 2006-07. He coached the offensive line and devised the offensive run game plans.

An offensive lineman, Wells played in the Arena Football League for the Grand Rapids Rampage, South Georgia Rampage and Louisiana Swashbucklers. Wells was a four-year starter at guard at Southern University (2002-05). In 2002 and 2005, he was voted to the All-Southwestern Athletic Conference first team. Southern won the 2003 SWAC championship. Wells blocked for two quarterbacks who were named SWAC Player of the Year. In addition to his conference title ring, Wells earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and, in 2007, a master's degree in criminal justice at Southern.

Wells is a native of Baker, La., just outside Baton Rouge. He was a Class 5A first-team all-state offensive line selection at Baker High School. Wells was recruited by powerhouses like Alabama and Nebraska.

Wells is married to Tiffany. They have two daughters, Adanya Neema and Zalkia Nia.

KEVIN ABRAMS

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Kevin Abrams is in his 14th season as the Giants' assistant general manager. He previously served three years as the team's salary cap analyst.

Abrams is the primary negotiator for player contracts and is responsible for managing the Giants' salary cap and player salary budget, related strategic planning for football operations and coordinating the organization's compliance with the NFL's Collective Bargaining Agreement. Abrams also works with the College and Pro Personnel departments to evaluate players in preparation for the NFL Draft and free agency.

In July of 1999, Abrams was hired to fill the newly-created position of Salary Cap Analyst. He came to the Giants from the NFL Management Council, where he helped to monitor the league-wide salary cap and analyzed all new player contracts with respect to the rules and regulations of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. Prior to working at the Management Council, Abrams completed internships and graduate assistant work in Player Personnel, Recruiting, Public Relations and Corporate Relations with the Washington Redskins, the Ohio University football program, the Buffalo Bills and the London Monarchs.

Abrams was raised in Toronto, Canada. He completed his undergraduate degree at the University of Western Ontario, and earned his master's degree in sports administration from Ohio University where he is currently a member of the Sports Administration Advisory Board.

MARC ROSS

VICE PRESIDENT, PLAYER EVALUATION

Marc Ross is in his third season as the Giants' Vice President of Player Evaluation after serving the previous six years as the team's Director of College Scouting. Ross is in charge of the Giants' college scouting department and the team's draft. He joined the organization on May 18, 2007 and ran his first organizational draft the next year.

Ross also works on special projects with Director of Pro Personnel Ken Sternfeld.

Since Ross came aboard, the Giants have found important contributors both early and late in the draft. In 2013, their first-round draft choice was wide receiver Odell Beckham Jr., who became the first Giants player selected the Associated Press' Offensive Rookie of the Year in the 58-year history of the award. In just 12 games, Beckham caught 91 passes for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns, all franchise rookie records. He was the first wide receiver in NFL history to reach 1,000 yards after missing the season's first three games - and he sat out the first four with a hamstring injury. That draft also delivered center Weston Richburg, running back Andre Williams and linebacker Devon Kennard, all of whom made major contributions in their rookie season.

In previous drafts run by Ross, the Giants selected Terrell Thomas, Hakeem Nicks, Will Beatty, Jason Pierre-Paul, Linval Joseph, Prince Amukamara, Rueben Randle, Johnathan Hankins, Damontre Moore, and Justin Pugh, the 2013 first-round draft choice who started all 30 games in which he played in his first two seasons.

Ross came to the Giants from the Buffalo Bills, for whom he spent three seasons as a national college scout.

Ross' first NFL job was as a public relations training camp intern with the Giants in 1995. After leaving camp, Ross worked in Columbia University's athletics department.

Ross returned to the NFL with the Eagles' personnel department during the club's 1996 training camp. He was the team's eastern regional scout from 1997 until 2000, when, at age 27, he became the NFL's youngest college scouting director.

After seven years with the Eagles' organization, Ross joined the Bills in the spring of 2004 as a national college scout.

Ross was an All-Ivy League wide receiver at Princeton in 1993 and 1994. He holds five school records, including one as a receiver (a 20.2-yard average per catch in 1993) and four as a punt returner (most career returns, 74; most career return yards, 696; most returns in a season, 32 in 1994 and most yards in a game, 161 on six returns vs. Cornell in 1994).

Ross earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology from Princeton and a master's degree in sport management from the University of Massachusetts in 1997.

Ross was a three-sport star at Archmere Academy in Delaware. Last year, he was inducted into the school's Sports Hall of Fame.

A native of Sharon Hill, Pa., Ross and his wife, Pualani, have a daughter, Skylar, who was born in 2006.

MATT HARRISS

DIRECTOR, FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Matt Harriss is in his 10th season with the Giants' football operations department. He joined the organization just prior to the 2006 NFL Draft. In his first year with the Giants, Harriss assisted former general manager Ernie Accorsi, who was then in his final season with the team. He has since worked with assistant general manager Kevin Abrams on all aspects of the salary cap, CBA compliance and player contract negotiations.

Prior to joining the Giants, Harriss spent five seasons in the NFL League Office. He began as an intern in the Football Operations department in September 2001, and by December he became a player personnel analyst for the Management Council. His responsibilities included salary cap and free agency management, annual NFL draft eligibility, as well as being versed on all personnel rules in order to assist the 32 NFL teams. During his last three seasons in the league office, Harriss also worked with the officiating department as an instant replay booth communicator during games.

Harriss graduated from Lafayette College in 2001 with a degree in history. A native of Bronxville, N.Y., he now resides in Hoboken, N.J. with his wife, Melissa.

Beatty's streak of 46 consecutive starts was the 3rd-longest among Giants players at the end of the 2014 season, trailing only Eli Manning (167) and Antrel Rolle (80)... Started the season opener vs. Dallas (9/5) as an extra lineman/tight end eligible, his 1st game action since undergoing surgery for a detached retina the previous November... Did not start the following week vs. Tampa Bay (9/16), but saw extensive action at left tackle after David Diehl injured his knee and Sean Locklear was moved to right tackle. Beatty was targeted on a play action pass as an eligible receiver in the first quarter... Was part of the offensive line unit that helped gain 604 total net yards and didn't allow a sack of Eli Manning... Started every remaining game at left tackle.

(11/20)... Underwent surgery and was placed on injured reserve... Was replaced at left tackle by Diehl, who moved over from left guard... Beatty was a member of the line that helped the Giants offense set franchise records with 6,161 total yards and 4,734 net passing yards. With the line providing excellent protection for Eli Manning, the 2011 Giants established team records for completions with 359, had at least 200 passing yards in every game for the 1st time in their history and finished 5th in the NFL in passing yards, their highest ranking since they finished 5th in 1984.

Made 1st NFL start vs. Arizona for McKenzie (groin injury). He was the 1st rookie offensive lineman to start for the Giants since Chris Snee on Nov. 29, 2004... Replaced McKenzie (knee) in the 2nd quarter vs. Philadelphia (12/13) and helped the Giants gain 512 yards of total offense... Started the final 3 games in place of McKenzie.

NEW YORK FOOTBALL GIANTS

TRANSACTIONS:

- Originally a 1st round (12th pick overall) draft choice by the Giants in 2014.

GIANTS NOTES:

- Beckham had the greatest season by a rookie wide receiver in NFL history, despite playing in only 12 games. His season totals of 91 catches for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns, all franchise rookie records.

- Beckham was named the Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year, the 1st Giants player to be so honored in the 58-year history of the award. He was the franchise's 1st Rookie of the Year since Pro Football Hall of Fame linebacker Lawrence Taylor won the defensive award in 1981. Beckham was the 1st wide receiver to be named Offensive Rookie of the Year since 2009, when Percy Harvin, then with Minnesota, won the award.

- Beckham was named the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month in both November and December.

- Rookies Andre Williams and Beckham led the Giants in rushing and receiving yards, respectively. It was the 1st time rookies led the Giants in rushing and receiving yards in a full season since 1950, when Eddie Rice ran for 703 yards and Bob McChesney had 380 receiving yards. The last NFL team with rookies leading in both rushing and receiving yards was the 2012 Cleveland Browns. Trent Richardson rushed for 950 yards and Josh Gordon had 805 receiving yards.

- Beckham was the Giants' lone representative in the Pro Bowl following the 2014 season. He was the first Giants rookie to play in the Pro Bowl since tight end Jeremy Shockey in 2002. Beckham was the team's first wide receiver in the game since Victor Cruz in 2012. Beckham was the first Giants rookie wide receiver ever selected to the Pro Bowl. He caught 5 passes for 89 yards in the game.

- Beckham provided the NFL season's most spectacular moment with his now-famous leaping 1-handed touchdown catch against Dallas on Nov. 23, which made him a national sensation. The incredible catch was selected as the Bridgestone Performance Play of the Year from 20 moments voted on by NFL fans.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Beckham had a spectacular rookie season, despite missing the first 4 games with a hamstring injury. He finished with 91 receptions for 1,305 yards and 12 touchdowns, all franchise rookie records. Beckham was the 1st wide receiver in NFL history to reach 1,000 yards after missing the season's first 3 games (he missed the first 4).

- Beckham also led the team with 21 punt returns for 171 yards (8.1-yard avg.), with a long return of 25 yards and 11 fair catches. Had 7 rushing attempts for 35 yards, with a long run of 13 yards.

- Beckham set NFL records for most catches and yards in the first 12 games to start a career.

- Beckham's 91 catches were the 2nd-highest total in franchise history, topped only by Steve Smith's 107 receptions in 2009.

- Beckham's 91 receptions led all NFL rookies in 2014. Miami's Jarvis Landry, Beckham's former LSU teammate, was 2nd with 84 catches.

- Beckham and Landry were the 1st rookies from the same college to lead their team in receptions in the same season since the 1970 merger.

- Beckham's 91 receptions were tied with Denver's Eddie Royal (2008) for the 2nd-highest total in NFL history for a rookie; Arizona's Anquan Boldin caught 101 passes in 2003.

- Beckham's 1,305 yards were the 3rd-highest total in Giants history, surpassed only by Victor Cruz's 1,536 yards in 2011 and Amani Toomer's 1,343 yards in 2002.

- The 1,305 yards topped all NFL rookies in 2014 and were 254 yards more than runner-up Mike Evans of Tampa Bay. Beckham played 3 fewer games than Evans.

- Beckham's 1,305 receiving yards surpassed Billy Howton (1,231 with Green Bay in 1952) for the most receiving yards in a player's first 12 career games in NFL history.

- Beckham joined Pro Football Hall of Famer Michael Irvin as the only players in NFL history with at least 90 receiving yards in 9 consecutive games. Irvin accomplished the feat in 1995.

- Beckham led all players in receiving yards in each of his last 6 games, the longest streak ever by an NFL rookie. The previous record was 4 straight games by San Diego's John Jefferson in 1978.

- In the Giants' last 4 games, Beckham totaled 130, 143, 148 and 185 yards to become the 1st player in franchise history with 4 consecutive 100-yard games. Beckham was the 1st NFL rookie to accomplish the feat since Pittsburgh's Jimmy Orr in 1958. The 4-game streak was not the NFL's longest in 2014; Denver's Demaryius Thomas had 7 consecutive 100-yard games from Oct. 5-Nov. 16.

- Beckham totaled seven 100-yard games, the most by a rookie since Houston's Bill Groman had 9 in 1960. The previous record for 100-yard games by a Giants rookie was 3, by Byron Williams in 1983.

- Beckham averaged 108.8 yards a game, topping Cruz's previous Giants record of 96.0 yards, set in 2011. Beckham's 108.8-yard average is also an NFL rookie record, topping the old mark of 105.2 set by Groman in 1960.

- Beckham was just the 4th player in franchise history with at least 12 touchdown receptions in a season. Homer Jones set the record with 13 in 1967. Plaxico Burress (2007) and Del Shofner (1962) also had 12.

- Beckham and Evans each had 12 touchdown catches, the highest total by an NFL rookie since Minnesota's Randy Moss had 17 in 1998.

- Beckham's 12 touchdown catches were a Giants rookie record and he tied the franchise total rookie touchdown mark set in 1943 by Bill Paschal (10 rushing, 2 receiving).

- Beckham scored 2 or more touchdowns in 4 games, the most multiple-touchdown games by a Giants player since Brandon Jacobs had 5 in 2008.

- Beckham scored 7 touchdowns in the season's final 4 games, the highest 4-game total by a Giants player since Joe Morris scored 10 from Dec. 1-21, 1985.

- In November, Beckham set Giants records for receptions (31) and receiving yards (503) in one calendar month. He then broke both records in a nearly unprecedented December, when he caught 43 passes for 606 yards. Only 2 other players in NFL history gained at least 600 receiving yards in December of 1 season, and all of them did it in the previous 3 years: Detroit's Calvin Johnson in 2012 (707) and Cleveland's Josh Gordon in 2013 (658).

- Beckham also set an NFL record for receiving yards by a rookie in one calendar month, December or otherwise. The previous mark was 596 yards by Groman, which had stood since November 1960. After Groman held the record for 54 years, Beckham fell 3 yards short of tying the mark in November before breaking it in December. The only other players to post back-to-back months of 500 or more receiving yards in one season were Calvin Johnson and Andre Johnson (both in 2012).

- Beckham had the league's highest receiving yardage totals in Week 15 (143 vs. Washington) and Week 16 (148 at St. Louis). The only other NFL rookie to lead the league in consecutive weeks was Philadelphia's Joe Don Looney, who had a streak of 3 consecutive weeks in September 1940. Beckham ranked 2nd in receiving yards in Week 17 with a Giants rookie-record 185 vs. Philadelphia. The Jets' Eric Decker had 221 yards on 10 receptions.

- Beckham had at least 10 catches in a game 4 times, the 1st rookie in NFL history to do that. Pittsburgh's Antonio Brown also had four 10-catch games in 2014. Only 5 players have had 10 or more receptions in 2 games during their rookie seasons, and two of them are Giants. In addition to Beckham, they are LaDainian Tomlinson (2001), Giants tight end Jeremy Shockey (2002), Anquan Boldin (2003) and Marques Colston (2006).

- Beckham had 4 games in which he caught at least 10 passes and gained at least 130 yards. No other rookie in NFL history has even 2 such games.

- Beckham was the 1st rookie in NFL history with at least 130 receiving yards and a touchdown catch in each of 4 consecutive games.

- In the Giants' final 2 games — at St. Louis and vs. Philadelphia — Beckham had touchdown receptions of 80 and 63 yards. He was the 1st Giants player to have a touchdown catch of at least 63 yards in consecutive games since Cruz on Dec. 24, 2011 and Jan. 1, 2012. Beckham was the 1st NFL rookie with such long touchdown catches in back-to-back games since Cincinnati's Isaac Curtis on Dec. 9 and 16, 1973 (70 and 77 yards). Since 1973, rookie receivers Jerry Butler (1979) and Eddie Kennison (1996) had 2 long touchdowns in 1 game, but not back-to-back contests.

- Beckham's 1,043 receiving yards over the final 8 games were the 4th-most ever in the 2nd half of a season. The top 3 are Calvin Johnson 1,197 (2012), Jerry Rice 1,083 (1995) and Josh Gordon 1,064 (2013).

- Beckham was named the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month in both November and December. He was the 1st Giants player to win the award twice and just the 2nd wide receiver to be so honored; Arizona's Boldin was twice named Offensive Rookie of the Month in 2003. But Beckham was the 1st wide receiver to be honored in consecutive months.

- The Offensive Rookie of the Month Award was won by a wide receiver in all 4 months of the 2014 season. Carolina's Kevin Benjamin (September) and Buffalo's Calvin Watkins (October) were the other winners.

- After missing the first 4 games with a hamstring injury, Beckham made his NFL debut in MetLife Stadium vs. Atlanta (10/5). He tied fellow LSU alum Rueben Randle with a team-high 4 receptions, for 44 yards, including the go-ahead 15-yard touchdown with 10:02 remaining. Beckham was the last of the NFL's 32 first-round draft choices to play in a game in 2014.

- Beckham was the 1st player since Don Herrmann on Sept. 21, 1969 to score a game-winning, 4th-quarter touchdown for the Giants in his NFL debut. Herrmann caught a 10-yard pass with 59 seconds remaining to defeat Minnesota in Yankee Stadium, 24-23.

- In addition to Beckham's touchdown, rookie running back Andre Williams scored on a 3-yard run. They were the 1st Giants rookies to score touchdowns by receiving and rushing, respectively, in the same game since George Adams and Mark Bavaro did it twice in 1985: Oct. 20, 1985: Adams scored on a 2-yard run, Bavaro on a 29-yard reception in 17-3 win over Washington; Nov. 24, 1985: Adams scored on a 37-yard run, Bavaro on a 12-yard reception in 34-3 win over the Cardinals in St. Louis.

- Beckham started for the first time at Dallas (10/19) and had 4 receptions for 34 yards, including touchdowns of 9 and 5 yards. He was the 1st Giants player to score exactly 2 touchdowns in a game since Brandon Jacobs rushed for 2 scores at Chicago on Oct. 10, 2013. Randle had been the last Giant to catch 2 touchdown passes in a game, on Oct. 6, 2013 vs. Philadelphia. Tight end Larry Donnell had 3 touchdown receptions at Washington (9/25).

- Beckham was the 1st Giants rookie with at least 3 receiving touchdowns through his first 3 games since Bobby Johnson in 1984.

- In Dallas, Beckham's 1st career rushing attempt gained 13 yards on the opening play of the 2nd quarter. He also returned 2 punts for 21 yards.

- Beckham caught 8 passes for 156 yards vs. Indianapolis (11/3), his 1st career 100-yard game. That total included a 59-yard catch.

- At Seattle (11/9), Beckham caught 7 passes for 108 yards, his 2nd consecutive 100-yard game.

- Against San Francisco (11/16), Beckham finished 7 yards shy of his 3rd consecutive 100-yard game, catching 6 passes for 93 yards, including a 37-yarder that gave the Giants a 1st down at the San Francisco 4-yard line late in the 4th quarter.

- Beckham had 10 receptions for 146 yards and 2 touchdowns vs. Dallas (11/23). He was the first Giants player to score 2 touchdowns in a game since Beckham, at Dallas on Oct. 19, when he caught scoring passes of 9 and 5 yards.

- Beckham closed the month with 7 catches for 90 yards at Jacksonville (11/30).

- Beckham led the NFL with 593 receiving yards in November. He had 38 catches in the month, the 2nd-most in the league behind Denver's Demaryius Thomas' 41, and the most by a rookie.

- Beckham had at least 90 receiving yards in every game during November and was the 1st rookie in NFL history with at least 90 receiving yards in 5 games in a calendar month.

- Beckham had three 100-yard games in November and averaged an NFL-best 118.6 yards per game.

- His 38 catches and 593 receiving yards were both the most ever by a Giant in a calendar month – until he broke both marks in December.

- Beckham had at least 6 catches in every November game and Beckham and Thomas were the only 2 players in the NFL to have at least 6 receptions in 5 games during the month.

- Beckham joined Hakeem Nicks (October 2009) as the only wide receivers in franchise history to be named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month.

- Beckham had 11 catches for 130 yards at Tennessee (12/7) where he became the 2nd rookie in NFL history with at least 700 receiving yards in a 6-game span (he had 723). The other was the Groman in 1960.

- Against the Titans, Beckham threw a long pass to Randle on the Giants' 1st offensive series, but the receiver was double covered and it fell incomplete. It was the 1st pass thrown by a Giants wide receiver since Sept. 21, 1998, when Amani Toomer threw 1 at St. Louis. It was also incomplete.

- Beckham's 11 catches at Tennessee increased his 6-game total to 49 receptions, the highest total in a 6-game span by a rookie in NFL history. Beckham shattered the previous record of 42, set by Odell Beckham Jr., in the 6 games prior to the victory over the Titans.

- Beckham was both the 1st Giants player ever and the 1st rookie in NFL history with 6 consecutive games with 90 or more receiving yards.

- In addition to his 11 receptions vs. the Titans, Beckham had a 9-yard run and threw a pass. He was the 1st Giants player to catch, run and throw in the same game since Dec. 24, 2005, when Tiki Barber rushed for 80 yards, caught 6 passes and, like Beckham, threw an incomplete pass.

- In that game, Beckham didn't just catch, run and throw. He also returned 4 punts for 49 yards. The last Giant to do all 4 in a game was David Meggett on Nov. 21, 1994. The coincidence is that was the last game before Dec. 7 in which the Giants defeated the Oilers/Titans franchise. It was also the last time the Giants played a game with a 7-game losing streak against a team with a 6-game losing streak. To end both the 7-game and 20-year streaks, they needed a multi-dimensional performer. In the 13-10 victory in the Astrodome, Meggett rushed for 17 yards, caught 1 pass, threw an incomplection and returned

2 punts. He had 45 all-purpose yards. Beckham had 188.

- In Tennessee, Andre Williams rushed for 131 yards while Beckham had 130 receiving yards. It was the 1st time in Giants history the team had rookies with 100 rushing yards and 100 receiving yards in the same game. The Giants were the 1st team in NFL history to have rookies with at least 130 rushing and receiving yards in the same game.

- Against Washington (12/14), Beckham caught 12 passes for 143 yards and scored all 3 of the Giants' touchdowns. The 12 receptions were the most ever by a Giants rookie wide receiver (he tied that mark 2 weeks later). Beckham had set the record the previous week with 11 receptions at Tennessee. The 12 receptions tied the record for all Giants rookies set by tight end Mark Bavaro at Cincinnati on Oct. 13, 1985.

- Beckham became both the 1st Giant and the 1st NFL rookie with at least 12 catches, 140 receiving yards and 3 touchdown catches in a game. The last NFL player to match and/or exceed those numbers had been Kansas City's Dwayne Bowe, who had 13 catches, 170 yards and 3 scores in a victory at Seattle on Nov. 28, 2010.

- While Beckham had 12 receptions vs. Washington, the other 7 Giants to catch passes totaled 11 receptions.

- Beckham's 12 receptions tied the highest total by a wide receiver in franchise history and was the 6th time a Giants player caught at least 12 passes in a game. Hakeem Nicks had been the last to accomplish the feat, with 12 receptions at Houston on Oct. 10, 2010. Toomer was the only other Giants wideout with 12 catches in a game (Sept. 17, 2006 in an overtime victory in Philadelphia). Bavaro and tight end Jeremy Shockey were the others. Running back Tiki Barber owns the team record with 13 catches at Dallas on Jan. 2, 2000.

- Beckham increased his season receiving yardage total to 972, a Giants rookie record. The old mark of 894 was set by Shockey in 2002. Beckham broke the record in 10 games; Shockey played in 15 games in his debut season.

- Beckham was the 1st rookie in Giants history to catch 3 touchdown passes in a game. The last Giants rookie to score 3 times in a game had been David Wilson, who rushed for 2 touchdowns and returned a kickoff for another against New Orleans on Dec. 9, 2012.

- Beckham became the 1st rookie with three touchdown catches in a game since Detroit tight end Joseph Fauria had 3 at Cleveland on Oct. 13, 2013.

- Beckham had 23 combined receptions vs. Tennessee and Washington, the highest 2-game total in Giants history. The previous record belonged to Barber, who had 21 catches (8 vs. Minnesota on Dec. 26, 1999 and a team-record 13 at Dallas on Jan. 2, 2000).

- In a 37-27 victory at St. Louis (12/21), Beckham had 8 catches for 148 yards and 2 touchdowns, including an 80-yarder, while Rueben Randle added 6 receptions for a career-high 132 yards and a touchdown. It was the 1st time the Giants had multiple 100-yard receivers since Sept. 8, 2013, when they had a franchise-record 3 at Dallas (Victor Cruz, 119; Hakeem Nicks, 114; and Randle, 101).

- Beckham's 8 receptions increased his season total to 79, the most in NFL history for a player in his first 11 career games.

- Beckham's 79 receptions were a Giants rookie record. He broke the former mark held by Shockey, who caught 74 passes in 2002.

- Beckham was the 11th different Giants player with at least 1,000 receiving yards in a season. Those 11 players have accomplished the feat a total of 22 times.
- Beckham's 2 touchdowns in St. Louis increased his season total to 11, which broke Bill Swiacki's Giants rookie record for scoring receptions, which had stood since 1948 (when Swiacki caught 10).
- Beckham's 80-yard touchdown reception in the 3rd quarter was the Giants' longest play from scrimmage since Sept. 16, 2012, when Manning and Cruz hooked up for an 80-yard touchdown pass.
- Beckham's 80-yard score was the longest-ever reception by a Giants rookie. The previous long was a 78-yarder by Harry Newman in 1933.
- Beckham and running back Andre Williams (110 rushing yards) each exceeded 100 yards in the same game for the 2nd time. Before 2014, Giants rookies had not had 100 rushing and 100 receiving yards in the same game even once.
- In St. Louis, Beckham had 148 receiving yards and Randle, his former LSU teammate, added 132. It was the first time 2 players from the same team and the same college each had at least 100 receiving yards in same game since Sept. 23, 2007, when Oregon State's and the Cincinnati Bengals' T.J. Houshmandzadeh (141) and Chad Johnson (138) did it.
- Beckham concluded his extraordinary rookie season with 12 catches for 185 yards and a touchdown vs. Philadelphia (12/28). It was his second 12-catch game of the season. Beckham was the 1st rookie in NFL history and the 1st Giants player with two 12-catch games in a season.
- Beckham was also the 1st NFL rookie with 4 consecutive games with at least 130 receiving yards and a touchdown. He was the 1st rookie with three.
- Beckham's 185 yards established a Giants rookie record. The former record of 176 was set by tight end Mark Bavaro at Cincinnati on Oct. 13, 1985. The team rookie wide receiver record had been 169 yards, set by Earnest Gray vs. San Francisco on Oct. 14, 1979.
- Beckham and Randle each exceeded 100 yards in the final 2 games, the 1st time the Giants had two 100-yard receivers in back-to-back games since Oct. 6 (Lionel Manuel/Bobby Johnson) and Oct. 13 (Manuel/Bavaro), 1985.
- Beckham was named the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Month in December, the 2nd month in a row he received the award. He was the 1st Giants player to win the award twice and just the 2nd wide receiver to be so honored; Arizona's Anquan Boldin was twice named Offensive Rookie of the Month in 2003. But Beckham was the 1st wide receiver to be honored in consecutive months.
- Beckham led the NFL in receptions (43), receiving yards (606) and touchdown catches (7) in December.
- His 606 receiving yards were the most by a rookie in any calendar month in NFL history.
- Beckham was the 3rd player – and only rookie – to gain at least 600 receiving yards in a single December, joining Calvin Johnson (707 in 2012) and Josh Gordon (658 in 2013). Both Johnson and Gordon played in 5 December games while Beckham played in 4.
- Beckham had at least 8 catches, 130 yards and a touchdown in all 4 December games.
- In each of his last 6 games, Beckham led all players in receiving yards. That is the longest such streak by a rookie in NFL history.

- Beckham led the NFL with 593 receiving yards in November and joined Calvin Johnson (2012) and Andre Johnson (2012) as the only players in NFL history with back-to-back months with at least 500 receiving yards. Beckham is the only rookie to accomplish the feat.
- Beckham (91) and Randle (71) became the first Giants duo to record at least 70 receptions each since 2011 (Cruz 82 and Hakeem Nicks, 76).

- Cruz caught 8 passes for 121 yards and a touchdown vs. New Orleans (12/9). It was his 12th career 100-yard game, which tied him with Kyle Rote and Earnest Gray for 4th place on the Giants' career list.
- Cruz had 7 receptions for 131 yards and put the Giants ahead for good with a 77-yard touchdown catch from Manning with 1:13 remaining vs. Washington (10/21), the longest game-winning touchdown in the final 2 minutes of a game in franchise history.
- Caught 5 passes for 50 yards and 3 touchdowns vs. Cleveland (10/7). He was the 1st Giant to catch 3 touchdowns in a game since Ahmad Bradshaw had three 1-yard scoring runs vs. Buffalo on Oct. 16, 2011 and the 1st to catch 3 touchdown passes since Hakeem Nicks vs. Carolina on Sept. 10, 2010.
- Had 9 receptions for 109 yards, including a 14-yard touchdown, at Philadelphia (9/30).
- On Sept. 16 vs. Tampa Bay, Cruz caught a career-high 11 passes for 179 yards and Nicks added 10 receptions for 199 yards. The Giants were the 1st team in NFL history with 2 players with at least 10 catches and at least 175 receiving yards in the same game...It was the 2nd time in their history the Giants had 2 receivers with at least 10 catches in the same game. On Sept. 20, 2009 at Dallas, Mario Manningham had 10 receptions for 150 yards and a touchdown and Smith had 10 catches for 134 yards and a score...Cruz's 11 receptions included an 80-yard touchdown...Manning threw for 510 yards against the Buccaneers. Manning, Cruz and Nicks joined three Hall of Famers — quarterback Norm Van Brocklin and receivers Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch and Tom Fears of the 1951 Los Angeles Rams — as the only teammates in history with 500 passing yards, plus 2 receivers with at least 150 yards, in the same game.
- Cruz was selected to his 1st Pro Bowl, where he set the single-game record with 10 receptions. He was only the 2nd Giants wide receiver to be elected to the Pro Bowl since Homer Jones in 1968; Smith was chosen in 2009 after he caught a franchise-record 107 passes.
- In 2011, Cruz enjoyed a breakout season in leading the Giants in all major receiving statistical categories, set franchise records and scored the team's 1 touchdown in the 21-17 victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI.
- That season, Cruz played in all 16 regular-season games with 7 starts and started all 4 postseason games... He led the Giants with 82 receptions for 1,536 yards and 9 touchdowns. In the postseason, Cruz had 21 catches for 269 yards and 1 touchdown.
- Cruz's 1,536 yards were a Giants record, breaking

Toomer's former mark by 193 yards (Toomer had 1,343 yards in 2002). The yardage total left Cruz 3rd in the NFL, behind only Detroit's Calvin Johnson and New England's Wes Welker and directly in front of Arizona's Larry Fitzgerald. Johnson was the 2nd overall selection of the 2007 NFL Draft and Fitzgerald was picked 3rd in 2004. Welker and Cruz entered the NFL as undrafted free agents...Cruz was the 1st Giants player to finish in the top 3 in the NFL in receiving yards since Toomer in 2002.

- Cruz was the 11th player (and 10th wide receiver) in Giants history with 1,000 receiving yards in a season... He joined with Hakeem Nicks (1,192) to give the Giants two 1,000-yard receivers in the same season for the 1st time in team history.
- Cruz's 18.7-yard average was the highest among the 72 NFL players who had at least 50 catches in 2011 and was the highest by a Giant with at least 50 receptions since Del Shofner averaged 21.4 yards on 53 catches in 1962. No NFL receiver had averaged at least 18.7 yards on at least 82 catches since St. Louis' Torrey Holt in 2000 (19.9-yard average on 82 receptions).
- In the Giants' NFC East-clinching victory over Dallas (1/1/12), Cruz caught 6 passes for 178 yards, a 29.7-yard average that was the highest in a game by a Giant with at least 6 receptions since Toomer averaged 30.2 yards (6 catches for 181 yards) in a victory over the Jets on Dec. 5, 1999...The 178 yards was the highest total by a Giant since Plaxico Burress had 205 in a victory over St. Louis on Oct. 2, 2005.
- Cruz had seven 100-yard games in 2011, breaking the former franchise record of 5, set by Shofner in 1963 and tied by Jones in 1968.
- Cruz had 4 touchdown receptions of more than 70 yards in 2011, the 1st player to do that since Otis Taylor of the then AFL Kansas City Chiefs in 1966. No Giants receiver had accomplished the feat since Jones in 1965.
- Cruz also had a 68-yard touchdown reception. His 5 touchdown catches of at least 65 yards were the 2nd-most in a season in NFL history. The record of 6 was set by Hall of Famer Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch in 1951.
- From Nov. 20 to Dec. 4, Cruz had 128 receiving yards vs. Philadelphia, 157 at New Orleans and 119 vs. Green Bay to become the 4th Giants receiver in history with 3 consecutive 110+ yard games, joining Shofner (1963), Jones (1968) and Manningham (2010).
- Cruz had 4 receptions for 25 yards in the Giants' victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI (2/5)... Scored the game's 1st touchdown on a 2-yard pass from Manning with 3:23 left in the 1st quarter.
- Caught 10 passes for 142 yards (including 8 for 125 yards in the 1st half) in the NFC Championship Game at San Francisco (1/22). The 10 receptions tied Cruz with Ike Hilliard for the 2nd-highest total by a Giant in a postseason game. The record of 11 was set by Burress in the 2007 NFC Championship Game in Green Bay. The 10 catches tie Cruz with 3 other players, including Hilliard, for the 3rd-highest total ever in a championship game... Cruz's 142 yards was the 5th-highest postseason total in Giants history and was 9 yards behind Burress' 151 in Green Bay, which is 4th.
- Had his first 2 career catches (for 17 yards) vs. St. Louis (9/19)...Caught 3 passes for 110 yards and his first 2 NFL touchdowns (for 74 and 28 yards) at Philadelphia (9/25)...Finished with 8 receptions for 161 yards, including a 68-yard touchdown on a pass that he juggled and then secured, vs. Seattle (10/9)...Had 6 receptions for 84 yards and returned 3 punts for 12 yards at San Francisco (11/13)...Caught 6 passes for 128 yards, including a 24-yarder for the Giants' only touchdown, vs. Philadelphia (11/20). Also lined up as the punt returner and had 2 fair catches.

- Had a career regular-season-high 9 catches for 157 yard, including touchdowns of 72 and 4 yards, at New Orleans (11/28)...Cruz had his 3rd consecutive 100-yard game when he caught 7 passes for 119 yards vs. Green Bay (12/11).

- Contributed 3 receptions for 164 yards at Jets (12/24). Turned a short pass from Manning into a 99-yard touchdown in the 2nd quarter. It was the longest play from scrimmage in Giants history, eclipsing a 98-yard pass from Earl Morrall to Jones at Pittsburgh on Sept. 11, 1966. It was the 4th pass of at least 90 yards in Giants history.

- Finished the regular season with 6 catches for a career-high 178 yards including a 74-yard touchdown, vs. Dallas (1/1).

- In 2010, played in 3 regular season games with majority of his action coming on special teams...Also played as the 4th wide receiver vs. Chicago (10/3)...Placed on injured reserve with a hamstring injury on Oct. 16...In the preseason, Cruz had team-high totals of 15 receptions for 297 yards and 4 touchdowns...Scored touchdowns on receptions of 64, 34 and 5 yards while catching 6 passes for 145 yards in a preseason victory over the Jets (8/16)... Kennard and JPP are the only Giants rookies to have at least 2.0 sacks in back-to-back games...The last Giants linebacker to accomplish the feat had been Armstead on Oct. 3-10, 1999. Kennard was the 1st Giants rookie linebacker with at least 2 sacks in consecutive games and the first NFL rookie linebacker to do it since San Francisco's Aldon Smith in 2011.

- Kennard, Pierre-Paul and Damontre Moore each had 2.0 sacks on Sunday against the Titans. It was the 1st time the Giants had 3 different players with at least 2.0 sacks since Sept. 30, 2007, when Osi Umenyiora (team-record 6.0), Kiwanuka (3.0) and Tuck (2.0) did it. That night, the Giants set a franchise record with 12.0 sacks, all on beleaguered Donovan McNabb.

NEW YORK FOOTBALL GIANTS

TRANSACTIONS:

- Originally a 1st round (1st pick overall) draft choice by the San Diego Chargers in 2004. Obtained by the Giants in a trade for quarterback Philip Rivers (whom the Giants had taken with the 4th pick), the Giants' 2004 3rd-round pick, and 2005 1st and 5th-round selections.

GIANTS NOTES:

- Followed his father, Archie, and brother, Peyton, into the NFL... Archie was the 2nd pick of the 1971 draft and played 14 years with New Orleans, Houston and Minnesota. Peyton was the 1st choice of the 1998 draft by the Indianapolis Colts, is a 5-time NFL Most Valuable Player and was the winning quarterback in Super Bowl XLI. Peyton Manning is in his 4th season with the Denver Broncos, whom he led to Super Bowl XLVIII in MetLife Stadium in 2013.

- Manning's arrival marked the 1st time the Giants came out of a draft with the top player selected since 1965, when they chose Auburn running back Tucker Fredrickson.

- Manning won the Rozelle Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in Super Bowls XLII and XLVI. He is 1 of 5 players in NFL history to win multiple Super Bowl MVP awards (Joe Montana and Tom Brady, 3; Terry Bradshaw and Bart Starr, 2 apiece).

- Manning is the only Giants player to win the Rozelle Trophy multiple times. Previous Giants Super Bowl MVPs include quarterback Phil Simms (Super Bowl XXI) and running back Ottis Anderson (Super Bowl XXV).

- Manning hit 9 different targets while completing 30 of 40 passes for 296 yards, a touchdown and no interceptions (a passer rating of 103.8) in the Giants' 21-17 victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI on Feb. 5, 2012. It was the 25th time in Super Bowl history a quarterback has won the MVP award (18 different quarterbacks; Baltimore's Joe Flacco became the 19th in Super Bowl XLVII).

- In Super Bowl XLII, Manning was named MVP after completing 19 of 34 passes for 255 yards, 2 touchdowns and an interception that caromed off Steve Smith's hands. It was the 2nd year in a row a Manning won the award; his brother received the honor after Super Bowl XLI the previous season.

- Manning is 1 of 31 different starting quarterbacks to win a Super Bowl and 1 of 2 Mannings. Peyton led the Indianapolis Colts to the title in 2006. The Mannings were the 18th set of brothers to play in the Super Bowl and the 1st pair of brothers to play quarterback.

- Manning is 1 of 20 quarterbacks to win a Super Bowl without losing 1.

- Manning is 1 of 11 quarterbacks to win at least 2 Super Bowls.

- Manning is 1 of 7 quarterbacks taken with the 1st overall selection in the NFL Draft to start a Super Bowl. The others are Terry Bradshaw (4-0 in Super Bowls), Jim Plunkett (2-0), John Elway (2-3), Troy Aikman (3-0), Drew Bledsoe (0-1), and Peyton Manning (1-1). The former No. 1 choices are 14-5 in Super Bowls.

- Manning and Brady were the starting quarterbacks in Super Bowl XLVI, as they were in Super Bowl XLII. It was the 3rd starting quarterback rematch in Super Bowl history and each resulted in a sweep. Terry Bradshaw and Pittsburgh defeated Roger Staubach and Dallas in Super Bowls X and XIII, and Troy Aikman and Dallas beat Jim Kelly and Buffalo in Super Bowls XXVII and XXVIII.

- Super Bowl XLVI was the 1st Super Bowl in which both starting quarterbacks had won a Super Bowl MVP award.

- Manning was the 1st quarterback to start 2 Super Bowls for the Giants. In their first 4 Super Bowls, 4 different quarterbacks started for the Giants. The others were Phil Simms, Jeff Hostetler and Kerry Collins. The Giants were the 1st team to start a different quarterback in each of their first 4 Super Bowls. Only 2 other teams have started 4 different quarterbacks in a Super Bowl, though not in the franchise's first 4 games. The Raiders have started Daryle Lamonia, Ken Stabler, Jim Plunkett and Rich Gannon. Washington's four Super Bowl quarterbacks were Billy Kilmer, Joe Theismann, Doug Williams and Mark Rypien.

- Manning is the only quarterback to wear No. 10 and win a Super Bowl. The only other starting quarterback to wear No. 10 in a Super Bowl was Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton in Super Bowls VIII, IX and XI.

- Manning has 5 game-winning, 4th-quarter drives in the playoffs. He is 1 of 4 quarterbacks since the 1970 merger to accomplish that feat, joining Tom Brady (8), John Elway (6) and Joe Montana (5).

- In 2011, Manning set an NFL record with 15 fourth-quarter touchdown passes. The previous record of 14 was set by Hall of Famer Johnny Unitas in 1959 and tied by Peyton Manning (2002).

- Manning has thrown at least 1 touchdown pass against each of the NFL's 31 other teams except the Buffalo Bills.

- Manning's record as a starter is 91-76 (.545) in the regular season and 8-3 (.727) in the postseason. The 91 victories are the 2nd-most by a quarterback in Giants history; Simms won 95 games from 1979-93. Manning is 69-55 against the NFC and 22-21 vs. the AFC. He is 34-29 in NFC East games, 47-37 at home and 44-39 on the road.

- Manning's record as a starter in October is 30-9, a .769 winning percentage that is the 4th-highest among quarterbacks with at least 20 starts in the Super Bowl era.

- Manning has started the Giants' last 167 regular-season games, the longest streak among active quarterbacks and the 3rd-longest in NFL history. Only Brett Favre (297) and Peyton Manning (208) started more consecutive games than Manning. San Diego's Philip Rivers, the player for whom Manning was traded during the 2004 NFL Draft, enters the 2015 season with the 2nd-longest streak among active quarterbacks with 144 consecutive starts.

- Tom Coughlin has been the Giants' head coach for every 1 of Manning's pro games. Their 167 starts together is the 3rd-highest total for a quarterback/coach combination in NFL history, exceeded only by New England's Tom Brady and Bill Belichick (207 entering the 2015 season) and Miami's Dan Marino and Don Shula (184 games from 1983-95).

- Manning's 167 consecutive starts is the longest active streak by any player at any position entering the 2015 season. Rivers is 2nd with 144 starts in a row.

- Manning's 167 consecutive starts is a record for Giants quarterbacks. The previous mark of 69 starts in a row was set by Fran Tarkenton from 1967-71.

- Since Manning made his first start on Nov. 21, 2004, 164 other quarterbacks have started an NFL regular-season game, including 26 different starters among the other 3 NFC East teams.

- Manning threw for at least 3,000 yards and 20 touchdowns in 8 consecutive seasons from 2005-12, the 5th-longest such streak in NFL history. Peyton Manning holds the record with 13 seasons in a row.

- Manning and New Orleans' Drew Brees were the only quarterbacks to throw for at least 3,000 yards and at least 20 touchdown passes every season from 2005-12.

- Manning is the 1st Giants quarterback to throw for more than 3,000 yards in 10 consecutive seasons, the 1st to have three 4,000-yard seasons (2009-11) and the 1st to throw at least 20 touchdown passes 8 years in a row.

- Manning is the Giants' career leader in pass attempts (5,609), completions (2,929), passing yards (39,755), touchdown passes (259) and interceptions (185).

- Manning's 63.1 completion percentage in 2014 raised his career percentage to 58.98, which raised him over Kerry Collins (58.51) and into 1st place on the Giants' all-time list among quarterbacks with at least 1,000 attempts.

- Manning threw for more than 300 yards in 5 games in 2014. That increased his career regular-season total to 33 300-yard games, extending his franchise record. Simms is 2nd with 21.

- Manning continues to rise on the NFL's all-time passing lists. His 5,609 pass attempts leave him in 12th place on the NFL's career list. Collins is No. 11 with 6,261 pass attempts. His 3,308 completions put him in 13th place on that list. Hall of Famer Joe Montana is 12th with 3,409.

Manning's 39,755 yards is the 15th-highest total in history. Hall of Famer Johnny Unitas is 14th with 40,239. And Manning's 259 touchdown passes place him 13th in history, two behind Dave Krieg.

- Manning has led the Giants on 26 regular-season game-winning drives in his career (victories in which he has rallied the Giants from a 4th-quarter deficit or tie to win. That ties him with Matt Ryan and Carson Palmer for the 6th-highest total among active quarterbacks. He trails Peyton Manning (51), Tom Brady (37), Drew Brees (33), Ben Roethlisberger (32), and Tony Romo (27).

- Manning has been selected to play in 3 Pro Bowls and played in the game twice. In his most recent appearance, following the 2012 season, Manning completed 16 of 23 passes for 191 yards, 2 touchdowns and an interception in the NFC's 62-35 victory. He was selected but did not play in the 2011 Pro Bowl because the Giants were in the Super Bowl. When he played in his 1st Pro Bowl following the 2008 season Manning became the 1st Giants quarterback to be selected to the game since Simms in 1993.

- Has played in 169 regular season games with starts in his last 167 appearances and has started all 11 postseason games in which he's played. The 169 games played for the Giants is the highest total among active players and place him 11th in franchise history, 1 behind Hall of Famer Mel Hein.

He was selected NFC Offensive Player of the Week for his performance at Philadelphia (9/25), where he completed 16 of 23 passes for 254 yards, 4 touchdowns and no interceptions in a 29-16 victory. His passer rating of 145.7 was the 2nd-highest of his career and his highest in a game in which he threw more than 10 passes (he had a 158.3 rating vs. Oakland in 2009, but played only the first 5 series). It was the 5th-highest passer rating by a Giants quarterback since the NFL went to a 16-game schedule in 1978. The Player of the Week award was the 3rd of Manning's career.

- In 2010, Manning started all 16 games and completed 339 of 539 passes (62.9%) for 4,002 yards, 31 touchdowns and 25 interceptions. He had four 300-yard passing games... He was 1 of 4 players to throw every 1 of his team's passes in 2010. The others were Indianapolis' Peyton Manning, Houston's Matt Schaub and St. Louis' Sam Bradford.

- The 339 completions and 62.9 completion percentage were then franchise single-season records. The previous records were 335 completions by Collins in 2002 and the 62.8 completion percentages by Jeff Hostetler in 1991 and Kurt Warner in 2004.

- Manning's 539 passes were then the 2nd-highest total of his career (he threw 557 passes in 2005) and was the 4th-highest total in Giants history (Collins threw 568 passes in 2001 and 545 in 2002).

- His 31 touchdown passes were the 3rd-highest total in Giants history and the most by a Giants quarterback in 47 years. Y.A. Tittle threw 36 in 1963 and 33 in 1962.

- Manning became the 1st Giants quarterback with two 4,000-yard seasons. He threw for 4,021 yards in 2009. Collins (4,073 in 2002) and Simms (4,044 in 1984) are the only other Giants to pass for more than 4,000 yards.

- Manning's 4,002 yards were the 5th-highest total in the NFL. He was among a record 22 quarterbacks to throw for more than 3,000 yards in 2010.

- His 31 touchdown passes were the league's 4th-highest total. Manning was 1 of 11 quarterbacks to throw for at least 25 touchdowns in 2010.

- Manning tied a franchise record by throwing 25 interceptions, a total previously reached by Frank Filchock in 1946 and Charlie Conerly in 1953.

- Manning threw then career-long touchdown passes on consecutive weeks: an 85-yarder at Green Bay (12/26) and a 92-yarder at Washington (1/2), both to Mario Manningham. The 92-yard throw was the NFL's longest play from scrimmage in the 2010 season. It was then the 3rd-longest pass in Giants history, exceeded only by Earl Morrall's 98-yard throw to Homer Jones at Pittsburgh on Sept. 11, 1966 and Norm Snead's 94-yarder to Rich Houston vs. Dallas on Sept. 24, 1972.

- Manning set franchise records for the most attempts (3,169), completions (1,838), passing yards (21,465) and touchdown passes (148) in a player's first 100 games as a Giant.

- Manning threw a career-high 34 completions vs. Dallas (11/14) and had 33 completions and threw for a season-high 386 yards vs. Tennessee (9/26)... He threw a then career-high 48 passes without being sacked on Nov. 14 vs. Dallas.

- On Nov. 21, Manning started the Giants' game in Philadelphia 6 years to the day after his 1st game as the Giants' starting quarterback. On Nov. 21, 2004, the Giants lost to Atlanta, 14-10. The Falcons' starting quarterback in that game was Michael Vick, who was the Eagles' starter 6 years later in Philly.

- Manning twice tied his then career-high by throwing 4 touchdown passes: at Dallas (10/25) and vs. Philadelphia (12/19)... He was sacked just 16 times all season and was not sacked in a 5-game stretch from Nov. 7 through Dec. 5... Had a season-high passer rating of 125.8 at Seattle (11/7), where he completed 21 of 32 passes for 290 yards, 3 touchdowns and no interceptions.

- In 2009, Manning started all 16 games and completed 317 of 509 passes (62.3 percent) for 4,021 yards, 27 touchdowns, 14 interceptions and a passer rating of 93.1. The completions, percentage, yards, touchdowns and rating were then career highs.

- Manning became the 3rd quarterback in Giants history to throw for more than 4,000 yards in a season, joining Collins (4,073 in 2002) and Simms (4,044 in 1984). Manning threw at least 1 touchdown pass in every game except the losses at Denver (11/26) and Minnesota (1/3).

- Manning played only the first 5 series in a 44-7 rout of Oakland (10/11) and left the game with a perfect passer rating of 158.3. He completed 8 of 10 passes for 173 yards, 2 touchdowns and no interceptions. The previous Giants quarterback to finish a game with a perfect rating was Collins at Indianapolis on Dec. 22, 2002, when he completed 23 of 29 passes for 366 yards, 4 touchdowns and no interceptions in a 44-27 victory.

- Manning completed 19 of 26 passes for 268 yards, 3 touchdowns and no interceptions at Washington (12/21) for a passer rating of 144.4 that was then the 2nd-highest of his career, topped only by his 158.3 rating vs. Oakland. His previous best rating on the road was 131.4 at St. Louis on Sept. 14, 2008.

- The game at Washington was the 2nd week in a row Manning threw for 3 scores without an interception and was the 2nd time in Manning's career he threw 3 touchdown passes in consecutive games. He did it at Philadelphia and Seattle on Sept. 17 and 24, 2006.

- When Manning threw his 100th touchdown pass at Dallas, he became the 111th quarterback in NFL history to reach that mark. Eli and Peyton Manning were the 1st pair of brothers to each throw for 100 touchdowns in their career.

- Manning twice threw for career-high yardage totals in 2009. He passed for 384 yards vs. Atlanta (11/22) and 391 yards vs. Philadelphia (12/13). They were the 9th and 10th 300-yard games of his career, but his first 2 at home.

- The Giants had 62 pass plays of 20 or more yards in 2009, which tied them for 5th in the NFL. Manning accounted for 60 of those plays and ranked 5th among the league's quarterbacks.

- Manning threw 3 touchdown passes of at least 60 yards in 2 weeks: 1 vs. Dallas (12/6) and 2 vs. Philadelphia (12/13). He was the 1st Giants quarterback to throw 2 touchdown passes of 60 or more yards in the same game since Collins did it vs. the Jets on Dec. 5, 1999 (scores of 61 and 80 yards to Amani Toomer). The last Giants quarterback to accomplish the feat in back-to-back games was Simms on Sept. 2 and 9, 1984, also in home games vs. Philadelphia and Dallas.

- Manning rushed for a career-high 34 yards at Philadelphia (11/1), the highest total by a Giants quarterback since Oct. 31, 1999, when Kent Graham ran for 41 yards — also in Philadelphia.

- Manning completed 76 percent of his passes (25 of 33) vs. San Diego (11/8), which then tied for the 2nd-best 1-game mark of his career. He hit 79 percent (26 of 33) at Arizona on Nov. 23, 2008 and 76 percent (19 of 25) vs. Seattle on Oct. 5, 2008.

- Manning's 29 completions vs. Carolina (12/27) were his highest total in Giants Stadium. His previous best was 28 completions vs. the Eagles on Dec. 17, 2006.

- In 2008, Manning started all 16 regular-season games and the NFC Divisional Playoff Game... He led the Giants to their 4th consecutive postseason berth, a franchise record. Only 1 other QB had then led his team to the playoffs in 4 consecutive seasons — Peyton Manning.

- Manning completed 289 of 479 passes (60.3%) for 3,238 yards, 21 touchdowns and 10 interceptions for a passer rating of 86.4. The completion percentage and rating were then career highs. It was the 1st time since Manning's rookie season in 2004 — when he started just 9 games — that he did not throw at least 500 passes. The 10 interceptions were his lowest total since he threw 9 as a rookie and were half his 2007 total.

- Manning completed 21 of 34 passes for 305 yards, a touchdown and an interception at Washington (11/30). It was his 1st 300-yard game since Oct. 15, 2007.

- Manning was named the NFC Offensive Player of the Month in November and Sporting News' 2008 Pro Athlete of the Year.

- In 2007, Manning started all 16 regular-season games and 4 postseason games and led the Giants to victory in Super Bowl XLII...Completed 297 of 529 passes for 3,336 yards, 23 touchdowns and 20 interceptions for a passer rating of 73.9. In 4 postseason games, Manning completed 72 of 119 passes (60.5%) for 854 yards, 6 touchdowns and 1 interception for a rating of 123.2.

- Manning tied a career high — and set a personal best in a road game — by throwing 4 touchdown passes while completing 28 of 41 throws for 312 yards at Dallas (9/9). Three of the scoring passes went to Plaxico Burress, the other to Derrick Ward...Left the game in the 4th quarter with a bruised shoulder...Despite the injury, Manning started the next week vs. Green Bay.

- Led the Giants to their 1st victory of the season at Washington (9/23), where he completed 21 of 36 passes, including the game-winning 33-yard touchdown pass to Burress in the 4th quarter...Threw a then career-high-tying 4 touchdown passes vs. New England (12/29). - Opened postseason play by completing 20 of 27 passes for 185 yards, 2 touchdowns and no interceptions in NFC Wild Card Game victory at Tampa Bay (1/6)...Became the 5th Giants QB to win a postseason game in the Giants Stadium era (since 1976), joining Simms, Jeff Hostetler, Collins and Scott Brunner.

- Completed 12 of 18 passes for 163 yards and 2 touchdowns to Toomer in NFC Divisional Playoff Game at Dallas (1/13)...His 52-yard touchdown pass to Toomer was then his longest postseason completion...Successfully engineered a 2-minute drive in the 2nd quarter by completing 4 passes for 56 yards on a 7-play 71-yard drive in just 46 seconds that resulted in a 4-yard touchdown pass to Toomer to tie the game at 14-14 at halftime.

- Played another turnover-free game and completed 21 of 40 passes for 251 yards in minus-23 degree wind chill in the Giants' NFC Championship Game victory at Green Bay (1/20)...Increased his streak to 101 consecutive postseason passes without an interception.

- Manning was named the Most Valuable Player of Super Bowl XLII after completing 19 of 34 passes for 255 yards, 2 touchdowns and an interception that bounced off Steve Smith's hands in the Giants' victory over the New England Patriots...Led the Giants on their game-winning 4th quarter drive by completing 5 of 9 passes for 77 yards and a 13-yard touchdown pass to Burress. The most memorable play on the drive was a 32-yard completion to David Tyree, who secured the ball against his helmet after Manning eluded the grasp of numerous Patriots defensive lineman...Threw a 5-yard touchdown pass to Tyree early in the 4th quarter that was set up by passes of 45 yards to Boss and 17 yards to Smith...Manning was intercepted by cornerback Ellis Hobbs with 11:53 remaining in the 2nd quarter. It was the Giants' 1st offensive turnover in their 4-game postseason. The offense had gone 34 possessions and run 213 plays without turning over the ball. The previous turnover had been in the regular season finale against the Patriots — also an interception by Hobbs of a Manning pass. Manning had thrown 103 consecutive passes without an interception, including 95 in the postseason. He threw 111 postseason passes in a row without a pick.

- In 2006, started all 16 regular-season games and the

- Threw a career-high 53 passes (completing 29) for 344 yards, 2 touchdowns and 1 interception at Seattle (11/27). The 53 passes were the most thrown by the Giants since Collins had 59 at New England (10/12/03). It was the 12th consecutive game in which Manning threw at least 1 touchdown pass, 3 shy of the Giants record set by Y.A. Tittle from 1962-64.

- Completed 23 of 42 passes for 214 yards, 2 touchdowns and 1 interception vs. Denver (10/23)...Led the Giants on 2 touchdown drives in the 4th quarter to secure his 2nd career 4th quarter come-from-behind-victory. Peyton Manning's 6-yard touchdown pass went to Marvin Harrison on Sept. 6, 1998.

On Dec. 3, 2010 vs. the Minnesota Vikings in Detroit, Manning became the 6th quarterback in NFL history to start 100 consecutive regular season games. Ironically, he reached that milestone in the same game in which Brett Favre's NFL-record streak of 297 consecutive starts ended. Favre was inactive with a shoulder injury.

NFL QUARTERBACKS WITH AT LEAST 100 CONSECUTIVE REGULAR SEASON STARTS:

PLAYER	TEAMS	YEARS	CONSECUTIVE STARTS
Brett Favre	Packers, Jets, Vikings	1992-2010	297
Peyton Manning	Colts	1998-2010	208

*McNabb started for 2 NFC East teams, but counts only once.

on Sept. 19, 2011. The score was the team's 1st interception return for a touchdown since Dec. 21, 2009, when Terrell Thomas brought one back 14 yards at Washington. And it was the 1st score by a Giants defensive lineman since Osi Umenyiora scored on a 37-yard fumble return vs. the Redskins on Sept. 13, 2009.

- Pierre-Paul had 5 multiple-sack games: at Washington (9/11), at Philadelphia (9/25), vs. Seattle (10/9), at Dallas (12/11) and at Jets (12/24)...He had at least a half-sack in 12 of the 16 games.

- In a victory in Dallas, Pierre-Paul led the team with 8 tackles (6 solo), including 2 sacks of Tony Romo. The 1st resulted in a safety for the Giants' 1st points. The 2nd sack was on a 3rd down in the 3rd quarter and forced the Cowboys to punt from their own 43-yard line. Pierre-Paul also forced a Felix Jones fumble that was recovered by Deon Grant and led to a field goal. He secured the victory by blocking Dan Bailey's 47-yard field goal attempt with 1 second left in the game. If good, the kick would have tied the score and sent the game into overtime.

- Was credited with a career-high 16 tackles (11 solo) and a sack vs. Washington (12/18).

- Was again named Player of the Week after his performance at the Jets. Pierre-Paul had 5 tackles (4 solo), including 2 sacks for losses of 14 yards, and 3 quarterback hits. His 1st sack, with 2 seconds to go in the second quarter, resulted in a 7-yard loss and forced the Jets to attempt a 44-yard field goal, which was wide right. His 2nd sack was on the final series and all but ended the Jets' chance for a miracle comeback.

- Pierre-Paul was the 1st NFC defensive player to win the award twice in 3 weeks since New Orleans safety Malcolm Jenkins was honored in Weeks 12 and 14 of the 2010 season. He was the 1st Giant to be cited twice in 1 season since Umenyiora was named Player of the Week in Weeks 4 and 7 of the 2007 season. Pierre-Paul was the 1st Giant to be named Defensive Player of the Week twice in a 3-week span of a season since Strahan in 2001 (Weeks 3 and 5).

State (2002) and Joshua Nesbitt of Georgia Tech (2009) for 4th on the ACC single-season record list... Williams topped the old Boston College record of 321 carries by Derrick Knight (2003)... His 2,177 rushing yards in 2013 shattered the former school mark of 1,726 yards by Cloud in 1998... Williams' 18 touchdown runs in 2013 rank behind Keith Bernette (22 in 1974) and Darnell Campbell (19 in 1993) on BC's annual chart... His 108 points scored in 2013 also rank 3rd on the single-season list, topped by Bernette (134 in 1974) and Darnell Campbell (126 in 1993). - Williams set both school and ACC single-game records with 339 yards rushing vs. North Carolina State (11/16), topping the previous marks of 329 yards by John Leach of Wake Forest vs. Maryland in 1993, and by the Eagles' Montel Harris, who had 264 yards vs. N.C. State in 2009... Williams' 295 yards at New Mexico State on Nov. 9 rank 2nd on the school chart and 5th in ACC history... His 263 yards vs. both Maryland and Army placed 4th on the school list and 12th on the ACC chart... His 42 rushing attempts vs. N.C. State tied the school record that he first set in 2010 vs. Syracuse. The previous best was 41 carries by Montel Harris vs. Maryland in 2009 and the same total by Fred Willis vs. Pittsburgh in 1970... Williams ran for 5 touchdowns vs. Army (10/5), tying the Eagles' record 1st established by Montel Harris vs. N.C. State in 2009.

- Left the game at Syracuse (11/30) early in the 1st quarter with a right shoulder sprain... THE VINCE LOMBARDI TROPHY

The Vince Lombardi Trophy is the trophy awarded each year to the winning team of the National Football League's annual championship game, the Super Bowl. It is considered to be the NFL's most prestigious award. The trophy was originally called the "World Championship Game Trophy" when the Super Bowl was originally named the AFL-NFL World Championship Game. It was renamed in 1970 in honor of legendary Green Bay Packers head coach Vince Lombardi.

Since Super Bowl XXX, it is presented to the winning team's owner on the field following the game. Previously, the trophy was presented inside the winning team's locker room.

Unlike trophies such as the Stanley Cup and the Grey Cup, a new Vince Lombardi Trophy is made every year and the winning team maintains permanent possession of that trophy.

Each trophy is handcrafted by Tiffany & Co. master artisans at their workshop in Parsippany, New Jersey. The trophy depicts a regulation-size football in kicking position that is made entirely of sterling silver. It stands 22 inches (55 cm) tall, weighs seven pounds (3 kg), and takes approximately four months and 72 man-hours to create. The words "Vince Lombardi Trophy" and the NFL logo are engraved on the base. After the trophy is awarded, it is sent back to Tiffany & Co. to be engraved with the winning team's name, score, logo and roster if the team wishes.

GIANTS AT LIONS SEPTEMBER 8, 2014 LIONS 35, GIANTS 14

The Giants set an unwanted franchise record by losing their fourth consecutive season-opening game, a 35-14 defeat to the Detroit Lions in Ford Field.

The Lions gained 346 of their 417 total yards through the air as quarterback Matthew Stafford found All-Pro receiver Calvin Johnson seven times for 164 yards, including touchdowns of 67 and 16 yards. Stafford also scored on a five-yard run, Joique Bell added a one-yard score and rookie Nate Freese kicked field goals of 28 and 27 yards (he also missed a 43-yard try).

Playing their first regular-season game with a new offensive system and coordinator Ben McAdoo calling the plays, the Giants totaled only 197 yards, including 53 on the ground, where they averaged 2.4 yards per carry.

The Giants' touchdowns were each one-yarders — an Eli Manning pass to tight end Larry Donnell and a run by Rashad Jennings.

Detroit began taking charge on the game's fourth play. Cornerback Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie and safety Stevie Brown collided and fell down, allowing Johnson to catch a pass on the 30-yard line with no Giant near him. That 67-yard touchdown gave the Lions a 7-0 lead just 2:49 into the game.

The Giants scored the only touchdown of the second quarter, as Manning threw a perfect pass on a fade rout on a fourth-and-goal from the one. Donnell's first NFL touchdown left the Giants with just a seven-point deficit at halftime.

But the game got away from the Giants in the third quarter. Manning threw two interceptions that led to 10 Detroit points. Stafford evaded a rush and ran in for a touchdown and Freese added a pair of field goals.

CARDINALS VS. GIANTS SEPTEMBER 14, 2014 CARDINALS 25, GIANTS 14

The Giants entered the fourth quarter with a four-point lead, but a series of miscues and missed opportunities led to the Cardinals outscoring them in the period, 15-0, and ultimately to a 25-14 loss in their home opener.

Leading early in the fourth quarter, 14-13, the Giants were hoping to increase their advantage and take time off the clock when they faced a third-and-six from their own 26. Eli Manning threw to the left side for Victor Cruz, who got his hands on the ball, but couldn't hold it.

On the next play, Ted Ginn Jr. returned a punt 71 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. Quintin Demps lost a fumble on the ensuing kickoff that was recovered by Robert Hughes at the Giants' 21-yard line. The defense held and a 32-yard field goal by rookie Chandler Catanzaro increased the Cardinals' lead to 22-14.

The Giants were still within a touchdown and two-point conversion of tying the game. It appeared they might do just that when they drove from their own 20 to the Arizona 17-yard line. But on second-and-10, Manning threw to Rashad Jennings, who gained two yards before falling and losing the football without a hand being laid on him. Rashad Johnson recovered that turnover.

Eli Manning completed 26 of 39 passes for 277 yards, two touchdowns and two interceptions (one on the team's final offensive play). Tight end Larry Donnell led the Giants with seven catches for 81 yards. The Cardinals played without starting quarterback Carson Palmer (shoulder). Drew Stanton made his first start since Dec. 19, 2010, when he was with Detroit. Stanton completed 14 of 29 passes for 167 yards.

The Giants committed four turnovers with a takeaway, dropped five passes and committed nine accepted penalties for the contest.

TEXANS VS. GIANTS SEPTEMBER 21, 2014 GIANTS 30, TEXANS 17

The offense gained 419 yards and had 26 first downs as the Giants defeated the Houston Texans, 30-17, in MetLife Stadium.

Rashad Jennings had career-high totals of 34 carries and 176 yards and scored a touchdown. The Giants rushed for 193 yards, or 59 more than their total in the first two games combined. Jennings' 34 carries were the most by a Giant since Dec. 5, 1999, when Joe Montgomery had 38 rushing attempts vs. the Jets. His 176 yards were the highest total by a Giants back since Ahmad Bradshaw ran for 200 yards on 30 carries vs Cleveland on Oct. 7, 2012.

Eli Manning completed 75 percent of his passes (21 of 28) for 234 yards, touchdowns to Victor Cruz and Daniel Fells and no interceptions.

Cruz had five receptions for 105 yards, and the touchdown. He scored the game's first touchdown on a 26-yard reception, his first score since Sept. 29, 2013 at Kansas City and his first at home since Dec. 30, 2012 vs. Philadelphia. Cruz had played 12 games and caught 65 passes between touchdowns.

The Giants led at halftime 14-0, thanks to touchdowns by Cruz and Jennings (a 1-yard run). Josh Brown's first field goal of the season, a 39-yarder, made it 17-0.

Houston got back into the game in the third quarter, when Randy Bullock kicked a 37-yard field goal and Ryan Fitzpatrick threw a 44-yard touchdown pass to Damaris Johnson. The Giants regained control in the fourth quarter. Damaris Moore blocked a Shane Lechler punt and three plays later, Manning threw a 9-yard touchdown pass to Daniel Fells. Brown added field goals of 29 and 31 yards.

Fitzpatrick scored a late touchdown on a 1-yard run.

GIANTS AT REDSKINS SEPTEMBER 25, 2014 GIANTS 45, REDSKINS 14

Eli Manning had a hand in five of the six touchdowns as the Giants won their NFC East opener for the first time since 2010 with a 45-14 rout of the Redskins in FedEx Field.

Manning threw four touchdowns passes, all to tight ends (three to Larry Donnell and another to Daniel Fells) and ran for a score for the first time since 2011. He finished with exactly 300 passing yards. Rookie running back Andre Williams led the Giants with 66 rushing yards and scored his first NFL touchdown. Wide receivers Rueben Randle and Victor Cruz combined for 14 catches and 197 yards.

Manning completed 18 of his first 20 passes and the incomplections resulted from his receivers dropping the ball.

Donnell scored the Giants' first three touchdowns, on receptions of five, six and six yards, the latter two in the second quarter. He was the first Giant to score three touchdowns in a game since Cruz had touchdown receptions of 70, 18 and 10 yards at Dallas on Sept. 8, 2013. Donnell was the first Giants tight end with three touchdown receptions in a game since Dec. 16, 1962, when Joe Walton caught scoring passes of 10, 20 and eight yards from Y.A. Tittle in 41-31 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The defense forced six turnovers and intercepted Kirk Cousins four times within five second-half possessions. Prince Amukamara, Quintin Demps, Trumaine McBride and Antrel Rolle each had a pick. McBride and Cullen Jenkins had fumble recoveries. The defense limited Washington's starting receivers, DeSean Jackson and Pierre Garcon, to three combined catches for 37 yards.

The Giants led at halftime, 24-7, thanks to Donnell's touchdowns and Josh Brown's 29-yard field goal. After Morris' touchdown closed the gap to 10 points, Fells, Manning and Williams all scored to give the Giants a comfortable final margin.

FALCONS VS. GIANTS

GIANTS 30, FALCONS 20

The Giants slipped into a hole before a pair of rookies helped pull them out in a come-from-behind 30-20 victory over the Atlanta Falcons. It

Odell Beckham Jr. made his NFL debut a memorable one by scoring the go-ahead touchdown on a 15-yard pass from Eli Manning with 10:02 remaining in the fourth quarter. He tied for the team lead with 4 catches for 44 yards.

Andre Williams, the running back selected on the fourth round, also made a big contribution. Stepping in after Rashad Jennings sprained his knee in the third quarter, Williams had team-high totals of 20 carries for 65 yards and scored on a 3-yard run in the third quarter that pulled the Giants to within 20-17.

The Giants also scored on Manning's 3-yard touchdown pass to Rueben Randle and Josh Brown field goals of 49, 50 and 26 yards.

Manning completed 19 of 30 passes for 200 yards, 2 touchdowns and no interceptions.

Atlanta took a 13-10 halftime lead on Steve Jackson's 10-yard touchdown run and a pair of 20-yard field goals by former Giant Matt Bryant. The Falcons extended their advantage to 10 points when running back Antone Smith took a short Matt Ryan pass and turned it into a 74-yard touchdown.

The Giants responded with an 81-yard drive that ended with William's touchdown. After forcing the Falcons into a 3-and-out, the Giants drove 64 yards in 11 plays, the last Manning's scoring pass to Beckham. Brown capped the scoring with his final 2 field goals.

Jacquan Williams (13 tackles) and Antrel Rolle (911) led the defense.

GIANTS AT EAGLES OCTOBER 12, 2014 EAGLES 27, GIANTS 0

The Giants endured one of the most unpleasant and forgettable games they've had in a long time when they lost to the Philadelphia Eagles, 27-0, in Lincoln Financial Field.

The loss wasn't the only bad news. Victor Cruz, the Giants' most productive receiver, a team captain and one of the franchise's most popular players, tore the patellar tendon in his right knee reaching for a pass in the third quarter and lost for the remainder of the season.

The Giants were outgained, 448-353, converted only two of 14 third down opportunities, had half as many first downs (12) as the Eagles and committed 10 penalties, six by offensive linemen, including three holding calls. Eli Manning was sacked six times and Ryan Nassib twice.

Manning completed 13 of 23 passes for 151 yards. Nick Foles hit 21 of 34 throws for 248 yards, two touchdown and two interceptions. LeSean McCoy rushed for 149 yards on 22 carries.

The Eagles scored 10 points in each of the first two quarters to take a 20-0 halftime lead. Rookie Cody Parkey started the scoring with a 31-yard field goal on the game's first possession. After the Giants punted, the Eagles drove 81 yards in 10 plays, including a 23-yard pass on third-and-eight and a 15-yard score, both to tight end Zach Ertz.

In the second quarter, Foles threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to another tight end, James Casey, and Parkey added a 45-yard field goal.

The Eagles took possession at the three and promptly drove 97 yards in eight plays, the last Darren Sproles 15-yard touchdown run.

GAME 7

GIANTS AT COWBOYS

OCTOBER 19, 2014

COWBOYS 31, GIANTS 21

The Giants scored three more touchdowns than they did the previous week against the Eagles, neutralized Dallas' very good special teams and made a few big defensive plays, but it wasn't enough to prevent another NFC East road defeat, 31-21, to the Cowboys.

Dallas jumped out to an early 7-0 lead on Tony Romo's 15-yard touchdown pass to tight end Gavin Escobar. But the Giants fought back. Eli Manning threw touchdown passes of 9 yards to Odell Beckham Jr. and 26 yards to tight end Daniel Fells. The Giants needed just one play and seven seconds to score after Prince Amukamara intercepted a Romo pass and returned it 38 yards.

But Dallas responded with a 10-play, 80-yard drive that concluded with Romo's 18-yard touchdown pass to Terrance Williams that left the teams tied at halftime, 14-14.

The Giants were unable to regain the momentum in the second half. Dallas capitalized by marching 93 yards in only six plays, finding Escobar in the end zone for a 26-yard touchdown that gave the Cowboys a 21-14 lead.

Early in the fourth quarter, Dallas took advantage of a Larry Donnell fumble, culminating with a Demarco Murray one-yard touchdown run to increase the Cowboys' lead to 28-14 with 9:11 left.

Manning rallied the Giants and his five-yard touchdown pass to Beckham cut the deficit to seven points with 5:28 left — plenty of time to make a stop and drive for the tying touchdown. But the Cowboys ran nine plays and took more than four minutes off the clock before Dan Bailey's 49-yard field goal with 59 seconds left put the game out of reach.

COLTS VS. GIANTS NOVEMBER 3, 2014 COLTS 40, GIANTS 24

Colts quarterback Andrew Luck threw for 354 yards and four touchdowns – each to a different receiver – in the Colts 40-24 victory in MetLife Stadium. He tossed three of the touchdowns in the decisive third quarter.

Adam Vinatieri kicked four field goals as Indianapolis jumped out to a 40-10 lead in the fourth quarter before two Giants touchdown narrowed the final margin.

Luck completed 25 of 46 passes in becoming the first quarterback to throw for four touchdowns against the Giants since Cincinnati's Andy Dalton two years ago. Eli Manning countered by completing 27 of 52 passes for 359 yards and late touchdowns to Larry Donnell and Corey Washington. Andre Williams added a one-yard touchdown run and Josh Brown kicked a 38-yard field goal.

On the opening series of the third quarter, Luck threw to the end zone for T.Y. Hilton, who was closely guarded by Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie. They jumped for the ball, and DRC seemed to be in position to intercept it. But when they hit the ground, Hilton had secured it for a 31-yard touchdown.

Later in the quarter, the Colts faced a fourth-and-five on the Giants' 40. Luck threw to the left for Reggie Wayne, who got a step on Jayron Hosley, caught the ball at the 31 and never stopped until he reached the end zone.

Indianapolis all but put the game away less than 2½ minutes later. Manning was sacked by rookie linebacker Johnathan Newsome and fumbled. Unlike the Giants, the Colts capitalized on the miscue as Sergio Brown scooped up the ball and returned it 26 yards to the Giants' four. Two plays later, the Giants left Allen completely uncovered and the result was a two-yard touchdown and a 37-10 lead.

GIANTS AT SEAHAWKS

SEAHAWKS 38, GIANTS 17

At halftime, the Giants owned a three-point lead on the defending Super Bowl champions. But with the rain falling harder in the second half, the Seahawks outscored them 24-0 (21-0 in the fourth quarter) while finishing a 350-yard rushing performance. The final score of the Giants' fourth consecutive defeat was 38-17.

In the final two quarters, the Seahawks totaled 290 yards (210 on the ground). They finished with 510 yards and 27 first downs. Running back Marshawn Lynch ran for 140 yards and scored four touchdowns, on runs of one, two, three and 16 yards. Quarterback Russell Wilson added 107 yards and his own one-yard score. Wilson completed just 10 passes, but it hardly mattered because of the ground assault.

The Giants rushed for only 54 yards and averaged just 3.2 yards an attempt. Rookie Andre Williams started his fourth consecutive game and gained only 33 yards on 13 carries. He did score one of the Giants' two touchdowns. Preston Parker got the other on a six-yard pass from Manning. Josh Brown also kicked a 41-yard field goal.

A Giants turnover helped shift the game in Seattle's favor late in the third quarter.

Steven Hauschka's 28-yard field tied the score at 17-17 with 4:13 left in the quarter.

On the Giants' ensuing possession, they had a first down at the Seattle 39 when Manning threw to the end zone for Odell Beckham Jr., who was blanketed by double coverage. Beckham leaped to try to catch the ball, but instead tipped it to safety Earl Thomas, who returned it 47 yards to the Seahawks' 42. Seven plays and 2:13 later, Lynch's third touchdown gave the Seahawks the lead for good at 24-17.

In the next eight minutes, the Giants failed to recover two Seahawks fumbles, Lynch scored his fourth touchdown and Wilson added his first to pad the final margin.

49ERS VS. GIANTS

NOVEMBER 16, 2014

49ERS 16, GIANTS 10

The Giants were unable to reach the end zone themselves on four tries from the four-yard line late in the fourth quarter and suffered another dispiriting defeat, this one by a 16-10 score to the San Francisco 49ers.

The defense, much-maligned after allowing 38 points and 510 yards, including 350 on the ground, to the Seahawks, held the 49ers to 16, 333 and 148. That ended at four the Giants' streak of games in which their opponents gained at least 423 yards and scored 27 points. The Niners were limited to Colin Kaepernick's 48-yard touchdown pass to Michael Crabtree (who caught the ball at the 35 and outraced several Giants defenders to the end zone) and three Phil Dawson field goals.

But while the defense regained its footing, the offense kept slipping. After Eli Manning and Larry Donnell hooked up for the Giants' first opening-possession touchdown in 21 games, the Giants never again found the end zone. Their final 11 offensive series yielded only a 43-yard Josh Brown field goal.

Along the way, Manning tied his career high by throwing five interceptions — after tossing six in the first nine games.

Despite all the turnovers, the Giants had a chance to win the game after Odell Beckham Jr. made a spectacular leaping catch for a 37-yard gain to the four. The Giants were four yards away from taking a late fourth-quarter lead. But they never reached the end zone, as four Manning passes fell incomplete.

The Giants did get the ball back one more time, on their own 15 with 1:09 remaining and no timeouts. But Manning's fourth down pass to Beckham was incomplete.

COWBOYS VS. GIANTS

NOVEMBER 23, 2014

COWBOYS 31, GIANTS 28

The Cowboys drove 80 yards in seven plays and scored the game-winning points with 1:01 remaining when Tony Romo threw his fourth touchdown pass of the game, a 13-yarder Dez Bryant that gave Dallas a 31-28 victory.

The Giants posted some impressive numbers — 417 total yards and 27 first downs. And they scored on one of the greatest catches anyone's ever seen, a 43-yard, one-handed, backward-leaping grab by Odell Beckham Jr. that will be played on highlight reels for decades. But it meant little because the Giants lost.

In the third quarter, Cole Beasley turned a short Romo pass in to a 45-yard touchdown to pull the Cowboys to within 21-17.

The Giants were poised to respond with their own score when they drove from their own 24 to the Dallas 18 where they had a second-and-10. Preston Parker was open down the middle for what likely would have been a touchdown. But he couldn't secure a Manning pass that was a bit off-target and safety Barry Church grabbed the ball at the three and turned it 45 yards. Four plays later, Romo and Bryant hooked up for a 31-yard touchdown pass to give Dallas its first lead at 24-21.

The offense re-asserted itself in the fourth quarter with its longest drive of the season, a 14-play, 93-yarder that ended when Manning faked a handoff to Rashad Jennings, whirled around and threw to the right side for Robinson, whose touchdown gave the Giants a 28-24 lead with just 180 seconds left.

But the Cowboys came right back with an 80-yard drive that included consecutive passes to Beasley and Witten to give Dallas a first down at the 21. Two plays later, Romo had plenty of time to hit Bryant in the end zone for the game-winning touchdown.

GIANTS AT JAGUARS NOVEMBER 30, 2014 JAGUARS 25, GIANTS 24

The Giants jumped out to leads of 21-0 in the second quarter and 21-3 at halftime — and still owned narrow five- and two-point advantages in the fourth quarter — but fell to the Jaguars, 25-24. Jacksonville, which returned two Giants fumbles for touchdowns, scored the winning points on Josh Scobee's 43-yard field goal with 28 seconds remaining.

In the second quarter, the Giants took a 21-0 lead on Rashad Jennings touchdowns runs of two and 17 yards and Manning's three-yard scoring pass to Preston Parker. Though Scobee kicked a 28-yard field goal late in the second quarter, it hardly seemed to portend a Jaguars' comeback.

But it did. On the Giants' second offensive play of the third quarter, from the 15-yard line, Manning was sacked by Geno Hayes and fumbled. Jacksonville's J.T. Thomas III secured the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Before the quarter ended, Bortles threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to another rookie, Marqise Lee, who got a step on cornerback Zack Bowman. The two-point conversion failed, but the Jaguars had pulled to within 21-16.

The momentum swing continued on the fourth play of the fourth quarter. The Giants faced a third-and-15 from their own 43 when Manning threw a pass to the right to tight end Larry Donnell. After a three-yard gain, Donnell was hit by cornerback Dwayne Gratz and fumbled. Aaron Colvin scooped up the ball and returned it 41 yards for a touchdown. Jacksonville again tried for two and came up short, but they had the lead at 22-21.

Late in the quarter, the Giants drove 54 yards to the Jaguars' 14-yard line. But they couldn't gain another yard in three tries and Brown, who earlier had missed a 43-yard field goal attempt, kicked the 33-yarder to give the Giants a 24-22 lead. But it didn't hold up because Scobee kicked the game-winner.

GIANTS AT TITANS

DECEMBER 7, 2014

GIANTS 36, TITANS 7

In LP Field, the Giants jumped out to an early 17-0 lead and never let up on their way to a 36-7 rout of the Tennessee Titans. The Giants ended a seven-game losing streak and improved their record to 4-9.

They stormed to a 17-0 lead after one quarter, 23-0 at halftime and 30-0 before the Titans scored their only points of the game on an interception return. But the Giants were not going to let this one slip away. They tacked on the last six points of the game and kept Tennessee far from the end zone as they savored a triumph for the first time since Oct. 5.

Andre Williams had 24 carries for 131 yards, including a 50-yard touchdown early in the third quarter. Odell Beckham Jr. caught 11 passes — tying the second-highest total ever for a Giants rookie — for 130 yards and a touchdown. It was the first time in their history the Giants had rookies with 100 rushing yards and 100 receiving yards in the same game. On the defensive side, rookie linebacker Devon Kennard had two of the team's eight sacks. It was his second consecutive two-sack game.

The Giants scored in both conventional and unconventional fashion. The former included Williams run (the longest by the Giants this season), Manning's 15-yard pass to Beckham and Josh Brown's career high-tying five field goals, including a 52-yarder. The unconventional included Markus Kuhn's 26-yard return of a fumble by Zach Mettenberger, who lost the ball when he was sacked by Kennard.

Tennessee's lone touchdown was scored by safety Marqueston Huff, who intercepted an Eli Manning pass and returned 23 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter.

REDSKINS VS. GIANTS DECEMBER 14, 2014 GIANTS 24, REDSKINS 13

Odell Beckham Jr. put on another sensational performance in the Giants' 24-13 victory over the Washington Redskins.

The rookie wide receiver scored all three of the Giants' touchdowns on receptions of 10, 35 and six yards.

While Beckham had 12 catches, the other seven Giants with receptions combined for 11. The Giants needed Beckham and the passing game to move the ball because they rushed for a season-low 49 yards. Starting running back Rashad Jennings aggravated an ankle injury on his first carry and did not return.

Josh Brown's 32-yard field goal accounted for the Giants' final three points.

Washington scored on Robert Griffin III's nine-yard touchdown pass to Chris Thompson and Kai Forbath field goals of 35 and 38 yards. RG3 replaced starter Colt McCoy (neck injury) after Washington's first offensive series. Griffin was sacked seven times. Jason Pierre-Paul and Johnathan Hankins led the way with 2.5 sacks apiece.

On a third-and-eight late in the first quarter, Beckham he walled off cornerback E.J. Biggers and caught a 10-yard touchdown pass from Eli Manning in the right front corner of the end zone to give the Giants a 7-3 lead.

The Giants trailed by three points in the third quarter when the Redskins defense somehow lost track of Beckham, who was wide open when he caught Manning's pass in the center of the field at the Washington 25-yard line and beat everyone to the end zone for a 35-yard touchdown. That score gave the Giants the lead for good at 17-13.

Beckham later had a touchdown nullified by a holding penalty. But on the Giants' next possession, he caught a six-yard pass for his third score of the game.

GIANTS AT RAMS DECEMBER 21, 2014 GIANTS 37, RAMS 27

Eleven-year veteran Eli Manning and a group of young players led the way as the Giants won their third consecutive game, 37-27, over the Rams in St. Louis.

Eli Manning had a career-high 148.8 passer rating by completing 25 of 32 passes for 391 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions. Odell Beckham Jr. continued his sensational rookie season with eight catches for 148 yards and two touchdowns, including an 80-yarder. Rueben Randle caught Manning's third touchdown pass and had six receptions for 132 yards, giving the Giants two 100-yard receivers for the first time since the 2013 season opener in Dallas. Rookie Andre Williams rushed for 110 yards, including as 45-yarder.

Rookie defensive end Kerry Wynn highlighted the defensive effort with a sack, an interception and a fumble recovery. Jason Pierre-Paul also had a sack and Jameel McClain had a team-high seven tackles, plus two quarterback hits.

The teams combined to throw three touchdown passes in less than seven minutes in the third quarter. Manning hit Randle for a seven-yard score. St. Louis countered with Shaun Hill's 23-yard scoring pass to tight end Lance Kendricks. On their next series the Giants faced a third-and-10 from their own 20. If they gave up the ball, St. Louis would be in position to drive for the tying touchdown. Naturally, the Giants called on Beckham. He got behind the Ram's secondary, caught Manning's pass at the St. Louis 40 and sprinted to the end zone for his 11th touchdown of the season and a 34-20 lead.

Brown tied his season-long with a 52-yard field goal in the fourth quarter (he also had a 29-yard try blocked). The Rams closed the scoring when Hill threw a 47-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Chris Givins.

EAGLES VS. GIANTS DECEMBER 28, 2014 EAGLES 34, GIANTS 26

The Giants were unable to enjoy a victory at the conclusion of a disappointing season as they lost to the Philadelphia Eagles, 34-26, in their 2014 finale in MetLife Stadium.

The Giants couldn't turn 505 yards into one victory because they wasted opportunities, made mistakes, ran the ball ineffectively and had an opponent that ran the ball too easily and scored too many points.

The Giants trailed at halftime, 17-16, but forced the Eagles to go three-and-out on the first series of the third quarter. But the Giants couldn't capitalize, losing a yard on their next series before Steve Weatherford's punt was blocked by James Casey. Trey Burton picked up the ball and returned it 27 yards for a touchdown. It was the first punt Weatherford had blocked in his nine-year career.

Will Beatty's holding penalty took Manning's 34-yard touchdown pass to Rueben Randle off the board. Josh Brown soon kicked his fourth field goal, a 53-yarder, to pull the Giants to within 24-19.

Chris Polk's one-yard touchdown run increased the Eagles' lead back to 12 points before Manning's 63-yard touchdown pass to Beckham made it 31-26. Cody Parkey's 39-yard field goal made it an eight-point game, which is where it was when the Giants took possession at their own 31 with 3:45 remaining. But on second down, Manning's pass deep down the left side was intercepted by safety Nate Allen. The Eagles ran out the final 2:51.

2014 PRESEASON REVIEW

GIANTS 17, BILLS 13

Aug. 3, 2014

Fawcett Stadium

The Giants defeated the Buffalo Bills, 17-13, in Fawcett Stadium in the annual Hall of Fame Game. Rookies Andre Williams (three-yard run) and Corey Washington (on a spectacular 73-yard catch-and-run) scored their only touchdowns. The starting offense and defense played only the first quarter.

But the Giants entered the game eager to gauge variables like tempo, execution and the play-calling communication between offensive coordinator Ben McDoo and the three quarterbacks. They operate at a faster pace than they did in the past. The Giants went without a huddle on their second possession and scored a touchdown on their third. They averaged 5.0 yards a play for the game.

Eli Manning played the first three series and completed six of seven passes for 43 yards. He was also sacked once and lost a fumble on the play, which led to a Buffalo field goal. Manning said he was pleased with the communication from the sideline.

Ryan Nassib, the second-year pro who is battling Curtis Painter for the No. 2 job, took over in the second quarter and played into the fourth, long enough to throw the game-winning touchdown pass to Washington.

Nassib completed seven of 12 passes for 139 yards. In the third quarter, he threw a pass right to Buffalo linebacker Ross Cockrell, who returned it 12 yards. But the turnover was nullified by a roughing the passer penalty on Stefan Charles, who hit Nassib in the facemask.

GIANTS 20, STEELERS 16

Aug. 9, 2014

MetLife Stadium

For the second time in as many weeks, rookie free agent Corey Washington scored the game-winning touchdown in a Giants victory, catching a three-yard fade pass from Curtis Painter with 2:50 remaining in the fourth quarter, the final points in the Giants' 20-16 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In their opener vs. Buffalo in the Hall of Fame Game, Washington made an acrobatic catch of a Ryan Nassib pass and turned it into a 73-yard touchdown, putting the Giants ahead for good in a 17-13 victory.

The Giants trailed, 16-13, when they drove from their own 20-yard line to the Pittsburgh three, where they had a first-and-goal. Running back Michael Cox was stopped for no gain on first and second down. On the next snap, Washington lined up on the left side, got a step on cornerback Isaiah Green and reached up to catch Painter's perfect throw. Painter completed all seven of his passes on the drive.

Washington finished the game with three receptions for 23 yards, tying Kendall Gaskins for the team-high in the former category and Travis Harvey in the latter.

GIANTS 27, COLTS 26

Aug. 16, 2014

Lucas Oil Stadium

It was both an unfathomable, exhilarating victory and an unsettling cause for alarm.

Had it been played in September instead of August, the Giants' 27-26 preseason victory over the Indianapolis Colts in Lucas Oil Stadium would be remembered as one of the greatest comeback victories in franchise history. The Giants trailed early in the fourth quarter, 26-0, before rallying to score four touchdowns to win the game. For the third consecutive week, rookie wide receiver Corey Washington scored the go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter, this time on a four-yard pass from Ryan Nassib with 55 seconds remaining in the game.

Backup quarterbacks Curtis Painter and Nassib (who each threw a touchdown pass) and their fellow second and third-stringers engineered the comeback. That includes the defense, which made some key stops and scored a touchdown on Spencer Adkins' fumble recovery in the end zone. Tight end Kellen Davis scored on a three-yard pass from Painter and Michael Cox scored the fourth touchdown, on a two-yard run.

Eli Manning and his fellow offensive first-teamers played four series in the first half. They gained a total of 53 yards and each possession ended with a punt. Manning completed one of seven passes for six yards (though he did complete a 51-yarder to Victor Cruz, who lost a fumble before the play was nullified by a penalty). In the last two games, Manning has completed one pass in nine attempts. The Giants trailed at halftime, 20-0.

GIANTS 35, JETS 24

Aug. 16, 2014

Lucas Oil Stadium

Ryan Nassib threw 3 touchdowns in the second half and the Giants went on to defeat the Jets in the annual MetLife Bowl, 35-24. The Giants improved to 4-0 this preseason with a game remaining against New England.

The starters had made too few of them in the first three games, when they accounted for only two touchdowns and made punter Steve Weatherford one of the busiest players on the team. The unit has been subjected to persistent criticism in the media, and Coughlin challenged his first team to do more.

They responded with their best all-around performance of the summer. The running game was strong with Rashad Jennings rushing for 67 yards on 13 carries.

Manning's protection was better. But the true highlight was the two-minute drive at the end the half, which could be the catalyst the team has needed as it targets the regular-season opener in Detroit on Sept. 8.

Manning's seven completions on the drive included three to Jerrel Jernigan — who needed a personal boost as much as the team — three to Victor Cruz and the score to Randle.

Rashad Jennings gained seven yards and Manning's pass for Cruz fell incomplete, setting up a third-and-three at the Jets' 36. Manning flipped a short pass that Cruz turned into an 18-yard gain. Three plays later — and immediately after Brandon Mosley's false start penalty — Manning hit Rueben Randle for the much-needed score that seemed to energize the entire team.

GIANTS 16, PATRIOTS 13

Aug. 26, 2014

MetLife Stadium

The Giants concluded a perfect 5-0 preseason with a 16-13 home victory over the New England Patriots.

Josh Brown scored the game-winning points on a 37-yard field goal with 38 seconds to play in the game. Brown also kicked field goals of 24 and 45 yards, the latter three-pointer tying the game midway through the fourth quarter. Peyton Hillis scored the Giants' only touchdown, on a one-yard run late in the second period.

New England scored on Jimmy Garoppolo's 33-yard touchdown pass to Aaron Dobson and Stephen Gostkowski field goals of 37 and 21 yards.

Eli Manning and most of the Giants' starting offense took only eight snaps over two series. Except for holding on a field goal attempt, Patriots quarterback Tom Brady did not play at all.

Ryan Nassib replaced Manning and completed six of 14 passes for 107 yards. The second-year pro completed his preseason with five touchdown passes and no interceptions.

Rookie Andre Williams led the Giants with 44 rushing yards on five carries. Hillis, who had missed the previous three games with ankle and foot injuries ran for 40 yards on 11 attempts.

Tight end Larry Donnell had a team-high four receptions for 60 yards.

Defensively, linebacker Spencer Paysinger had nine tackles (five solo) and rookie Devon Kennard had four unassisted tackles.

The Giants finished with an undefeated preseason record for the first time since they were 4-0 in 2006. Their last perfect preseason of more than four games had been in 1985, when they were 5-0.

HISTORY

HISTORY OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

The city of New York was introduced to professional football on the same day that the city was introduced to the New York Giants. It was a clear sunny October afternoon in 1925 when the Giants took the field to play against the Frankford Yellow Jackets. The Giants lost their home debut by the score of 14-0 to lower their record to 0-3 after opening with two losses on the road. But more importantly, the New York Giants and professional football had arrived.

Tim Mara, a bookmaker (legal at the time) and successful businessman and promoter, purchased the team for a reported $500. In an era when professional football was in the shadows of baseball, boxing and college football, and professional football teams hailed from the towns of Dayton, Rochester and Columbus, league officials believed that a team in a large market such as New York was exactly what was needed to keep pro football alive.

The Giants struggled financially through the first decade but managed to win their first title in only their third season, going 11-1-1 in 1927. With the fall of the Stock Market and the Depression that followed, the 1930s were not off to a great start. Tim Mara suffered substantial losses during the crash that threatened the existence of the Giants. With that fear in mind, Tim Mara handed control of the franchise over to his two sons, Jack Mara, who was twenty-two, and Wellington, who was fourteen. Wellington Mara became the youngest owner of a football team and began his storied career as a major player in the Giants organization.

In 1934 the Giants beat the Chicago Bears, 30-13, in nine-degree temperatures at the Polo Grounds in a game that has become famous as the "Sneakers Game." With the Giants trailing 10-3 at the half, head coach Steve Owen provided his squad with basketball shoes to increase traction on the icy turf. The team responded with four touchdowns in the second half to turn the game into a Giants rout.

If there ever were a time for the National Football League and the New York Giants to fold, it would have come during the years of World War II. The NFL decided to continue during the war despite losing players to military service. Many of the players that stayed behind were older players that were past their prime. Low attendance forced some teams to fold and other teams like the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers to merge into one team. Fortunately, the New York Giants were able to survive the war years and managed to reach three NFL championship games during the 1940s.

The 1950s were filled with Giants players that would become household names and help bring football to a playing field equal to other spectator sports. With the growing interest in professional football, the Giants continued to make strides to attract the most talented players from the college level. By the time the decade was over, Kyle Rote, Eddie Price, Rosie Brown, Frank Gifford, Sam Huff and Tom Landry would send the Giants and professional football into a new era.

The 1960s marked a decade of change for the Giants. Since they were founded in 1925, the Giants had been a talented team filled with success. The 1960s marked a turning point for our country as well as the Giants. After reaching the title games of 1961, 1962, and 1963 the Giants were hit with injuries and a series of retirements to key players that sent the team through a period of mediocrity.

The Giants in the 1970s could best be described as a team in transition. The team called four different stadiums home, played in three different states, and did not play in one postseason game. Teams like the Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears, and Giants, so strong in the NFL's formative years, gave way to new powers like Dallas, Pittsburgh and Minnesota.

The Giants ended almost two decades of losing with one of their most prosperous decades in the 1980s. After finishing in last place or next-to-last eight times in the 1970s, the Giants appeared in three wild card games and won two NFC East division titles. Through the draft and key trades, the Giants slowly built a winning program. By 1986 the championship pieces fit together

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

WHY GIANTS? HOW THE NEW YORK FOOTBALL GIANTS GOT ITS NAME

Owner Tim Mara "borrowed" the Giants' name from the city's Major League Baseball team of the same name. This was not unusual among early day pro football franchises. At one time or another there were NFL franchises named the New York Yankees, Brooklyn Dodgers, Cleveland Indians, Cincinnati Reds, and Detroit Tigers.

HISTORY OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

and the team was back on top with their first Super Bowl appearance and their first world championship since 1956.

The Giants were back on top of the NFL in 1990, winning their second Super Bowl in a dramatic 20-19 win over the Buffalo Bills. The next two years were filled with coaching changes, quarterback controversies, and a step back into the middle of the pack of the National Football League.

In February, 1991, less than a month after winning their second Super Bowl, it was announced that after 66 years of ownership by the Mara family, a 50% interest in the club had been sold to Preston Robert Tisch by Tim Mara. A native of New York City and a lifelong Giants fan, Tisch is one of the country's most successful businessmen.

Dan Reeves was hired as coach before the start of the 1993 season, and he helped bring the Giants back into Super Bowl contention. The Giants finished their first season under Reeves tied with the Detroit Lions for the best turnaround in football, going from 6-10 to 11-5. Reeves was named the NFL Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and others for his efforts.

On January 15, 1997, a new chapter in Giants history began when Jim Fassel was named the 15th head coach. In the first season under Fassel's leadership, the Giants captured the NFC East Championship with a 10-5-1 record. The Giants finished the 1997 season with a 7-0-1 Division record to become the first team ever to go undefeated in NFC East Division play. The Giants fell short of a playoff berth in 1998 after overcoming a 3-7 start to finish with an 8-8 record. The Giants were 7-9 in 2000.

In 2000, the Giants returned to the upper echelon of the NFL. They won the NFC East title and earned home field advantage throughout the playoffs with a 12-4 regular season record. The Giants then beat Philadelphia in the divisional playoffs and routed Minnesota, 41-0, in the NFC Championship Game to advance to the Super Bowl for the third time. But they failed to win the game for the first time, falling to the Baltimore Ravens.

The Giants slipped to 7-9 in 2001, losing their last two games to fall out of playoff contention. In 2002, the Giants won their final four regular season games, including an overtime thriller in the regular season finale against Philadelphia, to clinch a wild card playoff berth. In the third period of the postseason game in San Francisco, the Giants led the 49ers, 38-14. But San Francisco rallied for a 39-38 victory.

Because of their impressive stretch run, the Giants began the 2003 season with high hopes. At midseason, they were in the thick of the playoff race with a 4-4 record. But a second-half collapse against Atlanta set the tone for an eight-game, season-ending losing streak. With two games remaining, the Giants announced that Fassel would not return. On Jan. 6, 2004, Tom Coughlin, a highly-successful head coach at Boston College and with the Jacksonville Jaguars, and a former Giants assistant, was hired as the 16th head coach in Giants history.

In the 2004 NFL Draft, the Giants traded for quarterback Eli Manning, who started the final seven games of his rookie season. The Giants were 6-10 in Coughlin's first year at the helm. In 2005, Manning started every game and the Giants were 11-5 and earned their first playoff berth since 2002 and their first NFC East championship since 2000. The first-place finish was an NFL-record 21st in franchise history. Five Giants were elected to the Pro Bowl, the team's largest contingent since the 1990 Super Bowl champions sent seven. The group was led by running back Tiki Barber, who was second in the NFL in rushing with a team-record 1,860 yards. Barber's 2,390 total yards were the second-highest total in league history. The Giants finished 8-8 in 2006, but made the playoffs as a wild card.

The 2007 season began inauspiciously, with losses in the first two games, but ended as one of the greatest seasons in Giants history. The Giants clinched an NFC wild card postseason berth with a victory in Buffalo in their 15th game. The following week, they narrowly lost to the undefeated New England Patriots in the regular season finale to finish 10-6. What followed was one of the greatest postseason runs in NFL history, one that culminated with an upset of the Patriots in an exhilarating Super Bowl XLII. Along the way, the Giants set an NFL single-season record with 11 consecutive victories away from their home stadium.

The Giants, seeded fifth in the conference, opened postseason play with a 24-14 Wild Card victory at Tampa Bay. Brandon Jacobs scored two touchdowns for the Giants. The following week, the Giants avenged two regular season defeats with a 21-17 triumph over the Cowboys in Dallas in a divisional playoff. Amani Toomer caught two touchdown passes, Jacobs scored on a short run and the defense limited the high-scoring Cowboys to three second-half points.

The Giants captured the conference title with a thrilling 23-20 overtime triumph over the Green Bay Packers in frigid Lambeau Field. The temperature at game time was minus-one degree with a wind-chill factor of minus-23, making it the coldest game in Giants history. Lawrence Tynes — who missed his previous two attempts, including one on the final play of regulation — kicked a 47-yard field goal 2:35 into overtime for the victory. The field goal was set up by Corey Webster's interception of the last pass of Brett Favre's career. Brandon Jacobs and Ahmad Bradshaw scored touchdowns for the Giants and Tynes added field goals of 29 and 37 yards.

Super Bowl XLII was played in University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale, Ariz. The Giants were heavy underdogs to a New England team that was 18-0 and was bidding to conclude the second perfect season in NFL history. But it was the Giants who enjoyed a perfect finish. Trailing, 7-3, entering the fourth quarter, they took their first lead of the game on Manning's five-yard touchdown pass to David Tyree. The score was set up by a 45-yard catch-and-run by rookie tight end Kevin Boss. New England took a 14-10 lead on a six-yard touchdown pass from Tom Brady to Randy Moss with just 2:42 remaining.

The Giants took possession at their own 17 with 2:39 left in the game and Manning proceeded to lead them on one of the great drives in NFL postseason history. The highlight of the 12-play, 83-yard march occurred on third-and-five form the Giants' 44. Manning somehow eluded the grasp of the rushing Patriots line and threw downfield for Tyree, who somehow secured the ball against his helmet for a miracle 32-yard gain. Steve Smith picked up a critical first down before Manning threw the game-winning 13-yard touchdown pass to Plaxico Burress with just 35 seconds remaining. The Giants stopped a last desperate New England possession won win their third Super Bowl in one of the biggest upsets in the game's history.

In 2011, the Giants again won the Super Bowl under very similar circumstances, using a last-minute touchdown to defeat New England, 21-17, in Super Bowl XLVI in Indianapolis. Once again, the Giants shocked the football public by winning the Vince Lombardi. After a home loss to Washington on Dec. 18, their record was 7-7. A loss in either of their final two regular season games would have eliminated them from the playoffs. But they defeated the Jets, 29-14, as the visiting team before routing Dallas on New Year's Night, 31-14, to clinch the NFC East title.

Seeded fourth, the Giants opened the postseason with their third consecutive convincing victory in MetLife Stadium, a 24-2 triumph over the Atlanta Falcons in an NFC Wild Card Game. The following week, Manning threw for 330 yards and three touchdowns, including a Hail Mary to Hakeem Nicks on the final play of the first half, and the Giants crushed the top-seeded and defending champion Green Bay Packers, 37-20, in Lambeau Field. That advanced the Giants to the NFC Championship Game in San Francisco, where they had lost a regular season game two months earlier. This time, Devin Thomas recovered a fumble on a punt return that was forced by Jacquian Williams that led to Tynes' game-winning 31-yard field goal with 7:54 elapsed in overtime and a 20-17 Giants victory.

In the Super Bowl, the Giants jumped ahead, 9-0, before the Patriots scored 17 consecutive points. Two third-quarter field goals by Tynes lifted them to within 17-15. The Giants trailed by that score when they took possession at their own 12-yard line with 3:46 remaining. Manning then reprised the fourth-quarter magic he had used to win the previous Super Bowl and seven games in the 2011 season. He immediately threw a perfect strike down the left sideline to Mario Manningham for a 38-yard gain. He completed five of six passes on the drive and 10 of 14 in the decisive quarter. Ahmad Bradshaw scored the game-winning touchdown by backing into the end zone on a six-yard run with 57 seconds remaining. The defense withstood one last Patriots rally to secure the Giants' second Super Bowl victory in five seasons and fourth overall.

In 2012, the Giants finished with a winning record for the third year in a row, but their 9-7 mark – the same record they had the previous season, when they won the Super Bowl – left them in second place in the NFC East and out of the playoffs. The Giants finished 6-2 at home, their finest home mark since they were 7-1 in 2008. They were 4-4 at home in 2011 championship season. The Giants scored 429 points, the second-highest total in franchise history; the 1963 Giants scored 448. The 2012 season was the fifth in the 88-year history of the franchise in which the Giants scored more than 400 points. The Giants scored a franchise-record 278 points at home, shattering the old mark of 248, set in 2007. They allowed an NFL-low 20 sacks. The Giants' plus-14 turnover differential was their best since they were plus-25 in 1997. The Giants intercepted 21 passes in 2012, their highest total since they had 27 picks, also in 1997.

YEAR-BY-YEAR HISTORY THE NEW YORK GIANTS

Tim Mara purchased a National Football League franchise for New York for $500. Bob Folwell was named head coach and all-time great Jim Thorpe was signed. Thorpe was later released by the team after the third game of the season. The Giants played their first game at the Polo Grounds, losing to the Frankford Yellow Jackets, 14-0. Later that season, more than 70,000 jammed the Polo Grounds to see the Giants play Red Grange and the Chicago Bears. The Giants went 8-4 in their first season.

1926

Bob Folwell left and was replaced by Dr. Joseph Alexander as head coach. Despite an 8-4-1 record in 1926, Tim Mara lost $40,000. After the season concluded, the seventh place Giants faced the American Football League champion Philadelphia Quakers. The Giants won convincingly, 31-0.

1927

Earl Potteiger replaced Dr. Joseph Alexander in 1927 and the Giants won their first title with an 11-1-1 record. (Note: until the NFL's playoff system was established in 1933, the team with the league's best record was awarded the championship title.) In the 13-game season the Giants defense posted ten shutouts and allowed only 20 points all year.

1928

After a dismal 4-7-2 season in 1928, Tim Mara decided it was best to clean house. Head coach Earl Potteiger and eighteen players were not asked to return for the following season. Tackle Steve Owen would be the only returning starter from that season. It still ranks as one of the most massive turnovers in football history.

1929

Before the season began, Tim Mara purchased a struggling Detroit Wolverines franchise in order to obtain the rights to quarterback Benny Friedman and the best of the Detroit players for the Giants. LeRoy Andrews became the new head coach. The 13-1-1 Giants averaged 25,000 fans, turned a small profit and narrowly lost the NFL title to the Green Bay Packers, who finished 12-0-1.

For the second consecutive season the Green Bay Packers edged out the Giants for the title. Ownership of the club was turned over to Jack and Wellington Mara, the two sons of the founder. On December 14, the Giants played a team of former Notre Dame All-Stars coached by the legendary Knute Rockne. Fifty-five thousand fans turned out at the Polo Grounds to see the Giants win the contest, 22-0. The proceeds of $115,153 went to the New York Unemployment Fund to help those suffering due to the Great Depression.

1931

After an All-American season at Washington State, center Mel Hein wrote to three NFL teams offering his service. The Giants bid the most at $150 per game and Hein was signed to a contract. Former tackle Steve Owen was named head coach. The Giants finished in 5th place with a 7-6-1 record.

1932

Considered a rebuilding year, the Giants finished the season with a 4-6-2 record. On November 20, the Giants faced the defending champion Green Bay Packers. Expected to be an easy win for the undefeated Packers, 8-0-1 at the time, the Giants displayed promise for the future with a hard-fought, 6-0, victory. End Ray Flaherty became the NFL's first official pass-reception champion with 21 catches.

1933

The Giants won the Eastern Division of the newly-divided NFL with an impressive 11-3 record. 1933 was also the year the NFL established a new playoff system and in the league's first championship game, the Giants lost to the Western Division champion Chicago Bears, 23-21, at Wrigley Field in Chicago.

1934

In what is now known as the “Sneakers Game,” the Giants defeated the Chicago Bears 30-13 for the NFL title. Trailing 13-3 in the third quarter, some of the Giants players changed into basketball shoes to increase traction on the icy Polo Grounds turf. The Giants responded with a 27-point fourth quarter to capture the championship.

1935

After beginning the season with a 4-3 record, the Giants rolled off five consecutive victories, shutting out their opponents four times, and finished with a 9-3 record and first place in the Eastern Division. The Giants advanced to their third straight NFL championship game, but lost to the Detroit Lions, 26-7, at Detroit.

1936

The initial NFL draft was held in 1936, and the Giants first pick was Art Lewis, a tackle from Ohio University. The Giants finished with a 5-6-1 record, marking only the third time in the team’s twelve-year history that it did not have a winning record.

1937

Seventeen rookies helped make up the 25-man roster in 1937, a season that also marked the debut of the now-familiar blue jerseys. The Giants lost to the Washington Redskins on the last day of the season and finished as a runner-up in the Eastern Division with a 6-3-2 record.

1938

A 23-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers produced the Giants third NFL title. A crowd of 48,120 fans attended the title game at the Polo Grounds in New York, a playoff record at the time. With the victory, the Giants earned the distinction of being the first NFL team to win two championship games.

1939

On January 15, the Giants defeated the Pro All-Stars, 13-10, in the first Pro Bowl held at Wrigley Field, Chicago. During the 1939 season, in front of 32,279 fans at Milwaukee State Fair Park, the Green Bay Packers avenged the 1938 loss with a 27-0 drubbing of the Giants in the NFL title game.

1940

The Giants finished third in the East with a 6-4-1 record. Midway through the season, leading rusher Tuffy Leemans was lost for the year with a back injury. Center Mel Hein was the only Giant to win All-Pro honors, accomplishing the feat for the 10th year in a row.

1941

With just 50 seconds to go in the 1941 Eastern Division championship game, the Washington Redskins held a 13-10 lead, but the Giants scored a field goal and a touchdown to win, 20-13, and advance to the NFL title game. In the wake of Pearl Harbor, only 13,341 spectators turned out to see Chicago top the Giants in the title game, 37-9.

1942

After losing many players to the service, the Giants finished with a 5-5-1 record and in third place in the Eastern Division. The Giants recorded a memorable victory in the season opener, defeating the Washington Redskins, 14-7, although they didn’t have a first down, gained only one yard rushing and completed just one pass. That pass happened to go for a touchdown. The Giants also scored on an intercepted return and handed the Redskins their only defeat in their championship season.

1943

With the league down to just nine teams due to World War II, the Giants overcame a 2-2-1 start to finish with a 6-3-1 record. The Giants advanced to the Eastern Division championship game where they dropped a 28-0 decision to the Washington Redskins.

1944

Luring quarterback Arnie Herber and back Ken Strong out of retirement, the Giants scored five shutouts en route to the Eastern Division title, but lost the NFL championship game at the Polo Grounds in New York to the Green Bay Packers, 14-7.

1945

The War ended in 1945, but the Giants finished with their worst record to date. The Giants started the year off with a 34-6 win at Pittsburgh, but everything seemed to collapse after the opener. The Giants 3-6-1 record was only one game better than the last place Pittsburgh Steelers.

1946

Quarterback Frankie Filchock, an understudy to Sammy Baugh at Washington, signed with the Giants for a reported $35,000. Filchock and teammate, back Merle Hapes, were questioned about an attempt by a New York man to fix the championship game with the Chicago Bears. Hapes was suspended indefinitely for the alleged gambling involvement, but Filchock was allowed to continue playing. The Giants went on to lose the title game to Chicago, 24-14.

The Giants went from the title game in 1946 to the cellar, finishing with a 2-8-2 record, including a seven-game losing streak. Halfback Frank Reagan tied for the league lead with ten interceptions for 203 yards. Reagan also tied for the league's punting championship with 61 kicks for a 42.8 average.

1948

The Giants renovation was accelerated in 1948 when they acquired quarterback Charlie Conerly from the Washington Redskins. The franchise reached another milestone in its illustrious existence, but it had nothing to do with their 4-8 record. That season, the Giants signed their first black player, defensive back Emlen Tunnell.

1949

Giants head coach Steve Owen switched from the "A" formation to the "T," which helped the Giants improve to a 6-6 record. Allie Sherman was hired to work with quarterback Charlie Conerly. The Giants shared the Polo Grounds with another NFL team, the New York Bulldogs.

1950

The Giants and New York Bulldogs divided the players of the former All-American Football Conference Yankees. The Giants received a young defensive back from Texas, Tom Landry, and a defensive tackle from Washington, Arnie Weinmeister. The Giants finished with a surprising 10-2 record and tied for first place with the Cleveland Browns, their first season above .500 since the Eastern Division championship season of 1946. The Browns defeated the Giants, 8-3, in the American Conference playoff game.

1951

End Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist was the Giants bonus pick in the draft, but he was injured in the preseason and saw little action. The Giants finished in second place with a 9-2-1 record, behind the only team they would lose to all season, the Cleveland Browns. Fullback Eddie Price led the NFL in rushing with 971 yards.

1952

Tailback Frank Gifford of USC was drafted number one. Playing in his fifth year, Emlen Tunnell gained more yardage on kick returns and interceptions (924) than the league's leading rusher, Dan Towler (894), of the Los Angeles Rams.

1953

Tackle Roosevelt "Rosie" Brown Jr. of Morgan State, a future Hall of Famer, was the Giants 27th pick in the 1953 NFL draft. Steve Owen retired at the end of the season after 23 years as the Giants head coach. Owen was asked to keep his affiliation with the Giants as a scout in the personnel department, a position he held for one year.

Former Giants end Jim Lee Howell was promoted from end coach to head coach. The Canadian Football League began a series of raids on NFL teams, signing Giants three-time Pro-Bowl defensive tackle Arnie Weinmeister, among others. In an effort to save the Giants and the NFL, Wellington Mara went out and signed the best player in the CFL, Montreal Alouettes halfback Alex Webster.

1955

On August 28, the sudden-death rule was used for the first time in a preseason game between the Giants and the Los Angeles Rams in Portland, Oregon. The Rams won, 23-17, three minutes into overtime. After opening with three straight losses, the Giants got their act together and finished with a 6-5-1 record.

1956

Defensive end Andy Robustelli was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams. The Giants switched their home games from the Polo Grounds to Yankee Stadium. A 47-7 rout of the Chicago Bears produced New York's first NFL championship since 1938. Linebacker Sam Huff, who was originally drafted as an offensive lineman but was switched to MLB when Ray Beck went down with an injury, was voted Rookie of the Year. Frank Gifford was named NFL Player of the Year and tackle Rosie Brown was named the NFL's Lineman of the Year.

The Giants were still in the running for the title in 1957 until they dropped their final three games. For the second straight season Frank Gifford finished in the top ten in both receiving (fourth) and rushing (tenth), with 588 yards receiving and 528 yards rushing. Gifford also completed four of six passes for 143 yards and two touchdowns.

1958

After completing the season at 9-3, the Giants faced a Cleveland Browns team led by running back Jim Brown in the Eastern Conference playoff game. Brown, who had gained an NFL-record

YEAR-BY-YEAR HISTORY THE NEW YORK GIANTS

1,527 yards rushing, was held to just eight yards by the stingy New York defense as the Giants prevailed, 10-0. Advancing to the title game, the Giants lost to the Baltimore Colts, 23-17, in the first sudden death overtime in an NFL championship game. That game has been referred to as, "The Greatest Game Ever Played."

1959

On February 4, assistant offensive coach Vince Lombardi left to join the Green Bay Packers as their new head coach. On February 17, Giants co-founder Tim Mara died. The Baltimore Colts exploded for 24 points in the fourth quarter to defeat New York in the NFL title game for the second straight year.

1960

1961

The NY logo was added to the helmets for the 1961 season. Allie Sherman replaced the retired Jim Lee Howell as head coach. The Giants obtained quarterback Y.A. Tittle (San Francisco) and end Del Shofner (Los Angeles) in trades. Back Alex Webster gained 928 yards to help the Giants reach the NFL title game. With the league championship on the line, the Giants were no match for the Green Bay Packers, losing 37-0.

1962

Back Frank Gifford, who returned to the team from retirement, quarterback Y.A. Tittle, end Del Shofner and back Alex Webster led the Giants into the NFL title game against the Green Bay Packers. Held in Yankee Stadium, 64,892 fans watched as Green Bay prevailed, 16-7. Defensive end Andy Robustelli was named the NFL's top player.

1963

Quarterback Y.A. Tittle threw 36 touchdown passes and kicker Don Chandler led the league with 106 points (52-pat, 18-fg) in scoring as the Giants romped to their third straight conference title. Halfback Dick Lynch tied for the league lead with nine interceptions for 251 return yards and a record-setting three touchdowns. With Tittle injured in the second quarter, New York lost yet another bid for the league championship, dropping a 14-10 decision to the Chicago Bears.

1964

Defensive end Andy Robustelli ended his long playing career with the Giants and became a full-time defensive coach. For the first time in 17 years, the Giants finished in last place in their conference with a 2-10-2 record. Backs Alex Webster and Frank Gifford announced their retirement at the end of the season.

1965

Quarterback Y.A. Tittle announced his retirement on January 22 at Mamma Leone's restaurant in New York City. Offensive lineman Jack Stroud also retired. On June 15, Jack Mara died after serving as team president for thirty-one years. The Giants rebounded with a 7-7 record, good enough for second place in the Eastern Conference.

1966

Before the season began, tackle Rosie Brown retired after 13 years of service to the team. The Giants had their worst season to date, finishing with a 1-12-1 record. They allowed a then NFL-record 501 points. Kicker Pete Gogolak became the first American Football League player to cross to the NFL.

1967

On March 7, the Giants announced the acquisition of quarterback Fran Tarkenton from the Minnesota Vikings. To get Tarkenton, the Giants gave up their first and second-round picks in 1967, number one pick in 1968, and second-round pick in 1969. Tarkenton's 29 touchdown passes led the Giants to a 7-7 record and a second place finish in the newly named Century Division of the Eastern Conference.

1968

Opening the season with four straight wins and concluding it with four consecutive losses, the Giants finished with a 7-7 record in Allie Sherman's last season as head coach. End Homer Jones became only the second Giant, behind end Del Shofner, to record 1,000 receiving yards or more in three successive seasons.

1969

The Giants lost, 37-14, to the New York Jets in the first of the annual preseason meetings. Former back Alex Webster replaced Allie Sherman as head coach. After losing seven games in a row, the Giants finished with three straight victories to capture second place in the Century Division with a 6-8 record.

After losing their first three games, the Giants won six in a row, including an upset win over the first place Dallas Cowboys, 23-20. Heading into the final game of the season, the Giants were still in a position to make the playoffs, but they lost a home game against the Los Angeles Rams, 31-3, and were left out of the postseason with a 9-5 record. Running back Ron Johnson became the Giants first 1,000-yard rusher, totaling 1,027 yards.

1971

After a disappointing 4-10 finish in 1971, quarterback Fran Tarkenton asked for a trade. The Giants obliged and traded him back to the Minnesota Vikings for quarterback Norm Snead, two additional players and draft choices. Bob Tucker became the first tight end in Giants history to lead the league in receptions with 59 catches.

1972

Quarterback Norm Snead, obtained in the Fran Tarkenton trade, led the league in passing and the Giants finished above .500 for only the second time in nine years with an 8-6 record. On November 26, the Giants offense scored eight touchdowns against the Philadelphia Eagles, setting a Giants all time one-game scoring record. Kicker Pete Gogolak added a pair of field goals to bring the final score to 62-10.

1973

Prior to the final game of the season, head coach Alex Webster announced his retirement. New York lost the game 31-7 to the Minnesota Vikings to close out the year at 2-11-1. After two games at Yankee Stadium, the Giants played the rest of their home games at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Connecticut.

1974

Bill Arnsparger was named the Giants ninth head coach. Quarterback Norm Snead was traded to the San Francisco 49ers. In addition, quarterback Craig Morton was obtained from the Dallas Cowboys. For the second straight season, the Giants won only two games and finished in fifth place in the NFC East with a 2-12 record.

1975

The Giants finished in fourth place in the NFC East with a 5-9 record. The team played all of its home games at Shea Stadium while they waited for Giants Stadium to open. DE George Martin made the team as an 11th round draft choice out of Oregon.

1976

Larry Csonka, the former Miami running back who had played in the World Football League, signed as a free agent. Snead was reacquired from San Francisco. The Giants moved to Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, New Jersey. Arnsparger was fired in midseason and replaced by assistant coach John McVay, who signed a long-term contract following the 3-11 season.

Morton was traded to Denver. The Giants improved to a 5-9 record. McVay went with Joe Pisarcik and Jerry Golsteyn at quarterback. Csonka rushed for 100 yards on the last day of the season and finished the year with 464 yards.

1978

The Giants had a 5-3 record at the halfway point of the season but lost seven of its final eight games and finished 6-10. Punter Dave Jennings and linebackers Harry Carson and Brad Van Pelt were named to the NFC Pro Bowl team. McVay was fired in late December. Robustelli, who had been the Giants' director of operations since 1974, resigned. George Young was named general manager in January, 1979. He announced the appointment of San Diego Chargers assistant Ray Perkins as head coach.

1979

Before the season began, tragedy struck as defensive tackle Troy Archer was killed in a traffic accident on June 22. Rookie Phil Simms, a first round choice, took over at quarterback. But the Giants had another 6-10 record. Dave Jennings led the NFC with a 42.7-yard punting average.

1980

A porous defense allowed opponents to score 425 points, the second-highest total in the NFL. The Giants fell to 4-12. A highlight was a 38-35 defeat of Dallas that ended an eight-game losing streak. Dave Jennings led NFL punters with a 44.8-yard average.

1981

With the second selection in the draft, New York chose Lawrence Taylor, a linebacker from North Carolina. The Giants started slowly, going 2-3, before obtaining running back Rob Carpenter from Houston. Carpenter sparked a three-game winning streak. The Giants lost three straight to drop to 5-6. Second-year quarterback Scott Brunner replaced an injured Phil Simms and the team responded with four victories in the final five weeks, including a 13-10 overtime defeat of Dallas in the season finale that sent them into the playoffs. On December 27, the Giants defeated the Eagles 27-21 in the NFC wild card game. The season ended for

New York on January 3 when it was defeated by the 49ers 38-21 in a divisional playoff game.

A wild and turbulent year in which the NFL players' strike shortened the season to just nine games. The final game played before the strike pitted the Giants and Packers on a Monday night from Giants Stadium in which a power failure caused a blackout during the game. Rob Carpenter was a holdout until late November, returning to play in just the final five games. On December 15, head coach Ray Perkins resigned to accept the head coaching job at Alabama, with defensive coordinator Bill Parcells being named to replace him in 1983. The Giants then lost two straight after the Perkins' announcement, and missed the playoffs on the final day of the season with a 4-5 record. Despite the adversity, four Giants — Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Mark Haynes and Dave Jennings — were named to the Pro Bowl.

1983

After breaking even in their first four games for a 2-2 record, the Giants were decimated by injuries during the rest of the year, with a total of 25 players appearing on the injured reserve list at one time or another. With players such as Harry Carson, Phil Simms and Rob Carpenter missing most of the season, and with the club leading the entire NFL in turnovers with 58 on 31 interceptions and 27 lost fumbles, the record tumbled to 3-12-1. The year was also marred by the tragic deaths of assistant coach Bob Ledbetter and former star running back Doug Kotar. Four players were nonetheless named to the Pro Bowl again—Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Mark Haynes and rookie place-kicker Ali Haji-Sheikh who set an NFL record with 35 field goals.

With Phil Simms enjoying his first full season at quarterback, the Giants earned the NFC wild card playoff berth, finishing with a 9-7 mark and second place in the NFC East. Simms set three single-season club records with 286 completions in 533 attempts for 4,044 yards. The Giants knocked off the Los Angeles Rams 16-13 in that wild card game, then bowed to the eventual Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers 21-10 in the divisional playoff. Taylor, Carson and Haynes were again named to the Pro Bowl, while head coach Bill Parcells was named NFC East Coach of the Year and five rookies—Karl Nelson, Gary Reasons, Carl Banks, Perry Williams and Bobby Johnson—were named to the All-NFL Rookie team.

With a final 10-6 mark, the Giants put back-to-back winning seasons on the board for the first time in 22 years, won another trip to the playoffs and had their first home playoff game since 1962, winning 17-3 over the defending Super Bowl champion 49ers. Again, the club lost in the divisional playoffs to the eventual Super Bowl champion team, the Chicago Bears, 21-0. Five players—Lawrence Taylor, Harry Carson, Phil Simms, Joe Morris and Leonard Marshall—were named to the Pro Bowl. There were 12 team records set by this club, and 16 individual club records. Morris set a team records with 1,336 rushing yards and 21 touchdowns. Simms set club marks with 40 completions and 513 passing yards in a game. Marshall added another club mark with 15 1/2 QB sacks in a season, while rookie TE Mark Bavaro, an All-NFL Rookie team choice set a club mark with 12 receptions in one game.

1986

The club's first Super Bowl championship, an all-time final record of 17-2, as well as a club record 12 straight victories, made this year the greatest in team history. The Giants also set a record for all-time composite margin of victory in the playoffs, outscoring three opponents 105-23, for an 82-point domination, the most ever in NFL playoff history. Phil Simms was the MVP of the 39-20 Super Bowl victory over Denver after completing a playoff record 88% of his passes (22-25). Lawrence Taylor was named the league's MVP. Joe Morris broke his own club rushing record with 1,516 yards, and eight players—Taylor, Morris, Harry Carson, Leonard Marshall, Jim Burt, Brad Benson, Mark Bavaro and Sean Landeta, were named to the Pro Bowl. Coach Bill Parcells was a unanimous NFL Coach of the Year in all the national polls, the Giants were 10-0 at home, including regular season and the two playoff games, and the team set attendance records at home and on the road.

1987

After winning the Super Bowl, the Giants dropped to a 6-9 record, thanks to an 0-5 start in a season that included a players strike and three games with replacement players. In addition, injuries sidelined 11 starters. While the Giants finished with six wins in its final ten games, it was a case of too little, too late. Despite the final record, four players—Lawrence Taylor, Carl Banks, Harry Carson and Mark Bavaro—were selected to the Pro Bowl and all four also were named to various All-NFL teams.

1988

The Giants bounced back and after splitting the first six games, engineered a 7-2 run which had them all alone in first-place in the NFC East with a 10-5 record heading into the final weekend of the season. But an upset loss to the Jets not only knocked the Giants out of first-place, but also cost them a playoff berth. The Giants 10-6 record gave them a five-year mark of 54-32 (.628), including postseason play. Those 54 victories were the most in club history for any five-year span. Joe Morris set a club record with his third 1,000-plus rushing season and Lionel Manuel had his first 1,000-yard receiving year. Morris also surpassed Alex Webster as the Giants' career rushing leader, moving past the 5,000-yard plateau. Lawrence Taylor was named to his eighth straight Pro Bowl and All-NFL designation and safety Terry Kinard was selected for his first Pro Bowl appearance.

1989

Despite the loss of several starters due to injuries, the Giants won their second NFC East championship in four years with a 12-4 record. Otis Anderson rushed for 1,023 yards at the age of 32 as the replacement for the injured Joe Morris and rookie David Meggett set club marks with 582 punt return yards and a 12.7 average, while also accounting for 1,807 all-purpose yards. Linebacker Lawrence Taylor equaled an NFL record by being named to his ninth consecutive Pro Bowl, and also ran his league record sack total to 104. Meggett also went to the Pro Bowl and scored a TD.

1990

The Giants started the season by winning its first ten games, and eventually won the division with a 13-3 record despite losing Phil Simms late in the year. With Jeff Hostetler at the helm, the club surged through the playoffs to win their second Super Bowl title with a stirring 20-19 win over the Buffalo Bills. Seven Giant players were named to the Pro Bowl, including Lawrence Taylor for a record-setting 10th straight year. Veteran running back Otis Anderson won Super Bowl MVP honors after rushing for 102 yards. At season's end, the Mara family's sole ownership ended when Tim Mara sold his 50% share of the club to Preston Robert Tisch, who became Chairman and Co-Chief Executive Officer. In May, 1991, head coach Bill Parcells resigned after a career mark of 85-52-1 and was succeeded by offensive coordinator Ray Handley.

In Ray Handley's first year as head coach, the Giants were in contention for another playoff spot late in the year with a 7-5 record, then dropped three straight to finish at 8-8 and out of the playoffs. Jeff Hostetler became the starting quarterback, but was injured late in the season and Phil Simms finished the campaign. Simms added his 15th club record when he passed Charlie Conerly for career TD passes with 179. Rodney Hampton became the fourth back in club history to rush for 1,000 yards when he finished the year with 1,059. Center Bart Oates was named to his second consecutive Pro Bowl.

1992

Ray Handley's team struggled through a 6-10 season as injuries to key players hurt the team. Phil Simms regained his starting quarterback spot, but was limited to starting the first four games before an elbow injury forced him to miss the rest of the season. Before his injury, Simms became just the 14th player in NFL history to surpass 30,000 passing yards. Jeff Hostetler started the next nine games before being forced to the sidelines with a concussion. In the ninth game of the season against Green Bay, Lawrence Taylor injured his Achilles tendon that placed his career in jeopardy. After announcing plans to retire following the season, Taylor re-considered and decided to re-join the Giants. RB Rodney Hampton turned in another outstanding season, rushing for 1,141 yards and earning his first trip to the Pro Bowl. After dismissing Handley, George Young hired former Denver Broncos head coach Dan Reeves to lead the team in 1993.

1993

Dan Reeves and a rejuvenated Phil Simms led the Giants to an 11-5 regular season record. The Giants finished second to Dallas in the NFC East race, a race that was decided on the final Sunday of the regular season when Dallas defeated the Giants, 16-13, in overtime at Giants Stadium. Reeves became the first Giants head coach to lead his team to the playoffs in his initial campaign since Allie Sherman in 1963. Reeves was selected as NFL Coach of the Year by several organizations, including the Associated Press, which bases its honor on voting by coaches around the league. The Giants earned a wild card berth in the playoffs and defeated the Minnesota Vikings at Giants Stadium, 17-10, in the Wild Card game. San Francisco defeated the Giants, 44-3, at Candlestick Park in an NFC divisional playoff game. Following the San Francisco game, LB Lawrence Taylor announced his retirement, capping a 13-year career that altered the nature of the game. Taylor was elected into the Pro Football Hall of Fame at the conclusion of the 1998 season.

After a 3-7 start, the Giants climbed back into playoff contention with a six-game winning streak that resulted in a 9-7 record. The Giants came into Week 16 needing a victory over the World Champion Dallas Cowboys, combined with a Tampa Bay Buccaneers victory over the Green Bay Packers, to win a wild card berth. The Giants defeated Dallas, 15-10, but the season ended when the Bucs lost to the Packers, 34-19. Dave Brown won the starting quarterback job in training camp and responded by leading the team to a 9-6 record in games that he started. Rodney Hampton finished the season with 1,075 yards to become the first Giant in history to record four career 1,000-yard seasons. The 1994 season was the first in many years that the Giants roster did not include Lawrence Taylor or Phil Simms. Taylor's jersey number 56 was officially retired at halftime of the Giants-Minnesota Monday Night game on Oct. 10. Simms was released on June 15, prior to the start of training camp.

The Giants concluded the 1995 season with a 5-11 record, their worst mark since 1983 when they were 3-12-1. The Giants lost seven games that were decided on the final drive of the game. In six of those games, the Giants were either tied or leading at some point in the fourth quarter. A highlight of the 1995 season was the play of Rodney Hampton, who turned in the best season of his six-year career with 1,182 yards rushing on 306 carries. Hampton became the Giants all-time leading rusher (5,989) on 10-29 at Washington on his third carry of the game, a workman-like two-yard run for a first down. Phil Simms jersey number 11 was officially retired at halftime of the Giants-Dallas Monday Night game on Sept. 4, 1995.

For the first time since 1982-83, the Giants finished with a losing record in consecutive seasons as they closed out the 1996 campaign with a 6-10 record. Following the 23-22 defeat to New England in the season finale, the Giants dismissed head coach Dan Reeves. On January 15, the Giants hired Jim Fassel as the 15th head coach in the team's history. The Giants stood at 5-7 on December 1 after a 20-6 upset of the defending world champion Dallas Cowboys and headed into a game against the Philadelphia Eagles with a chance at the NFC playoff field. In one of the lowest moments of the year, the Giants were officially eliminated from playoff contention with a 24-0 loss to the Eagles. The Giants improved to 6-8 but dropped two consecutive home contests and secured a last place finish in the NFC East for the first time in a non-strike season since 1983. The Giants defense played solid all season, but the offense struggled, finishing last in the National Football League. The Giants ground game failed to generate a 100-yard rushing performer and averaged just 100.3 yards per game, the lowest non-strike total since the Giants had 100.3 in 1964. The Giants defense held the opposition to 10 points or less in six games and had a streak of 7.5 straight games (30 quarters) without allowing the opponent's offense a touchdown pass.

In his first season as head coach of the Giants, Jim Fassel led his team to a 10-5-1 record and the team's first NFC East Championship since the 1990 Super Bowl season. The Giants started the year with a 1-3 record before rebounding to become the 15th team in NFL history to finish in first place in their division the season after finishing in last place. The Giants finished the 1997 season with a 7-0-1 Division record to become the first team ever to go undefeated in NFC East Division play. Second-year QB Danny Kanell filled in for an injured Dave Brown and led the Giants to a victory over the Dallas Cowboys in Week Six. Kanell was eventually named the new starting quarterback and finished with a 7-2-1 record. His season was highlighted by a three-touchdown performance at Philadelphia in a key NFC East victory on December 7. The Giants defense blossomed into one of the NFL's strongest, finishing first in the league with a franchise-record 44 takeaways. The Giants defense led the league in interceptions with 27 and finished third in the NFL with 54 sacks. The season ended when the Minnesota Vikings overcame a 19-3 second half deficit to pull out a 23-22 victory at Giants Stadium in a Wild Card game. Fassel was named NFL Coach of the Year by numerous publications, including The Sporting News, which is determined by a vote of NFL coaches. Jessie Armstead set a team-record with 134 total tackles and was named a starter on the NFC Pro Bowl squad. DE Michael Strahan set a career-mark in sacks, finishing tied for third in the NFL with 14. Strahan was also named a starter for the NFC Pro Bowl squad. At the end of the season, George Young announced that he was leaving the Giants to become Vice President of Football Operations in the National Football League office. Ernie Accorsi was named the team's new General Manager.

After overcoming a 3-7 start, the Giants remained in the hunt for a playoff berth until the final week and finished with an 8-8 record. The Giants won five out of their last six games, including a 20-16 victory over the previously undefeated (13-0) and eventual Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos. Entering the final game, the Giants needed a victory over Philadelphia, combined with a Tampa Bay loss and an Arizona loss, to qualify as the third wild card participant in the NFC playoff field. The Giants beat the Eagles at Veterans Stadium, but the Buccaneers and Cardinals were victorious to spoil the Giants playoff hopes. Kent Graham replaced Danny Kanell at quarterback after the team fell to 3-7 and finished with a 5-1 record in the starting role. Gary Brown emerged as the Giants top running back, reaching the 1,000-yard mark with a career-best 1,063 yards that included six 100-yard games. Jessie Armstead and Michael Strahan were selected to represent the NFC in the Pro Bowl for the second straight season. Armstead eclipsed the 100-tackle mark for the third straight year with 101 tackles (75 solos). Strahan set a career-high with 15 sacks as he triggered a Giants defense that led the league with 54 sacks.

1999

For the second straight year, the Giants entered the final week of the regular season with a chance to make the NFL's postseason field. The difference between the two seasons is that in 1998 the Giants won five of their last six games. In 1999, victories over the Jets and at Buffalo raised the Giants' record to 7-6; however, the Giants dropped their last three games to finish 7-9. It was the team's first losing season in three years under head coach Jim Fassel. The final blow was a 26-18 loss at Dallas, a game that followed the Giants' elimination from the playoff race with Green Bay's victory over Arizona earlier in the day. In spite of the obvious disappointment, a few bright spots emerged for the Giants in 1999. The Giants set records on offense, led by Amani Toomer, who established a team single-season record with 79 receptions (breaking Earnest Gray's record of 78 receptions set in 1983). Toomer fell 26 yards shy of the team record of 1,209 receiving yards, set by Homer Jones in 1967. Also, for the first time in the 75-year history of the team, the Giants had four receivers record over 50 receptions in a season: Toomer (79), Ike Hilliard (72), Tiki Barber (66), and Pete Mitchell (58). Jessie Armstead and Michael Strahan were selected to represent the NFC in the Pro Bowl for the third consecutive season. Armstead surpassed the 100-tackle mark for the fourth straight year with 124 tackles (97 solos) and recorded a career-high 9.0 sacks. Strahan recorded 56 tackles (41 solos) and posted 5.5 sacks. QB Kerry Collins started the final six games of the season after replacing Kent Graham in the lineup following the 10th game.

2000

The Giants enjoyed their finest season in a decade, winning the NFC East and home-field advantage in the playoffs with a 12-4 record before defeating Philadelphia and Minnesota to advance to Super Bowl XXXV. The highlight of the season was a 41-0 victory over Minnesota in the NFC Championship game at Giants Stadium. In their first Super Bowl appearance in 10 years, the Giants lost to Baltimore, 34-7. The Giants took a seven-game winning streak into the Super Bowl, a surge that began after Jim Fassel issued his now-famous playoff guarantee on November 22. The Giants finished 7-1 in the division and 7-1 away from Giants Stadium. The seven road victories tied a franchise record set in 1930 (when three of the road games were in Newark, Staten Island and Brooklyn) and marked the first time since 1963 that the Giants lost just one game as visitors. The Giants averaged 125.6 rushing yards a game, a robust 37.5-yard gain over the 1999 average. Quarterback Kerry Collins was sacked 28 times; in 1999 Giants quarterbacks were sacked 42 times. Collins had the best season of his career, setting career highs in passes (529), completions (311), completion percentage (58.8) and touchdown passes (22). Halfback Tiki Barber set a Giants record of 2,085 all-purpose yards (1,006 rushing, 719 receiving, 332 punt returns and 28 on kickoff returns). Amani Toomer caught 78 passes (one less than the franchise record he set in 1999). Ike Hilliard led the team with a 14.3-yard average and eight touchdown catches. The defense was second in the NFL against the run (72.3 yards a game) and fifth in points allowed (15.4 per game). In 359 rushing attempts, opponents had an NFL-best two runs of longer than 20 yards. Jessie Armstead led the team with 102 tackles — his fifth consecutive season with more than a hundred tackles — and was selected to his fourth straight Pro Bowl. Defensive tackle Keith Hamilton had the best season of his nine-year career. He was a dominating run-stopper and he led the Giants with 10 sacks, an impressive feat for a tackle. Defensive end Michael Strahan had perhaps his finest all-around season and raised his sack total from 5.5 in 1999 to 9.5.

After a strong 3-1 start, the Giants lost eight of their last 12 games and finished 7-9 and in third place in the NFC East, the third time in as many tries they failed to make the playoffs a season after reaching the Super Bowl. The terrorist attacks in New York and Washington on Sept. 11 — the day after the Giants lost their Monday night opener in Denver — made the rest of season a minor footnote by comparison. After the attacks, many players reached out to victims' families, firefighters, police officers and other rescue workers and their children. Despite the disappointing record, the season included many highlights, notably Michael Strahan setting a new NFL single-season record with 22.5 sacks. Kerry Collins became the first quarterback in league history to throw every one of his team's passes in two consecutive seasons. Collins set team marks for passes (568) and completions (327). Tiki Barber accounted for 1,782 total yards, Mike Barrow set a team record with 135 tackles, Morten Andersen became the second-leading scorer in NFL history, Howard Cross set a new franchise record for games played (207), Amani Toomer caught more than 70 passes for the third season in a row, rookie Rodney Williams established a team record with a 90-yard punt against the Broncos and Jessie Armstead played in his fifth consecutive Pro Bowl (and was joined in Hawaii by Strahan and Ron Stone). Although they struggled with two three-game losing streaks, the Giants thrilled their fans with scintillating last-second victories over Dallas (in overtime), Arizona and Seattle. After the defeat in Denver — and a week off after the NFL's decision not to play the Sunday after the attacks — the Giants won three straight, against Kansas City, New Orleans and Washington. The winning streak was followed by consecutive heartbreaking 1-point losses to St. Louis and Philadelphia, and a defeat at Washington. The Giants then rebounded with victories over Dallas and Arizona before again dropping three straight, to Minnesota, Oakland and Dallas. They played their way back into playoff contention with dramatic triumphs over Arizona and Seattle, but closed the season with losses to Philadelphia and Green Bay.

An exciting and rewarding season concluded with the Giants winning their final four regular season games to finish 10-6 and in second place in the NFC East. More importantly, they earned a Wild Card berth in the NFC playoffs, where they lost a heartbreaking 39-38 game to the San Francisco 49ers. But the game did not diminish the season's many team and individual achievements. The Giants made their 26th appearance in the playoffs, tying them with the Dallas Cowboys for the most post-season appearances in NFL history. They finished the regular season ranked sixth in the NFL in total offense, with 364.1 yards a game. It was their highest ranking and most yards per game since the 1985 Giants finished fifth in total offense with 367.8 yards a game. The Giants improved to 19-5 in regular season December games under Jim Fassel. Many individuals enjoyed outstanding seasons. Kerry Collins completed 335 passes, a Giants record, and was 1st in the NFC and 4th in the NFL with 4,073 passing yards, breaking the previous team record of 4,044, set by Phil Simms in 1984. Collins completed 61.5 percent of his passes, a career-high and the third-best percentage in team history. Tiki Barber was 4th in the NFL and 1st in the NFC with 1,984 yards from scrimmage (1,387 rushing and 597 receiving). He rushed for 1,387 rushing yards, the second-highest total in team history after Joe Morris' 1,516 yards in 1986. Amani Toomer set team records with 82 receptions for 1,343 yards and established a career-high with eight touchdown catches. Pro Bowler Jeremy Shockey caught 74 passes, the fifth-highest total in Giants history, and a team record for both rookies (shattering the mark of 48 set by Bobby Johnson in 1984) and tight ends (eclipsing the 66 passes Mark Bavaro caught in 1986). Michael Strahan was selected to his 4th Pro Bowl in 5 years and from Sept. 22 through Dec. 1, he had at least a half-sack in 10 consecutive games, tying the NFL record set by Denver's Simon Fletcher in 1991 and tied by Tennessee's Jevon Kearse in 1999.

The Giants endured one of their most unpleasant seasons in recent memory, losing their last eight games to finish 4-12. The Giants were 4-4 at midseason. In Game 9, they were tied at halftime with Atlanta, 7-7. But the Falcons scored 20 unanswered second-half points to send the Giants to a defeat from which they would never recover. The Giants finished the season 1-7 at home, the first time since 1983 they won a single home game. Despite their poor record, the Giants had several individual highlights. Michael Strahan led the NFL with 18.5 sacks, the second-highest total of his career, and became the first Giant to twice lead the league in sacks. For the second consecutive year, Strahan and tight end Jeremy Shockey were the only Giants selected to the Pro Bowl. Shockey became the first Giant to be selected to the Pro Bowl in each of his first two seasons since Taylor in 1981-82. Running back Tiki Barber had team-high totals of 1,216 rushing yards (the second-highest total of his career) and 69 receptions. He became the first Giant to lead the team in both rushing and receptions since Joe Dawkins in 1974. Barber finished the season as the franchise's all-time leader in total yards (10,746) and receptions (422) and is second in rushing (5,409 yards). Amani Toomer extended his own team record with his fifth consecutive 1,000-yard season. Quarterbacks Kerry Collins and Jesse Palmer combined to throw a franchise-record 616 passes in 2003. Right guard David Diehl became the first Giants rookie to start all 16 games since Mark Bavaro in 1985. He was one of 14 NFL rookies to start all 16 games in 2003. The team announced with two games remaining that Jim Fassel would not return as head coach. Fassel was replaced by Tom Coughlin on January 6, 2004.

2004

A new era dawned in Giants Stadium in 2004 with the arrival of Tom Coughlin as the 16th head coach in franchise history. With Coughlin at the helm, the Giants revamped their roster and started the season 5-2. But the Giants couldn't sustain the momentum and lost eight consecutive games before winning the season finale against the Dallas Cowboys. The Giants finished in second place in the NFC East with a 6-10 record, a two-game improvement over their 2003 mark. Running back Tiki Barber set four significant team records and was selected to his first Pro Bowl. He finished first in the NFL with a Giants-record 2,096 yards from scrimmage. Barber was fifth in the league and second in the conference with a team-record 1,518 rushing yards, two more than Joe Morris' total in 1986. He set the record on a game-winning three-yard run with 11 seconds remaining in the finale against Dallas. Barber tied a career high by averaging 4.7 yards a carry. Barber rushed for at least 100 yards in nine games, breaking the team's previous single-season record of eight, set by Morris in 1986. Barber finished the season with 6,927 career rushing yards, eclipsing Hampton's former team record of 6,897. The Giants had other standout performers. Willie Ponder's averaged an NFL-best 26.9 yards on kickoff returns, the highest average by a Giant since Leon McQuay averaged 27.6 yards in 1974. The Giants finished first in the NFL with a 25.1-yard kickoff return average, the first time since 1953 they led the NFL in that statistical category. Ponder was the first Giant to lead the NFL in average kickoff return yardage since Clarence Childs in 1964. Jeremy Shockey led the Giants with 61 receptions to become the first tight end to top the team since Mark Bavaro had 55 catches in 1987. Bavaro had 55 catches that season. Shockey's team-leading six touchdown receptions were two more than he had in his first two seasons combined. Amani Toomer led the team's wide receivers with 51 catches for 747 yards. It was the sixth consecutive season Toomer had more than 50 receptions and 700 yards. Eli Manning, selected with the top pick in the 2004 draft and then acquired by the Giants in a trade, started the last seven games and finished the season with 95 completions in 197 attempts for 1,043 yards, six touchdowns and nine interceptions. Osi Umenyiora, a second-year defensive end, led the Giants with 7.0 sacks, six more than he had as a rookie. Linebacker Carlos Emmons led the team with 97 tackles (62 solo) and David Tyree had a team-high 23 special teams tackles.

The 2005 season was marked by soaring success and searing tragedy. The Giants finished 11-5 and earned their first playoff berth since 2002 and their first NFC East championship since 2000 before losing an NFC Wild Card Game to Carolina, 23-0. But the Giants' beloved owners, Wellington Mara and Bob Tisch, passed away within three weeks of each other, both from cancer. Mara, an NFL patriarch who was one of the most respected and influential figures in league history, and who had been with the Giants for their entire 81-year history, died on Oct. 25. Tisch, who purchased 50 percent of the franchise in 1991, was a business titan, renowned philanthropist and nonpareil New York City mover and shaker, died on Nov. 15. The Giants were only the fifth team in NFL history to have five different players score at least seven touchdowns. Tiki Barber scored 11, and Jeremy Shockey, Plaxico Burress, Amani Toomer and Brandon Jacobs scored seven apiece. The Giants had five players selected to the Pro Bowl, their largest contingent since the 1990 Super Bowl champions sent seven players to Hawaii. The Pro Bowlers were Barber, Shockey, Osi Umenyiora, Michael Strahan and David Tyree.

Barber had the greatest season by a running back in Giants history and was selected NFL Player of the Year by Sports

Illustrated and a first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press and Pro Football Weekly. He was second in the NFL with a team-record 1,860 rushing yards, shattering the franchise mark of 1,518 he set in 2004. Barber also had 530 receiving yards to become the only player in NFL history with at least 1,800 rushing yards and 500 receiving yards in the same season. His 2,390 total yards were second-most in NFL history. St. Louis' Marshall Faulk had 2,429 yards in 1999 (1,381 rushing, 1,048 receiving). Barber led the NFL in runs of 20 or more yards (16), 40 or more yards (seven) and 50 or more yards (five). His 263 scrimmage yards at Oakland, 220 rushing yards against Kansas City and 95-yard run against the Raiders were all NFL single-game highs in 2005. Barber's 95-yard run at Oakland was the longest in Giants history and broke a record that stood for 75 years — Hap Moran's 91-yard run vs. Green Bay on Nov. 23, 1930.

Eli Manning threw 557 passes this season, the second-highest total in team history. His 294 completions place him fourth on the Giants' career list and his 24 touchdown passes were the most by a Giant since Fran Tarkenton had 29 in 1967.

Jacobs was the first Giants rookie to score seven touchdowns since Bobby Johnson in 1984 and the first to rush for seven touchdowns since Bill Paschal ran for 10 scores in 1943.

Umenyiora was selected to his first Pro Bowl and was named first-team All-Pro by both the Associated Press and Pro Football Weekly. He was first in the NFC and second in the NFL with 14.5 sacks, the highest total by a Giants player other than Strahan since Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor had 15 in 1989.

Strahan was third in the NFC with 11.5 sacks. He and Umenyiora combined for 26 sacks, the most by any pair of NFL teammates.

Jay Feely led all NFL kickers with a team-record and career-high 148 points, the first Giants kicker to hold the top spot since Dan Chandler in 1963 (106 points). Jeff Feagles played in all 16 games for the 18th consecutive season (third with the Giants). On Nov. 27 in Seattle, Feagles played in his 283rd consecutive game, a new NFL record. Former Minnesota defensive end Jim Marshall had held the old mark of 282 since retiring in 1979.

Tyree was selected to his first Pro Bowl despite missing three games with an elbow injury, the Giants' first special teams player chosen since Reyna Thompson in 1990.

2006

The Giants finished 8-8 and earned their second consecutive postseason berth, the first time they accomplished that feat since 1989-90. The record was incongruously fashioned with a 3-5 home record and a 5-3 mark away from Giants Stadium.

Tiki Barber ended his record-setting career by rushing for 1,662 yards and catching 58 passes. Eli Manning was tied for fourth in the NFL with 24 touchdown passes. Tight end Jeremy Shockey led the team with 66 receptions and was voted to the Pro Bowl for the fourth time in his five-year career. Plaxico Burress caught 10 touchdown passes, the most by a Giant in 26 years, and was right behind Shockey with 63 catches. Linemen Chris Snee, David Diehl, Shaun O'Hara and Kareem McKenzie played solidly while missing just two games among them.

Defensively, middle linebacker Antonio Pierce led the Giants with 159 tackles (38 more than anyone else on the team), including 93 solo. He was selected to play in his first Pro Bowl as an injury replacement for Brian Urlacher. Safeties Gibril Wilson and Will Demps had 121 and 116 tackles, respectively. Osi Umenyiora led the team in sacks for the third consecutive year (despite missing five games) and tackle Fred Robbins had a solid all-around season.

On the debit side, the Giants were never at full strength in the second half of the season because several key players suffered injuries that forced them to go on injured reserve. The group included wide receiver Amani Toomer (knee), seven-time Pro Bowl defensive end Michael Strahan (Lisfranc foot sprain), left tackle Luke Petitgout, three-time Pro Bowl linebacker LaVar Arrington, reserve defensive end Justin Tuck and, late in the year, return specialist Chad Morton.

The 2007 season was one of the most successful, rewarding and memorable in franchise history.

The Giants stumbled to a 0-2 start — then fell behind by two touchdowns at halftime of their third game — before beginning a remarkable turnaround. They rallied to win that game, 14 of their next 18 and concluded the season with an exhilarating and unforgettable 17-14 victory over the New England Patriots in Super Bowl XLII. It was one of the greatest upsets and most exciting championship games in the long history of the National Football League.

Eli Manning threw the game-winning 13-yard touchdown pass to Plaxico Burress with just 35 seconds remaining, giving the Giants a victory over a New England team that entered the game with an 18-0 record, including a three-point win over the Giants in the regular season finale. After New England had taken a 14-10 lead with just 2:42 remaining in the fourth quarter, Manning completed five passes on an 83-yard drive — including a 32-yarder on the greatest play in Super Bowl history, when he slipped the dutches of the Patriots' pass rusher and threw down field to David Tyree, who somehow secured the ball against his helmet and away from safety Rodney Harrison.

Two days after bringing the Vince Lombardi Trophy back to the metropolitan area, the Giants were lauded by more than a million fans at a ticker tape parade up Manhattan's famed Canyon of Heroes, and later at a rally in Giants Stadium.

The Giants triumphed for the third time in four Super Bowl appearances, won their sixth title game and seventh overall championship. They won Super Bowls following the 1986, 1990 and 2007 seasons, NFL Championship Games in 1934, 1938 and 1956 and the league title in 1927, before the advent of championship games.

But this title was the most improbable of all. The Giants were just the fourth team to start a season 0-2 and reach the Super Bowl (and the third to win it). They finished the regular season at 10-6 and became the first six-loss team to win the Super Bowl since the 1988 San Francisco 49ers. The Giants won just three home games — none after October 21 — to become the first team with a losing home record to ever make the Super Bowl. The Giants were the fifth wild card team — and first from the NFC — to win the Super Bowl. They were the third team to reach the Super Bowl by winning three road playoff games, the second such team to win the Super Bowl and the first from the NFC. The Giants sent an NFL single-season record with 11 consecutive victories away from home (seven regular season, four postseason, including the Super Bowl). Many individuals enjoyed outstanding seasons, games or moments. Eli Manning started every game and threw for 3,336 yards and 23 touchdowns to become the first Giants quarterback since Phil Simms (1984-86) to top 3,000 yards and 20 touchdown passes in each of three consecutive seasons. Brandon Jacobs rushed for 1,009 yards despite missing five games and most of a sixth with injuries. Burress was unable to practice virtually the entire season because of an ankle injury, but led the team with 70 receptions for 1,025 yards and 12 touchdowns, the highest total by a Giants receiver since Homer Jones had 13 in 1967. Amani Toomer caught 59 passes and became the franchise's all-time leader in receptions with 620. The offensive line — and fullback Madison Hedgecock, acquired off waivers after he was cut by St. Louis — played well throughout the year, a big reason the Giants finished fourth in the NFL in rushing yards, averaging 134.3 a game.

Under new coordinator Steve Spagnuolo, the defense ranked seventh in the NFL, allowing 305.0 yards a game. The Giants led the NFL with 53.0 sacks and set a franchise record with 12 in a victory over Philadelphia on Sept. 30. Osi Umenyiora was third in the NFC and fifth in the NFL with 13.0 sacks and was the lone Giant voted to the Pro Bowl. Justin Tuck became a force on the defensive line and had 10.0 sacks. Michael Strahan, in the final season of his great career, added 9.0 sacks and moved to fifth on the NFL's career list with 141.5. Middle line-backer Antonio Pierce led the Giants with 116 tackles (63 solo). Corey Webster stepped up to play superbly in the playoffs. R.W. McQuarters has intercepted a pass in each of the first three postseason games.

The special teams also played well. Punter Jeff Feagles was one of the NFL's most effective punters in the 20th season of his remarkable career. Kicker Lawrence Tynes, acquired in an offseason trade with Kansas City, succeeded on 23 of 27 field goal attempts and booted the game-winning 47-yarder in overtime in the NFC Championship Game. Domenik Hixon, acquired off waivers in October, became the primary kickoff returner late in the season and brought one back 74 yards for a touchdown in the regular season game against the Patriots.

When the 2008 NFL season began, the Giants had the Vince Lombardi Trophy on display in their lobby and legions of skeptics and doubters who were convinced they had won it more through luck and timing than skill. A popular refrain was that the Giants had simply become a hot team at the right time in the 2007 playoffs. For evidence, the disbelievers cited the Giants' stirring Super Bowl XLII victory over the previously-undefeated New England Patriots. When it was time to make predictions for the 2008 season, most prognosticators placed the Giants second or third in the NFC East.

But the Giants proved them all wrong. No, they didn't win another Super Bowl. But they did capture the division title and the No. 1 seed in the NFC playoffs. They started the season 11-1 and winning 12 regular season games, they became only the fifth defending Super Bowl champion to win more games the season following a championship than they did on their way to winning the title (not counting the strike-shortened 1982 season).

The Giants achieved their success despite losing several key players from the 2007 championship team, including seven-time Pro Bowl defensive end Michael Strahan (retirement), two-time Pro Bowl defensive end Osi Umenyiora (knee injury suffered in the preseason), four-time Pro Bowl tight end Jeremy Shockey (traded to New Orleans) and wide receiver Plaxico Burress, (who did not play in the season's final month after he was wounded in an accidental shooting).

The day after the season ended with a loss to the Philadelphia Eagles in an NFC Divisional Playoff Game, Coach Tom Coughlin addressed many of the issues that had been raised in training camp.

"What I thought I would start with this morning is to think back to last spring and last summer when all of your questions concerned how this team would respond to winning the Super Bowl," Coughlin said. "Would they be, for lack of a better word, satisfied? Would they be as hungry coming into training camp and beyond training camp as they were in working our way to a Super Bowl championship? I think that our team responded and answered that question. I think we came out, we transitioned, we bridged from the Super Bowl year to the next season very well. Our competitiveness was there, our fire, our attempt to take the success of the Super Bowl season on into the next season was very successful. We were 11-1 and we did come out of camp and play very, very well for a very long time. We, of course, played well and the record stood for that. We didn't finish the season as well as we would have liked to, but I think we answered the questions of what this team was about."

"Twelve and five is not a bad season," general manager Jerry Reese said. "When you set the bar high like that and then all of sudden you get eliminated in the second round it stings. Overall, we had a real good season. It's not where we want it to be, but we said we wanted to be the organization that put our team in position to win the Super Bowl every year. For the last couple of years we have been able to put our team in position to do that. We fell short this time."

The loss to Philadelphia did not mitigate the achievements of a successful regular season. The Giants were one of only two teams to finish in the top nine in both the NFL's offensive and defensive rankings. They rushed for an NFL-leading and franchise record 2,518 yards and also topped the league with a Giants-best 5.0 yards per carry. The Giants were the first team since 1985 to have two running backs rush for 1,000 yards each (Brandon Jacobs and Derrick Ward).

Seven Giants were selected to the NFC Pro Bowl team: Quarterback Eli Manning, center Shaun O'Hara, guard Chris Snee, defensive end Justin Tuck, punter Jeff Feagles and kicker John Carney. Two weeks before the game, long-snapper Zak DeOssie was added as the NFC's need player.

Snee and Tuck were named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press and fullback Madison Hedgecock, O'Hara and Carney finished second in the voting at their positions. O'Hara, Hedgecock and defensive tackle Fred Robbins were named first-team All-Pro

When the Giants embarked on their 2009 season, the popular belief was that they could succeed because of the strength of a retooled defense, particularly the reinforced front, and a running game that had been the NFL's best in 2008. If a weakness, or at least a unit with multiple questions, existed, it was the untested group of wide receivers.

But someone shredded that script when the games began. The defense did not play as well as anticipated and the rushing attack wasn't as productive as it had been in previous seasons. But the passing game, with Eli Manning having the finest year of his career and record-setting Steve Smith leading a group of receivers that exceeded expectations, was the strongest facet of the team.

The Giants' fortunes unfolded in a similarly unexpected fashion. Playing their 34th and final season in Giants Stadium, they hoped to win their second consecutive NFC East title and extended their franchise record with a fifth consecutive postseason berth. The journey began smoothly, as the Giants won their first five games. But they soon took a wrong turn, veered completely off course and ultimately hit a dead end. The Giants won just three times after that burst from the gate and finished with an 8-8 record and in third place in the division. They finished out of the playoffs for the first time since Tom Coughlin's inaugural season as head coach in 2004.

The Giants were hit by a debilitating series of injuries. Safety Kenny Phillips, their first round draft choice in 2008, played superbly in the first two games but missed the rest of the season because of an arthritic condition in his knee that required surgery. Middle linebacker Antonio Pierce, a team leader, captain and the top tackler, sat out the final seven games with a bulging disk in his neck. Two of the free agents acquired to strengthen the defense, Chris Canty and Michael Boley, missed significant chunks of the season with injuries. Defensive tackle Jay Alford missed the entire year with a knee injury. Gerris Wilkinson led the team in special teams tackles when he was placed on injured reserve with a wrist injury. Running backs Brandon Jacobs and Ahmad Bradshaw and defensive end Justin Tuck played hurt, most of the year and offensive linemen Rich Seubert and Kareem McKenzie were sidelined at the end of the season with injuries.

Manning finished the season with 317 completions in 509 attempts (62.3 percent) for 4,021 yards, 27 touchdowns, 14 interceptions and a passer rating of 93.1. The completions, percentage, yards, touchdowns and rating were all career highs. Manning is the third quarterback in Giants history to throw for more than 4,000 yards in a season, joining Kerry Collins (4,073 in 2002) and Phil Simms (4,044 in 1984).

Smith was first in the NFC and second in the NFL with 107 receptions, 25 more than the franchise's previous single-season record-holder (Amani Toomer had 82 in 2002) and 50 more than this season's runner-up, Mario Manningham. Smith's 1,220 receiving yards were the second-highest total in franchise history.

by Sports Illustrated and O'Hara and Snee were selected to The Sporting News' All-Pro first team.

The Giants opened their season at home against NFC East rival Washington in the traditional Thursday night opener showcasing the previous season's Super Bowl champions.

Before the game, the Giants' three Super Bowl championship teams were honored during an inspiring and exciting pre-game ceremony that featured a surprise appearance by Michael Strahan.

A huge inflatable replica of the Lombardi Trophy was wheeled out to midfield as the stadium video boards showed highlights from Super Bowls XXI and XXV. Bob Papa, the voice of the Giants, then introduced the players from those teams that were in attendance: Hall of Famer Harry Carson, Stacy Robinson, Karl Nelson, Brad Benson, Bill Ard, Howard Cross, Rodney Hampton, Ottis Anderson, Carl Banks and Mark Bavaro.

"Giants Stadium, you thought I was never coming back," said Strahan, who had announced his retirement three months previously after 15 stellar seasons with the team. "But I had to come back to celebrate the championship with the greatest fans in all of sports. And for one final time, salute my teammates for an incredible championship run. So what I want you to do is, I want you to get on your feet, I want you to make some noise and I want you to be ready to stomp somebody out and welcome the New York Giants Super Bowl champions."

With that, the 79,742 fans in attendance screamed in delight as the 2008 Giants took the field for the first time. At the other end of the stadium, a championship banner was raised.

YEAR-BY-YEAR HISTORY THE NEW YORK GIANTS

Toomer had 1,343 in 2002. Smith joined Toomer, Plaxico Burress (1,214 yards in 2005) and Homer Jones (1,209 yards in 1967) as the only Giants with 1,200-yard receiving seasons. Smith led the NFL with 38 receptions on third down.

Manningham had a break through season with 57 catches (in 14 games) and Hakeem Nicks had 47 receptions for 790 yards, both the third-highest total in history among Giants rookies. Nicks' six touchdown receptions were the most by a Giants rookie since Johnson had seven.

Center Shaun O'Hara and guard Chris Snee were selected to their second consecutive Pro Bowls and tackle David Diehl to his first. Tight end Kevin Boss had a solid season with 42 catches and five touchdowns. Cornerback Terrell Thomas started every game and led the team with 101 tackles (67 solo). Defensive end Osi Umenyiora returned from the knee surgery that cost him the 2008 season to record a team-high 7.0 sacks, the fifth time in six seasons he has led the team. Kicker Lawrence Tynes scored a career-high 126 points and Chase Blackburn and Bryan Kehl tied for the team lead with 16 special teams tackles.

The Giants finished with a record of 155-117 in regular season games in Giants Stadium, including 4-4 in 2009. They were 7-4 in postseason games for a total record of 162-121.

Giants Stadium hosted 477 NFL regular season game played in Giants Stadium, easily the most in league history. Chicago's Wrigley Field is second with 365.

The 2010 season will always elicit mixed reactions from the New York Giants.

Playing their 86th season, the Giants moved into a beautiful new home, New Meadowlands Stadium, which is located just a few yards away from where Giants Stadium, their home from 1976-2009, once stood. The Giants were 10-6, one of a record-tying 13 teams to finish with double-digit victories. They finished the season with the same record as the NFC East champion Philadelphia Eagles, the same record as the eventual Super Bowl XLV champion Green Bay Packers and the same record as the 2007 Giants team that won Super Bowl XLII.

But ultimately, the season did not meet their expectations because the Giants did not make the playoffs. Two losses to the Eagles and another to the Packers in the final seven weeks of the season first cost the Giants the NFC East title and then an opportunity to participate in the postseason. The Giants lost the NFC's last postseason berth on a tiebreaker.

HAKEEM NICKS CATCHES THE FIRST-EVER TOUCHDOWN IN METLIFE STADIUM

The Giants ended their season with an unusual blend of emotions. They accepted their fate and took responsibility for coming up short, but they were equally defiant in their belief that they are better than a playoff non-qualifier.

"I'm really disappointed to be here talking to you guys about 10-6," general manager Jerry Reese said at his season-ending news conference. "I really felt like we had an opportunity to get into the playoffs and really do some damage when we got there, but it didn't work out that way. I'm really disappointed, even more so than last year because we put ourselves in position and that's what our goal is every year, to put ourselves in a position and we put ourselves in position and we just did not finish the job and that's very disappointing."

Although disappointed at missing the playoffs for the second season in a row, Coach Tom Coughlin had high praise for his players.

"I love this team, I love these guys, I think they're strong character people, we work together on everything, we're all in it together, we're all for one, one for all and that's the way that it has to be," Coughlin said. "It's a group of guys that don't make excuses for anything, they accept responsibility, they accept whatever takes place. They've done an outstanding job this year of adjusting to some very unusual circumstances that surround the game. They've done a good job of that. We've had a couple of huge disappointments, emotionally we weren't to where we should have been. We did come back to a certain level (in the season finale vs. Washington), but it's an outstanding group of guys who by and large are on the same page, they're focused, they come to work, they prepare themselves, they play hard, there are all kinds of personalities just like there always is, but as I said, I'm very, very appreciative of the kind of effort, the attitude, the enthusiasm, and the fact that this year's team was a very responsive team."

The Giants had many impressive statistical achievements in 2010. The offense (fifth) and defense (seventh) each finished in the top 10 of the NFL rankings. Eli Manning set franchise records for completions and completion percentage and became the first Giants quarterback with two 4,000-yard seasons and the second with more than 30 touchdown passes. Ahmad Bradshaw (1,235) and Brandon Jacobs (823) rushed for a combined 2,058 yards. Despite missing three games with injuries, Hakeem Nicks had one of the finest seasons by a wide receiver in Giants history with 79 catches for 1,052 yards and 11 touchdowns. Mario Manningham caught 60 passes, including 85- and 92-yard touchdowns. Osi Umenyiora (10 forced fumbles) and Justin Tuck (five fumble recoveries) tied for the team lead with 11.5 sacks.

But those players and the rest of the team and coaches ultimately exited the season with an empty feeling.

"Overall, I'm disappointed in the outcome of the season," said quarterback Eli Manning, who threw for 4,002 yards and 31 touchdowns, but also tossed 25 interceptions. "We thought we had potential. We thought we had players to make it in the playoffs and make a run, and we didn't accomplish that. We didn't play well enough at times of the season to make it into the playoffs."

"We had a good year," Tuck said. "Ten and six is nothing to hold your head down about. Obviously, it wasn't good enough, and we always have a goal of reaching the playoffs and going deep in the playoffs and hopefully winning the Super Bowl. It didn't happen this year, but we're not going to hold our heads about it. We had opportunities, and you try your best to learn from them. Hopefully, that's being carried over to next year and it gets us to work a little harder in running and work a little harder in lifting and propel us to where we want to be next year."

Late in the afternoon on Dec. 18, 2011, the Giants trudged off the field in MetLife Stadium after a lackluster 23-10 loss to the Washington Redskins. The Giants had not scored a touchdown until 33 seconds remained in the defeat, their fifth in a six-game stretch that included a four-game losing streak. More importantly, the Giants fell to 7-7 and were one defeat from missing the playoffs for a third consecutive season.

MARIO MANNINGHAM MAKES A SIDELINE CATCH IN THE 4TH QUARTER OF SUPER BOWL XLVI.

But instead of continuing their freefall, the Giants rose up and concluded the season with one of the most inspiring and memorable runs in the 87-year history of the franchise, one that ended with a victory over New England in Super Bowl XLVI — their second championship in five seasons.

The surge began with a Dec. 24 victory over the Jets in which the Giants were the visiting team. Eight days later, the Giants routed Dallas in a winner-take-all showdown for the NFC East title. The Giants finished 9-7 and became the first team to win the division with fewer than 10 wins since the 1970 merger.

The Giants opened their playoff run with a 24-1 rout of Atlanta in MetLife Stadium. They followed that up with road victories that ended regular season losses to Green Bay and San Francisco, the latter a 20-17 overtime thriller in the NFC Championship Game.

That advanced the Giants to the Super Bowl, where they found a familiar foe in the Patriots, the same team they defeated four years earlier in Super Bowl XLII. This time, Ahmad Bradshaw scored the game-winning touchdown on a six-yard run with 57 seconds remaining and the defense knocked down Tom Brady's last-play pass into the end zone to clinch the 21-17 victory.

Eli Manning completed 30 of 40 passes for 296 yards to win his second Super Bowl MVP award as the Giants became the first seven-loss team to win a Super Bowl.

During the regular season, the Giants set franchise records with 6,161 total yards and 4,734 net passing yards. Manning set Giants marks with 589 passes and 359 completions. Wide receiver Victor Cruz established a team record with 1,536 receiving yards while catching 82 passes. Hakeem Nicks had 1,192 yards to give the Giants two 1,000-yard receivers for the first time in franchise history.

Ahmad Bradshaw missed four games with a foot injury, but led the team with 659 rushing yards and nine touchdowns.

The 2012 Giants finished 9-7 and in second place in the NFC East. It was the eighth consecutive season in which the Giants finished .500 or better, their longest such streak since played 10 seasons in a row without a losing record from 1954-63. The Giants finished with a winning record for the third consecutive season, the first time they had done that since 1988-90 (when they were 10-6, 12-4, 13-3).

Despite extending those streaks, they did not earn a postseason berth. The Giants lost control of their playoff destiny with back-to-back late-season defeats in Atlanta and Baltimore. They routed Philadelphia in their finale, but soon learned they were eliminated when Chicago beat Detroit.

The Giants compiled numerous impressive statistics in 2012. They scored 429 points, the second-highest total in franchise history; the 1963 Giants scored 448. The 2012 season was the fifth in the 88-year history of the franchise in which the Giants scored more than 400 points. The Giants scored a franchise-record 278 points at home, shattering the old mark of 248, set in 2007. In their last three home games — victories over Green Bay, New Orleans and Philadelphia — the Giants scored 38, 52 and 42 points.

The 2012 team allowed an NFL-low 20 sacks. The Giants were fourth in the NFL in both takeaways (35, four more than they had in 2011) and turnover differential (plus-14, a significant improvement over 2011's plus-7). The plus-14 was the Giants' best turnover differential since they were plus-25 in 1997. The Giants intercepted 21 passes in 2012, their highest total since they had 27 picks, also in 1997.

The Giants finished the 2012 season with 72 penalties for 578 yards, both franchise-low totals for a 16-game schedule.

Eli Manning passed Phil Simms and became the Giants' career leader in completions (2,612) and touchdown passes (211).

Four Giants were selected to the Pro Bowl: Manning, guard Chris Snee, wide receiver Victor Cruz and defensive end Jason Pierre-Paul.

2013

In 2013, a strong finish was not enough for the Giants to overcome a poor start and they finished 7-9, their first losing record since they were 6-10 in 2004. They were third in the NFC East for the second season in a row.

The Giants put themselves in a deep hole by losing their first six games for the first time since 1976, when they lost their first nine games. They did, however, follow their 0-6 start with four consecutive victories to become just the second team in NFL history to lose its first six games and win the next four (the other team was the 2009 Tennessee Titans). Overall, the Giants won seven of their last 10 games.

All nine of the Giants' losses were to teams that finished .500 or better, the first time that happened since their 5-11 season in 1995. The Giants lost home games to both of the teams that played in Super Bowl XLVIII, Seattle and Denver.

The offense struggled much of the season. The Giants' offense ranked 28th in the NFL in both yards per game (307.5) and points per game (18.4). The Giants scored 294 points, their lowest total in Tom Coughlin's 10 seasons as head coach. They were shutout at Carolina and vs. Seattle, the first time since 1996 they did not score twice in the same season. The Giants scored more than 27 points just once, in their 36-31 opening night loss in Dallas.

The Giants committed an NFL-high 44 turnovers. It was their highest turnover total since 1983, when they had 58 turnovers. The Giants' minus-15 turnover differential was their worst since they were minus-16, also in 1983.

Defensively, the Giants improved throughout the season. The defense ranked 26th in the NFL entering Week 6, when it was allowing an average of 395.2 yards per game, finished the season ranked eighth, giving up 332.3 yards a game. That was a significant improvement over the 2012 season, when the defense was ranked 31st, allowing 383.4 yards per game. The unit was 14th in the league against the run (108.9 yards a game) and 10th vs. the pass (223.3). The Giants were 18th in scoring defense, allowing 23.9 points a game. Entering Week 6, they were 32nd and last in scoring defense, giving up 36.4 points a game.

The defense was not responsible for nine of the 42 touchdowns allowed by the Giants, who surrendered an NFL-high nine return touchdowns (three apiece on interceptions, fumble returns and punt returns).

The 2014 Giants finished 6-10, their first double-digit loss season since 2004 and their first back-to-back losing seasons since 2003-04. They were a streaky team, with a seven-game losing streak surrounded on both sides by three-game winning streaks.

The Giants were the third-place team in the NFC East for the second year in a row. They were 2-4 in NFC East games. The Giants swept Washington and were swept by Dallas and Philadelphia.

The Giants scored 380 points and allowed 400. It was just the fifth time in franchise history they gave up at least 400 points. The offense finished 10th in the NFL with an average of 367.2 yards a game, a 59.7 yards-per-game improvement over their 2013 average of 307.5. It was the team's largest one-year jump since 2005, when the Giants were ranked fourth in the league with an average of 361.7 yards game. That was a 66.6 yards-per-game increase over their 2004 average of 295.1.

The Giants set franchise records for completed passes with 383 (shattering the former mark of 359, set in 2011) and completion percentage with 63.1 (the former record of 62.9 was set in 2010). They finished with their second-highest totals in franchise history in passes attempted (607) and net passing yards (4,272).

The Giants' defense allowed 6,012 net yards, the third-highest total by their opponents in franchise history. They yielded 6,134 yards in 2012 and 6,022 in the 2011 championship season.

The Giants were ranked 29th in the NFL in total defense, allowing 375.8 yards a game, after finishing eighth (332.3 yards per game) in 2013. The run defense ranked 30th (135.1 yards a game), while the Giants were 18th vs. the pass (240.6). The Giants finished the season with 47 sacks, their highest total since they had 48 in 2011.

STADIUMS OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS

The Giants shared the Polo Grounds with the New York Baseball Giants from the time they entered the league in 1925 until they moved to the larger Yankee Stadium for the start of the 1956 season.

In 1973, the Giants announced plans to move to a new stadium in New Jersey for the 1976 season, and the city of New York announced that Yankee Stadium was planning a two-year renovation after the 1973 baseball season. The Giants were allowed to play their first two games of the 1973 season at Yankee Stadium before moving to a new location.

The Giants spent the offseason searching for a place to play their games. The Giants' first choice was the Yale Bowl, but the Yale Bowl representatives turned down the team's first request because it would have meant a blackout for the local schedule due to the blackout rule. The Giants' next choice was to play at Princeton University, but they also turned down the Giants. Things were so bad that when the league announced the 1973 schedule, it didn't even say where the games would be played. In light of the Giants' problems, Commissioner Pete Rozelle, with the help from national politicians, modified the blackout rule so that the rule was only in effect if the game was not sold out in advance. With the rule change came a change of heart by the Yale Bowl representatives. It was official. The Giants would play their first two games of the 1973 season at Yankee Stadium and would play the rest of the schedule and the 1974 season at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Connecticut.

After the 1974 season, it was announced that the Giants were going back to New York City to play at Shea Stadium until the opening of Giants Stadium in 1976. The Giants played the first four games of the 1976 season on the road just in case there were any delays with the opening of the new stadium. The Giants made their debut at Giants Stadium on October 10, 1976 against the Dallas Cowboys before a sellout crowd.

In 2010, the Giants moved into beautiful, new, state-of-the-art MetLife stadium built just a few yards from where Giants Stadium sat for more than three decades. The nation's finest football stadium, it seats 82,500 fans. It is one of the NFL's most technologically advanced stadiums and took more than four million man-hours and $1.6 billion to build. The stadium features 10,000 club seats, 222 suites and 130,000 square feet of state-of-the-art club lounges. The first row of seats is just 46 feet from the sidelines and the sightlines are superb. The site of Super Bowl XLVIII, Giants' new home is 2.1 million square feet, compared to Giants Stadium's 900,000 square feet. It has four 30' by 118' high definition video screens, a 350,000 square foot outdoor plaza filled with interactive activities for fans of all ages.

In 2014, MetLife Stadium will host Super Bowl XLVIII, the first outdoor Super Bowl hosted in a "cold weather" city.

COMMEMORATIVE PATCHES

The Giants have celebrated two major anniversaries by wearing uniform patches on its jerseys. The first was in 1999 for its 75th season, the second coming in 2004 commemorating 80 years.

Over the years, the team has honored deceased players and administrators by wearing memorial patches. In 1986, the team wore a patch in remembrance of Carl "Spider" Lockhart. In 2001, a "GBY" patch honored longtime general manager George Bernard Young. Most recently, Wellington T. Mara was remembered during the 2005 season with a "WTM" patch after his passing, and a few weeks later, Preston Robert Tisch was added to a patch with Wellington Mara separated by the NY logo.

The Giants honored Hall of Famer, player and coach, Rosie Brown with a "79" decal on the back of their helmets in after his passing in 2004.

In addition, the team has also worn patches in Super Bowls XXV, XLII and XLVI. Those patches were representations of the NFL's Super Bowl logos for those years.

In 2014, the team wore a patch commemorating its 90th season in the league.

For the 2015 season, the team will wear a "ATM" patch on its jerseys honoring the passing of Ann Mara, wife of Wellington Mara.

GIANTS IN THE HALL OF FAME

WELLINGTON MARA
CO-OWNER
FORDHAM
ENSHRINED IN 1997

Wellington Mara, along with CB Mike Haynes, Coach Don Shula and C Mike Webster, was a member of the four-man 1997 class of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Mara and his father Tim, who was the founder of the Giants and a charter member of the Hall of Fame, were the first father and son to be accorded pro football's highest honor. Mara was one of the most influential and beloved figures in American sports history. His entire working lifetime was dedicated to the Giants and the NFL and he helped the Giants produce 21 NFL/NFC first place finishes, 27 postseason appearances and six NFL championships during a 68-season tenure that began with his graduation from Fordham in 1937. Mara passed away on Oct. 25, 2005.

TIM MARA FOUNDER
CHARTER ENSHRINEE IN 1963

Tim Mara introduced the city of New York to pro football when he purchased the franchise for a reported $500 in 1925, thus giving the National Football League a vital showcase in the nation's largest city. Mara withstood heavy financial losses his first year until the Giants were saved in the last home game of the season. Mara needed a good showing at the gate to keep the team alive. The Chicago Bears arrived at the Polo Grounds with the most heralded college player of the era, Red Grange, who helped draw a crowd of more than 70,000 people. After seeing so many people attend a Giants game, Mara decided that professional football could be a big success under the right circumstances. Mara bore the brunt of the fight against the rival American Football League in 1926 and the All-American Football Conference from 1946-49. He helped build the Giants into a perennial powerhouse and was honored in 1963 as one of 17 charter members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

MORRIS (RED) BADGRO END
ENSHRINED IN 1981

Badgro joined the Giants in 1930 and played six seasons at end. He made a name for himself as a superior defender, excellent blocker and big-play receiver. Badgro helped lead the Giants to the NFL's inaugural championship game in 1933 and he scored the first touchdown in the league's championship game history on a 29-yard pass from Harry Newman in the second quarter. Badgro tied for the NFL receiving title in 1934 with 16 receptions for 206 yards, including one touchdown. He was named to the All-NFL team three times: 1931, 1933 and 1934. Before joining the Giants, Badgro played with the Red Grange-led New York Yankees in the American Football League (12 games in 1927 and one game in 1928). He played pro baseball for three seasons, the first with the Tulsa in the minor leagues and then with the St. Louis Browns for two seasons. Badgro has the distinction of being the oldest player ever to be elected into the Hall of Fame. He was 77 when he was enshrined in 1981.

ROOSEVELT BROWN

TACKLE

ENSHRINED IN 1975

Brown played for the Giants from 1953 through 1965 after joining the team as a 27th round draft choice, regarded as one of the greatest “sleeper” picks of all time. Brown held the starting tackle spot for 13 straight seasons. During that period, he was named to the Pro Bowl nine times and was selected All-NFL eight consecutive seasons. In 1956, when the Giants won the league title, Brown was named Lineman of the Year by the Associated Press. Brown was a big, strong blocker who had the speed to make a block downfield. He was also used along the defensive front on goal-line stands. Brown helped the Giants advance to the NFL Championship game in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961, 1962 and 1963. After his playing career, Brown continued his Giants affiliation as a coach before being appointed as a scout, where he has served since the 1971 season. He was immediately named assistant line coach by the Giants after a phlebitis condition forced him to retire in 1966.

ROSIE BROWN IN 1953

HARRY CARSON

LINEBACKER

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE

ENSHRINED IN 2006

Carson played his entire 13-year NFL career with the Giants. An inside linebacker, he was selected to play in nine Pro Bowls, including seven in a row from 1982-88. Carson led the Giants in tackles six times, was a two-time All-NFL first team selection and was a leader throughout his career and the sole captain of the 1986 Super Bowl champions. Carson joined the Giants as a fourth-round draft choice in 1976 from South Carolina State, where he never missed a game in four seasons, was a two-year captain and a Little All-America selection by the Associated Press. A defensive end in college, Carson successfully moved to linebacker with the Giants so quickly and so successfully that he was voted to NFL All-Rookie team. Carson played 173 games in a Giants uniform — tying him with Keith Hamilton for seventh all-time — and he was a punishing run defender who also intercepted 11 passes. Carson had 17 sacks, 14 fumble recoveries and seven forced fumbles. He had 25 tackles (20 solo) in a Monday night game against Green Bay in 1982 and seven tackles in the Giants’ 39-20 victory over Denver in Super Bowl XXI. During his prime, Carson was the best run-stopping linebacker in the NFL. In the seven seasons from 1981 to 1987, Giants’ opponents averaged only 3.59 yards per rushing attempt, a remarkable achievement for so long a period. During that period, Carson was credited with 856 tackles, including 627 unassisted tackles.

FRANK GIFFORD
HALFBACK, FLANKER
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
ENSHRINED IN 1977

Gifford played for the Giants from 1952-64, although he voluntarily retired in 1961 due to a serious injury suffered the previous season. He was known as one of the most versatile backs in NFL history. Gifford was the first choice in the draft by the Giants in 1952 after an All-America career at Southern California. He totaled 9,862 combined yards during his career. He rushed for 3,609 yards rushing, caught 367 passes and scored 484 points. Gifford was named to the Pro Bowl as a defensive back in 1953 and as an offensive back the following year - a first in NFL history. He played in seven Pro Bowls and was named All-NFL four times and NFL Player of the Year in 1956. Gifford holds the Giants record with 78 touchdowns. A true triple-threat back, Gifford threw 14 touchdown passes in 60 attempts on the halfback option. He retired after the 1960 season and returned in 1962 at a new position, flanker. The Giants reached the NFL Championship game five times during his career, including their victory in 1956.

In 1962, Tittle set an NFL record by throwing 33 touchdown passes and tied another mark with seven scoring throws in one game. Tittle had his greatest year as a pro in 1963, when he led the league in passing with 221 completions in 367 attempts for 3,145 yards. He was the NFL Player of the Year in 1957, when he led the 49ers to a tie for the Western Division title, and won the honor again in 1961 and 1963, as he took the Giants to Eastern championships. Tittle was named All-NFL in 1957, 1962 and 1963, and also played in six Pro Bowls.

BENNY FRIEDMAN
QUARTERBACK
MICHIGAN
ENSHRINED IN 2005

Friedman, a two-time All-America quarterback at Michigan, played with the Cleveland Bulldogs (1927), Detroit Wolverines (1928), Giants (1929-1931) and Brooklyn Dodgers (1932-1934). Following the 1928 season New York Giants owner Tim Mara purchased the Detroit franchise just to secure the services of Friedman. A versatile player, Friedman could run, kick and pass the ball better than any player who preceded him. From 1927-30, Friedman threw 11, nine, 20, and 13 touchdown passes, leading the league each year. In 1928, he topped the league in both rushing touchdowns and touchdown passes; no other player has ever accomplished that feat. His 20 touchdown passes in 1929, including four in one game, were both NFL records for years. Although very durable, a knee injury coupled with the rigors of serving as an assistant coach at Yale, Friedman's productivity dropped in 1931. Still the player-coach managed to earn third-team All-NFL honors that year and second-team All-NFL honors in 1933.

The names of the men in the Ring of Honor are prominently displayed at each Giants home game in MetLife Stadium above the club level on each sideline.

TIM MARA

Tim Mara introduced the city of New York to pro football when he purchased the franchise for a reported $500 in 1925, thus giving the National Football League a vital showcase in the nation's largest city. Mara withstood heavy financial losses his first year until the Giants were saved in the last home game of the season. Mara needed a good showing at the gate to keep the team alive. The Chicago Bears arrived at the Polo Grounds with the most heralded college player of the era, Red Grange, who helped draw a crowd of more than 70,000 people. After seeing so many people attend a Giants game, Mara decided that professional football could be a big success under the right circumstances. He bore the brunt of the fight against the rival American Football League in 1926 and the All-American Football Conference from 1946-49. Mara helped build the Giants into a perennial powerhouse and was honored in 1963 as one of 17 charter members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

WELLINGTON MARA

It is impossible to overstate the influence Wellington Mara had on the Giants and in the NFL. He was one of the most important and influential figures in the history of professional football, a man credited with many of the ideas and innovations that have made the NFL the nation's most popular professional sports league. Mara is the most beloved and influential Giant in history and one of the most significant figures not just in the NFL, but in American sports. He was a vital member of the franchise for each of its first 81 years until his death in 2005. Mara was instrumental in helping the Giants make 26 postseason appearances, including 18 divisional championships and six NFL championships, among them the Super Bowl XXI and Super Bowl XXV titles. Despite his ties to the team, Mara was recognized for always putting the league's interests ahead of what was best for the Giants. He was an invaluable contributor to the NFL as a member of many ownership committees. In 1997, Mara was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, joining his father, Tim Mara, as the first father-son duo elected to the Hall.

JACK MARA

During the very first game the Giants ever played in 1925, Jack Mara followed each play along the sidelines as he held the first down marker. It wasn't long before he held far more important jobs in the organization. Mara was only 22 years old in 1930 when his father, Tim, turned over the ownership of the Giants to him and his younger brother Wellington, who was all of 14. He served as the team's president for 31 years and was in charge of the Giants' business operations. Jack Mara was the driving force behind one of the most significant decisions in franchise history, to move the Giants' home games to Yankee Stadium from the crumbling Polo Grounds prior to the 1956 season. Tim Mara detested Yankees owner Dan Topping, so it was Jack who negotiated the deal that saved the financial future of the franchise. Jack Mara also lobbied the owners to share television revenue, which helped create the parity that has made pro football America's favorite spectator sport.

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

BOB TISCH

Preston Robert Tisch — "Bob" to everyone who knew him — realized a longtime dream in 1991, when he became co-owner of the Giants. Soon after the Giants won Super Bowl XXV, Tisch completed negotiations with Tim Mara (son of Jack Mara) and his family for a 50 percent interest in the team. That commenced Tisch's career as an owner of a professional sports franchise, one of many he simultaneously pursued. Tisch led an extraordinarily accomplished life. He was an enormously successful businessman, an extremely generous philanthropist, a postmaster general, a friend of presidents, governors and mayors and a nonpareil New York City mover and shaker. But nothing gave Tisch more pleasure and pride than being the co-owner of the Giants and working on several influential NFL ownership committees. As a member of the National Football League's Finance and Super Bowl Policy Committees, he attained a prominence in the sports arena equal to his position in the world of business.

GEORGE YOUNG

George Young was hired as the Giants general manager on Feb. 14, 1979 and stayed in that position through the 1997 season. He led the franchise out of the bleak 1970s and brought in great players such as Taylor, Simms, Joe Morris, Mark Bavaro and Carl Banks. Young hired Parcells, the head coach of two Super Bowl champions. During his tenure, the Giants earned eight playoff berths, highlighted by victories in Super Bowls XXI and XXV, and compiled an overall record of 155-139-2. He was named NFL Executive of the Year an unprecedented five times — 1984, 1986, 1990, 1993, and 1997. Young also served as chairman of the NFL's Competition Committee.

STEVE OWEN

Owen was a four-time All-NFL tackle who played for the Giants from 1926-31, plus a one-game return in 1933. He captained the 1927 team that won the NFL title and held its foes to a record-low total of 20 points. But Owen made his greatest imprint on the sideline, where he coached the Giants for 23 years. He was a co-coach with Benny Friedman in 1930, then assumed the full head coaching responsibility in 1931, a position he kept until 1953. Owen had a coaching record of 153-100-17 and won eight division and two NFL titles. The 153 victories are still the Giants record. Some of his coaching innovations included the A-formation offense, the umbrella defense and the two-platoon system. Owen was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1966.

JIM LEE HOWELL

Jim Lee Howell was the Giants' head coach from 1954-60. He quickly added two future Hall of Fame coaches to his staff, Vince Lombardi to lead the offense and Tom Landry, whom he converted from a player, to coach the defense. In Howell's seven seasons as head coach, the Giants played in three NFL Championship Games and defeated George Halas's Chicago Bears, 47-7, in 1956. Howell's regular season record was 53-27-4 record, a .630 winning percentage. He coached six future Pro Football Hall of Fame players in Huff, Robustelli, Brown, Tunnell, Gifford and Don Maynard. Howell stayed with the Giants as Director of Player Personnel until his retirement in 1981.

BILL PARCELLS

When Parcells began coaching the Giants in 1983, the team had finished with a winning record just once in the previous 10 seasons. Parcells led the Giants to the playoffs in his second and third seasons. In 1986, he coached one of the greatest teams in Giants history. That year, the Giants won their last 12 games and finished 17-2, including a 39-20 rout of the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XXI. Four years later, Parcells led the Giants to a 20-19 victory over the favored Buffalo Bills in Super Bowl XXV. He left the team after that season with a 77-49-1 regular season record. The 77 victories are the second-most in team history, behind Owen's 153. Parcells holds the Giants' record with eight postseason wins.

MEL HEIN

Hein joined the Giants in 1931 and played 15 seasons, a team record matched only by Simms and Strahan. He was named All-NFL eight consecutive years from 1933-

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

40. Following a successful college career at Washington State, Hein wrote to three NFL clubs offering his services. He joined the Giants after the team submitted the highest salary bid at $150 per game. Hein was a 60-minute regular for 15 years, playing in 170 games. He never missed a game in high school, college or the NFL. Hein took time out only in two games and was injured only once. He was named the league's Most Valuable Player in 1938 after anchoring a line that helped guide the Giants to the NFL Championship with a 23-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers in the Polo Grounds. Hein was a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame's inaugural class in 1963.

KEN STRONG

Strong played for the Giants from 1933-35, in 1939 and from 1944-47. He excelled in every phase of the game - blocking, running, passing, punting, placekicking and defense. At the time of his retirement, Strong was the Giants' career scoring leader with 324 points on 13 touchdowns, 35 field goals and 141 extra points. He scored 17 points to pace the Giants to the 1934 championship game over the Chicago Bears in the famous "Sneakers Game." Strong scored a league-high 64 points in 1933 and was All-NFL in 1934. He began his career with the Staten Island Stapletons in 1932. After four seasons, he joined the Giants. In 1936, he began a two-year stint in the rival AFL. Strong served as a placekicking specialist only when he returned to the Giants from 1944 until 1947. He scored 479 points in his career. Strong was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1967.

TUFFY LEEMANS

Leemans played for the Giants from 1936-43. He was personally scouted by Wellington Mara and was a second-round draft choice in the inaugural NFL draft in 1936 out of George Washington. Mara sent a telegram setting up a meeting with Leemans to convince him to accept a career in the NFL with the Giants. Leemans was the 1936 College Football All-Star game MVP. He led NFL rushers as a rookie in 1936 with 830 yards on 206 attempts. Leemans was named All-NFL in 1936 and 1939. An aggressive, dedicated do-everything team leader, he totaled 3,142 yards rushing, 2,324 yards passing, 442 yards receiving and threw 16 touchdown passes during his career. He was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1978.

EMLÉN TUNNELL

Tunnell was signed by the Giants as a free agent out of Iowa in 1948 and played 11 seasons for the team. Ignored in the NFL draft, Tunnell walked into the Giants office and asked Tim Mara for a tryout. Tunnell was the first African-American player signed by the Giants. Fifty-two years after playing his last game for the team, he still holds Giants records with 74 interceptions and 261 punt returns. In 1952, Tunnell gained more yards (923) on interceptions and kickoff returns than the NFL rushing leader did running the ball. He earned the nickname "offense on defense." Tunnell was named All-NFL four times and played in nine Pro Bowls. Tunnell was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1967.

FRANK GIFFORD

A Pro Football Hall of Fame inductee in 1977, Gifford played for the Giants from 1952-64, although he voluntarily retired in 1961 due to a serious injury suffered the previous season. He was known as one of the most versatile backs in NFL history. Gifford was the first choice in the draft by the Giants in 1952 after an All-America career at Southern California. He totaled 9,862 combined yards during his career. He rushed for 3,609 yards, caught 367 passes and scored 484 points. Gifford was named to the Pro Bowl as a defensive back in 1953 and as an offensive back the following year - a first in NFL history. He played in seven Pro Bowls and was named All-NFL four times and NFL Player of the Year in 1956. Gifford holds the Giants record with 78 touchdowns. A true triple-threat back, Gifford threw 14 touchdown passes in 60 attempts on the halfback option. He retired after the 1960 season and returned in 1962 at a new position, flanker. The Giants reached the NFL Championship game five times during his career, including their victory in 1956.

ROSIE BROWN

Roosevelt Brown played for the Giants from 1953 through 1965 after joining the team as a 27th round draft choice, regarded as one of the greatest "sleeper" picks of all time. Brown held the starting tackle spot for 13 straight seasons. During that period, he was named to the Pro Bowl nine times and was selected All-NFL eight consecutive seasons. In 1956, when the Giants won the league title, Brown was named Lineman of the Year by the Associated Press. Brown was a big, strong blocker who had the speed to make a block downfield. He was also used along the defensive front on goal-line stands. Brown helped the Giants advance to the NFL Championship game in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961, 1962 and 1963. After his playing career, Brown continued his Giants affiliation as a coach before being appointed as a scout, a position he held from 1971 until his death in 2004. He was immediately named assistant line coach by the Giants after a phlebitis condition forced him to retire in 1966. Brown was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1975.

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

SAM HUFF

Huff became an immediate star at middle linebacker after he was drafted by the Giants in the third round in 1956 following an All-America career at West Virginia. He played in five Pro Bowls and was named All-NFL four times. Huff won recognition for his great individual efforts against the premier running backs of his era, including Jim Brown of Cleveland, Rick Casares of Chicago and Alan Ameche of Baltimore. He was named the NFL's Outstanding Lineman in 1959. Huff anchored a defense that helped the Giants reach the championship game in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1961, 1962 and 1963. He was traded to the Washington Redskins prior to the 1964 season and has been a color analyst on the Redskins radio broadcasts for many years. Huff was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1982.

ANDY ROBUSTELLI

Robustelli was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams in 1951 and played on two Rams championship teams. In 1956, Wellington Mara traded for Robustelli, who provided a tremendous lift in the Giants' title drive that season. Robustelli, who stayed with the Giants through the 1964 season, played on a winning team in 13 of his 14 pro seasons. He played in eight NFL championship title games and seven Pro Bowls. Robustelli was named All-NFL seven times, two with the Rams and five with the Giants. Robustelli was a durable player who missed only one game in his 14-year career. He was the Giants' general manager prior to George Young. He was a 1971 Pro Football Hall of Fame inductee.

Y.A. TITTLE

The Giants engineered one of the best trades in their long history prior to the 1961 season when they sent guard Lou Cordileone to the San Francisco 49ers for Tittle. The then 35-year old Tittle promptly led the Giants to their 12th Eastern Division championship. Tittle played two seasons in the All-American Conference and 11 in the NFL before joining the Giants. In 1962, Tittle set an NFL record by throwing 33 touchdown passes and tied another mark with seven scoring throws in one game. Tittle had his greatest year as a pro in 1963, when he led the league in passing with 221 completions in 367 attempts for 3,145 yards. His 36 touchdown passes broke his own league mark and set a Giants record that still stands. Tittle's career totals include 2,427 completions, 33,070 yards, 242 touchdowns and 13 games with more than 300 yards passing. He was the NFL Player of the Year in 1957, when he led the 49ers to a tie for the Western Division title, and won the honor again in 1961 and 1963, as he took the Giants to Eastern championships. Tittle was named All-NFL in 1957, 1962 and 1963, and also played in six Pro Bowls. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1971.

HARRY CARSON

Carson played his entire career with the Giants from 1976-88. An inside linebacker, he was selected to play in nine Pro Bowls, including seven in a row from 1982-88. Carson led the Giants in tackles six times, was a two-time All-NFL first team selection and was the sole captain of the 1986 Super Bowl champions. Carson joined the Giants as a fourth-round draft choice from South Carolina State, where he never missed a game in four seasons, was a two-year captain and a Little All-America selection by the Associated Press. A defensive end in college, Carson successfully moved to linebacker with the Giants so quickly and so successfully that he was voted to the NFL All-Rookie team. Carson played 173 games in a Giants uniform — tying him with Keith Hamilton for seventh all-time — and he was a punishing run defender who also intercepted 11 passes. Carson had 17 sacks, 14 fumble recoveries and seven forced fumbles. He had 25 tackles (20 solo) in a Monday night game against Green Bay in 1982 and seven tackles in the Giants' 39-20 victory over Denver in Super Bowl XXI. During his prime, Carson was the best run-stopping linebacker in the NFL. In the seven seasons from 1981 to 1987, Giants' opponents averaged only 3.59 yards per rushing attempt, a remarkable achievement for so long a period. During that period, Carson was credited with 856 tackles, including 627 unassisted tackles. He was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2006.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR

Taylor joined the Giants as the second overall selection of the 1981 NFL Draft and played his entire 13-year career for the team. When Taylor retired, he was the

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

NFL's No. 2 all-time sack leader in the NFL with 132.5. That total does not include the 9.5 he accumulated as a rookie in 1981 before the sack was an official NFL statistic. Taylor established an NFL record by appearing in 10 consecutive Pro Bowls from 1981-1990. He was named the NFL Rookie of the Year in 1981 and the NFC's Defensive Player of the Week nine times (the award was established in 1984), as well as the conference's Defensive Player of the Month twice, in October 1986 and September 1989. Taylor was a unanimous choice to the NFL's All-1980s team. He was a unanimous selection as the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1986, when he had a career-high 20.5 sacks, 105 tackles, five passes defended and two forced fumbles. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1999.

AL BLOZIS

Al Blozis played just three seasons for the Giants, 1942-44. He immediately made a favorable impression on the team after arriving in 1942 and quickly earned a starting assignment at tackle. Blozis played in the 1944 championship game against Green Bay. Immediately after the Giants' loss to the Packers, Blozis was sent overseas to fight in World War II. An Army lieutenant, he was killed in action in France just six weeks later. The Giants retired Blozis' No. 32 jersey.

CHARLIE CONERLY

Conerly is often called the best Giants player not in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He played his entire career with the Giants from 1948-61 and was a vital member of the 1956 NFL Championship team. Conerly was the NFL Rookie of the Year in 1948, the league's Most Valuable Player in 1959 and a Pro Bowler in 1950 and '56. Conerly ranks third in franchise history in pass attempts (2,833), fourth in completions (1,418), second in yards (19,488, though he's about to be overtaken by Eli Manning) and second in touchdown passes (173). He is also first in Giants history with 167 interceptions.

DICK LYNCH

Lynch was traded to the Giants by the Washington Redskins following the 1958 season for a 1960 fourth-round draft choice. He played for the Giants from 1959-66, a period in which the team played in four NFL Championship Games. Lynch played in 97 regular season games for the Giants (109 in his career) and intercepted 35 passes. In both 1961 and 1963, he led the NFL with nine interceptions. In '63, he also led the league with 251 return yards and three touchdowns. Lynch scored seven career touchdowns, four on interception returns and three on fumble returns.

Although he had a great playing career, Lynch is best known to legions of Giants fans for his 40 years as the analyst on the team's radio broadcast. His last game in the booth was the Giants' epic Super Bowl XLII victory over New England. Lynch died nine months later. "Dick was such an important part of our organization for so many years that we really considered him part of the family," John Mara said.

JOE MORRISON

Morrison was a back and an end for the Giants from 1959 through 1972. A dominant figure during his 14-year career, he totaled 2,472 rushing yards and 18 touchdowns. He also caught 395 passes — the third-highest total in franchise history — for 4,993 yards and 47 scores. A versatile player, Morrison played six different positions: fullback, halfback, flanker, tight end, split end and defensive back. Morrison's No. 40 jersey has been retired by the franchise.

PETE GOGOLAK

Gogolak played for the Giants from 1966-74 and is the highest-scoring player in the history of the franchise with 646 points — 120 more than runner-up Brad Da-luisio. He also owns the franchise records for field goals (126) and extra points (268). Beyond his prowess as a kicker, Gogolak is a significant figure in the history of pro football. When he moved from the Buffalo Bills to the Giants, Gogolak became the first prominent player to leave the upstart American Football League for the NFL. Wellington Mara signed him after watching rookie Bob Timberlake miss 13 consecutive field goal attempts. Gogolak was also pro football's first soccer style kicker. Prior to Gogolak, placekickers approached the ball straight on, with the toe making first contact with the ball. Gogolak, who was born and played soccer in Hungary, approached the ball at an angle and kicked it with his instep — the style all kickers use today.

GEORGE MARTIN

Martin joined the Giants as an 11th-round draft choice in 1975, the 262nd overall pick. A long shot to survive his first training camp, Martin stayed with the Giants for his entire 14-year career. He played in 201 regular season games to become one of just three players in team history to cross the 200-games barrier (Strahan played in 216 games and Howard Cross played in 207).

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

Martin was a leader and catalyst on the 1986 Super Bowl champions (he sacked John Elway for a safety in Super Bowl XXI). He had a knack for making the big play, scoring six touchdowns, a record for NFL defensive linemen since broken by Miami's Jason Taylor. Martin also caught a touchdown pass when he lined up as a tight end in 1980. He is perhaps happiest that he is joining his close friend Carson in the Ring of Honor.

PHIL SIMMS

Simms was George Young's first draft choice in 1979 and he played his entire 15-year with the Giants. He overcame a series of injuries early in his career to become the most productive quarterback in team history. Simms holds the Giants career records for pass attempts (4,647), completions (2,576), yards (33,462) and touchdowns (199). He was 95-64 (.597) as a regular season starter and 6-4 in the playoffs. But Simms is best remembered for his almost flawless performance in leading the Giants to victory in Super Bowl XXI. He completed 22 of 25 passes — including all 10 of his throws in the second half — for 268 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions in a 39-20 rout of the Denver Broncos. In one of the easiest votes in history, he was selected the game's Most Valuable Player.

MICHAEL STRAHAN

Few players in Giants history were as dependable and productive as Strahan. He seldom missed a practice and played in a franchise-record 216 regular season games. Beginning in 1996, he played in 136 consecutive games before tearing his pectoral muscle midway through the 2004 season. Strahan was selected to seven Pro Bowls, was named the 2001 NFL Defensive Player of the Year and was the Giants' Most Valuable Player that year and in 1998. He was a captain on the 2007 Super Bowl championship team. His 141.5 sacks are the highest official total in team history (Taylor had 142.0 but 9.5 as a rookie in 1981, the year before sacks became an official statistic) and the fifth-highest total in NFL history. He set the league's single-season sack record with 22.5 in 2001 and his NFL-best 18.5 sacks in 2003 made him the Giants' only two-time league leader in that category. Strahan's 868 tackles indicates he was also an excellent defender against the run.

JESSIE ARMSTEAD

Armstead, a five-time Pro Bowler, was the 207th player chosen in the 1993 draft, and the last of the Giants' seven selections (the first-round pick had been used on quarterback Dave Brown in the previous year's supplemental draft). Three of the seven players taken were linebackers: Marcus Buckley (No. 66) and Tommy Thigpen (No. 123), who never did much, and Armstead, who did it all. Armstead's draft was the last that had an eighth round. He was a special teams dynamo and top-flight reserve his first three seasons before becoming the starting weakside linebacker in 1996. Armstead had a team-high 114 tackles, the first of five consecutive seasons with a more than 100. The next year, he had a career-best 134 stops, was selected to his first Pro Bowl and was a catalyst as the Giants won the NFC East title. In 2000 he had one of his best seasons and the Giants routed Minnesota, 41-0, in the NFC Championship Game.

AMANI TOOMER

Toomer joined the Giants in 1996 as a second-round draft choice from Michigan and played his entire 13-year career with the team. He played in 190 regular season games, the fourth-highest total in Giants history. He also played in 11 postseason games, scoring two touchdowns in the Giants' victory over the Cowboys in a 2007 NFC Divisional Playoff Game and finishing with a team-high six receptions in the Super Bowl XLII triumph over New England. Toomer holds franchise records for catches (668), receiving yards (9,497), touchdown catches (54) and 100-yard receiving games (22). He finished his career with 82 more receptions than runner-up Barber (586) and 4,063 more yards than former record-holder Gifford (5,434). Toomer caught at least one pass in a Giants-record 98 consecutive games before the streak ended in the 2005 season opener vs. Arizona. He holds the Giants' single-season record with 1,343 receiving yards in 2002. Toomer had the three highest single-season receptions totals in team history until Steve Smith shattered his former mark of 82 with 107 catches last year. Toomer also holds the Giants postseason records for receptions (44), yards (608) and touchdowns (seven). No one else in Giants playoff history has more than three postseason touchdown catches. In addition, Toomer is second in Giants history with 10,924 total yards (Barber is first with 17,359). His total includes 1,060 yards on punt returns, 257 yards on kickoff returns and 110 yards rushing.

TIKI BARBER

Barber joined the Giants as a second-round draft choice in 1997. When he retired following his 10th season in 2006, his name was all over the franchise's record book.

GIANTS IN THE RING OF HONOR

Barber owns the Giants marks for rushing attempts in a career (2,217) and in a season (357 in 2005) and rushing yards in a career (10,440), a season (1,860 in 2005) and a game (234 at Washington on Dec. 20, 2006 in his final regular season game). Barber has the top three and four of the top five single-season rushing totals in Giants history and the two highest game totals. His 38 100-yard games are twice as many as No. 2 Joe Morris and his nine 100-yard games in 2004 is another record. Barber has the longest run from scrimmage in Giants history (95 yards at Oakland on Dec. 31, 2005) and his 55 rushing touchdowns are another one of his records. Barber's 17,359 all-purpose yards give him another record. He owns the Giants' top five single-season total yardage figures. Another one of his records is 13 catches at Dallas on Jan. 2, 2000. Barber is also second in franchise history with 586 career receptions. He was selected to three Pro Bowls (2004-06).

ALEX WEBSTER

Webster played his entire 10-year career (1955-64) for the Giants. He played in 109 games and 47 years after his retirement, he is fourth on the Giants' career lists with 4,638 rushing yards and 1,196 carries. He also caught 240 passes for 2,679 yards and scored 56 touchdowns (39 rushing, 17 receiving). Webster was the second-leading rusher and scorer and the third-leading receiver for the 1956 NFL champion Giants. He was selected to the Pro Bowl in 1958 and 1961, when he ran for a career-high 928 yards. Webster was the Giants' head coach from 1969-73. Webster passed away on March 3, 2012, just three months after being inducted into the Ring of Honor.

BRAD VAN PELT

Van Pelt played for the Giants from 1973-83, when the team had only one winning record, but he was one of the team's very best players. Van Pelt joined Carson, Brian Kelley and later Lawrence Taylor to form the famed group of linebackers known as the "Crunch Bunch." He was selected to play in the Pro Bowl every season from 1976-80. Van Pelt played in 143 games for the Giants in four home stadiums - Yankee Stadium, Yale Bowl, Shea Stadium and Giants Stadium - and for five head coaches - Bill Arnsparger, John McVay, Ray Perkins and Bill Parcells. He had 16 interceptions for the Giants. Van Pelt died on Feb. 17, 2009.

CARL BANKS

Banks was the third overall selection of the 1984 NFL Draft and played for the Giants through the 1992 season. He was one of the premier run-stoppers of his era, a standout on the teams that won Super Bowls XXI and XXV, a Pro Bowler in 1987 and a member of the NFL 1980's All-Decade Team. Banks played in 126 regular season games and had 36.0 sacks, three interceptions and approximately 500 tackles. Banks is still closely affiliated with the Giants; since 2007, he has been an analyst on the Giants' radio broadcasts.

MARK BAVARO

Bavaro is one of the finest all-around tight ends in Giants history. An outstanding blocker, he is also 10th on the franchise's career list with 266 receptions and 15th with 3,722 yards. Bavaro was a starter on the Giants' 1986 and 1990 Super Bowl championship teams and a Pro Bowler in 1986 and '87. In the Giants' first Super Bowl season, Bavaro led the team with 66 catches - twice as many as any teammate - for 1,001 yards to become the only tight end in Giants history with 1,000 receiving yards in a season.

DAVE JENNINGS

Jennings is the most prolific punter in Giants history. A member of the team from 1974-84, Jennings holds the franchise records for punts (931) and yards (38,792). He was selected to play in the Pro Bowl in 1978, '79, '80 and '82. He punted a career-high 104 times in 1979, twice punted for more than 4,000 yards in a season and had a career-best 44.8-yard average in 1980.

GIANTS POSTSEASON CAPSULES

GIANTS 13, Chicago Bears 7

NFL CHAMPIONS

Led by Steve Owen, the Giants finished with an 11-1-1 record, then stunned Red Grange, John Driscoll and the Bears 13-7 at the Polo Grounds. "It was the toughest, roughest football game I ever played in," Owen would say later. With the score tied 7-7, the Bears drove to the Giants' one-yard line, but Owen and Cal Hubbard spearheaded a goal line defense which held the Bears out of the end zone. Hinkey Haines then faked a punt from his own end zone and completed a pass to Charlie Corgan for a 58-yard gain that set up the winning score and elation for Tim Mara and the Giants.

* Victory clinched the NFL Championship- there was no Championship game in 1927.

In a stunning collapse, the Giants watched a nine-point lead evaporate in the final two minutes of the game as the season ended in a 23-22 loss to Minnesota. The Giants were in front, 22-13, at the two-minute warning, but the Vikings were at the Giants 49-yard line following a 26-yard punt by P Brad Maynard. Vikings QB Randall Cunningham completed a 19-yard pass to WR Cris Carter to get the Vikings to the Giants 30-yard line with 1:38 left to play, and then he completed a 30-yard touchdown pass to WR Jake Reed to close the gap to 22-20. Minnesota executed an onside kick on the ensuing kickoff that bounced off WR Chris Calloway and into the hands of Minnesota WR Chris Walsh at the Vikings 39. Faced with a third-and-four situation, Cunningham fired a slant pass to Carter, who turned the play into a 21-yard gain to the Giants 34-yard line. A pass interference call gave the Vikings a first down at the Giants 21 with 50 seconds left. Vikings RB Robert Smith ran up the middle for 16 yards to the Giants five to set up PK Eddie Murray's game-winning 24-yard field goal with 10 seconds remaining for a 23-22 Vikings lead.

In one of the most dominant performances ever in a championship game, the Giants raced to a 34-0 halftime lead and crushed the Vikings to advance to their first Super Bowl in 10 years. The Giants rolled up 518 total yards and 31 first downs, while the defense limited Minnesota's heralded attack to 114 yards and nine first downs. Quarterback Kerry Collins played the finest game of his career, completing 28 of 39 passes for 381 yards and five touchdowns. Ike Hilliard caught 10 passes for 155 yards and two scores. Collins' 46-yard pass to Hilliard gave the Giants a 7-0 lead just four plays into the game. After the Giants recovered a Minnesota fumble on the ensuing kickoff, Collins hit Greg Comella for another score and a 14-0 lead. In the second period, Joe Jurevicius and Hilliard caught touchdown passes and Brad Daluiso kicked a pair of field goals. Amani Toomer closed out the scoring with a 7-yard touchdown reception. The Giants held the ball for the final 12:53.

For the first time in three Super Bowl appearances the Giants came up flat and lost to the Ravens. The Giants could not get untracked against Baltimore's highly-rated defense, gaining only 152 yards (66 on the ground) and picking up 11 first downs (2 rushing). Quarterback Kerry Collins struggled, completing only 15 of 39 passes for 112 yards and four interceptions. Brad Maynard punted a Super Bowl-record 11 times for a 38.4-yard average. The Giants defense played well, limiting the Ravens to 244 yards and 13 first downs. Baltimore took a 7-0 lead in the first period on a 38-yard pass from Trent Dilfer to Brandon Stokley. Matt Stover added a 47-yard field goal in the second period for a 10-0 halftime lead. The Ravens advantage grew to 17-0 when Duane Starks intercepted a Collins pass and returned it 49 yards for a touchdown early in the third period. The Giants responded with their only touchdown of the day, on Ron Dixon's 97-yard kickoff return. But Baltimore immediately scored on the next kickoff, as Jermaine Lewis returned it 84 yards for a score and a 31-7 lead. Jamal Lewis, who rushed for 102 yards, scored on a 3-yard run and Stover kicked a 34-yard field goal in the fourth period.

The Giants' season ended with a shocking and heartbreaking defeat as they wasted a 38-14 third-quarter lead and fell to the 49ers. Four touchdown passes by Kerry Collins — three to Amani Toomer and one to Jeremy Shockey — a touchdown run by Tiki Barber and Matt Bryant's field goal gave the Giants what seemed to be a commanding 24-point lead with 4:27 left in the third quarter. But the 49ers mounted a quick and complete comeback. Terrell Owens caught a 26-yard touchdown pass from Jeff Garcia, who then ran 14 yards for another score. Jeff Chandler's 25-yard field goal pulled San Francisco to within 38-33. With 1:00 remaining, Garcia threw a 13-yard touchdown pass to Tai Streets. The 2-point conversion attempt failed, but the Niners had a 1-point lead. The Giants had a chance to pull the game out. After Delvin Joyce's 32-yard kickoff return, the Giants drove from their own 48-yard line to the San Francisco 23. Matt Bryant lined up for what could have been the game-winning 41-yard field goal. But Trey Junkin's snap was low and wide. Holder Matt Allen took off and threw a desperation pass toward Rich Seubert, a guard who was an eligible receiver on the play. Seubert was interfered with by Chike Okefor, but the officials did not throw a flag and the game ended as a huge disappointment for the Giants.

The Giants lost a playoff game in Giants Stadium for just the third time when they fell to the Carolina Panthers, 23-0. Carolina dominated the game, holding big advantages in offensive plays (71-35), time of possession (42:45-17:15), first downs (23-9), total yards (335-132) and rushing yards (223-41). The Panthers hurt themselves with five turnovers, including three Eli Manning interceptions on consecutive possessions in the second half (two by Marlon McCree and one by Ken Lucas). Manning also fumbled late in the game. The Giants converted just one of seven third-down opportunities. Steve Smith caught a touchdown pass and ran in for another score and John Kasay kicked three field goals for the Panthers. DeShaun Foster rushed for 151 yards on 27 carries, a 5.6-yard average that was reflective of the Giants' tackling difficulties throughout the game. Jake Delhomme completed 15 of 22 passes for 140 yards. Smith had 10 of those receptions. For the Giants, Tiki Barber rushed for 41 yards, or 75 yards less than his regular season average. Manning completed 10 of 18 passes for 113 yards and was sacked four times. Jeremy Shockey, Amani Toomer and Barber had three catches apiece. Smith scored the game's first points on a 22-yard touchdown reception. Later in the second quarter, a Carolina punt bounced off Gibril Wilson's leg and was recovered by the Panthers, setting up Kasay's 21-yard field goal. Smith scored on a 12-yard reverse immediately following Manning's first interception and Kasay added two fourth-quarter field goals.

David Akers' 38-yard field goal as time expired sent the Giants to a second Wild Card game defeat in as many seasons, 23-20, to the Eagles in Philadelphia. The Giants overcame a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit to tie the score, but couldn't prevent the Eagles from driving 46 yards in the final 5:04 for the game-winning score. Tiki Barber rushed for 137 yards in his final NFL game, Eli Manning completed 16 of 27 passes for 161 yards and Plaxico Burress had two touchdown receptions. The Giants also got a pair of field goals from Jay Feely. The Eagles scored on a 49-yard touchdown run by Brian Westbrook, Jeff Garcia's 28-yard touchdown pass to Donte Stallworth and three Akers field goals. Akers' 48-yard field goal — the longest in Philadelphia postseason history — increased the Eagles' advantage to 20-10 with 2:37 remaining in the third quarter. Feely's 24-yard field goal pulled the Giants to within 20-13 just 10 seconds into the fourth quarter. They tied the game at 20-20 when Eli Manning found Burress in the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown pass with 5:04 remaining. Burress' second touchdown capped a 13-play, 80-yard drive in the rain that took 7:09 to complete. The Giants needed a stop so they could get the ball back and try to win a game. But they never owed the ball again. Westbrook's 13-yard run gave Philly a first down on the Giants' 19-yard line with 1:48 remaining. From there, the Eagles bled the clock until they called timeout with three seconds left. Akers then booted the game-winner.

NFC Wild Card Game

Jan. 6, 2008 at Raymond James Stadium (65,621)

Before the Giants opened postseason play in an NFC Wild Card Game at Tampa Bay, Tom Coughlin had a simple message for his players: "Let's keep playing." So they did. Carrying their season-long road success into the playoffs, the Giants prevailed, 24-14, over the NFC South champion Buccaneers. They broke a four-game postseason losing streak that began in Super Bowl XXXV — in Raymond James Stadium, the home of the Bucs. The Giants also won their first playoff road game since the 1990 NFC Championship Game in San Francisco. They defeated Bucs quarterback Jeff Garcia, who had beaten them in the playoffs with the 49ers in 2002 and Philadelphia in 2006. Brandon Jacobs scored two touchdowns for the Giants, one on a five-yard reception, the other on an eight-yard run. Jacobs became the first Giants player in history with a rushing and receiving touchdown in the same postseason game. Amani Toomer caught a touchdown pass and Lawrence Tynes kicked a 25-yard field goal for the Giants. Eli Manning completed 20 of 27 passes for 185 yards, the two touchdowns and no interceptions as the Giants won a postseason game for the first time with him taking the snaps. The Giants entered the game with a minus-nine turnover differential, or minus-24 relative to the Bucs' plus-15. Yet they had three takeaways to none for the Bucs. The first, a fumble recovery by Corey Webster on the second-half kickoff, led to Tynes' field goal. The second, a Webster interception in the end zone, likely denied the Bucs points. The third, a pick by R.W. McQuarters with 1:53 remaining, sealed the deal. The Giants played without center Shaun O'Hara (knee) and cornerback Sam Madison (abdominal). But Grey Ruegamer and Webster filled in superbly (the corner holding Joey Galloway to one nine-yard reception). They were among a large cast of key contributors. Toomer had a game-high seven catches for 74 yards. Rookie Ahmad Bradshaw came off the bench to rush for a game-high 66 yards. Michael Strahan had a career postseason high of nine tackles (eight solo). Gerris Wilkinson, who started for Kawika Mitchell (knee) had seven tackles (five solo). Tank Daniels had two special teams tackles and forced the fumble that Webster recovered. Zak DeOssie also had two special teams tackles. The offensive line allowed only one sack. Tampa Bay took an early lead on Earnest Graham's one-yard run, but Jacobs' two touchdowns gave the Giants a 14-7 halftime advantage. The first score successfully concluded an eight-play, 53-yard drive that took 4:04 to complete. Manning completed five passes for 49 yards in the series. Toomer accounted for 40 yards on three catches. On their next series, the Giants drove 65 yards in seven plays. The biggest play of the series was Manning's 21-yard pass to Steve Smith on third-and-two. Tynes' field goal and Toomer's touchdown midway through the fourth quarter extended the Giants' lead to 24-7 before Tampa Bay added a late score. Toomer scored at the end of a 15-play, 92-yard drive that featured 38 yards rushing by Bradshaw and three Toomer receptions for 27 yards.

NFC Divisional Playoff Game

Jan. 13, 2008 at Texas Stadium (63,650)

The Giants avenged their only road defeat of the season, a 45-35 opening-night loss, with a 21-17 victory over the top-seeded Dallas Cowboys in an NFC Divisional Playoff Game in Texas Stadium. The Cowboys had defeated the Giants twice in the regular season. The Giants became the first team to beat the NFC's No. 1 seed in the divisional round since the current postseason format (six teams from each conference) was adopted in 1990. Amani Toomer scored a pair of touchdowns on receptions of 52 and four yards from Eli Manning. Brandon Jacobs' one-yard touchdown run with 13:29 remaining provided the Giants with the game-winning points. But the victory was not assured until R.W. McQuarters intercepted Tony Romo's pass for Terry Glenn in the end zone with nine seconds remaining. It was the game's only takeaway. Manning had a career-high 132.4 passer rating after completing 12 of 18 passes for 163 yards, the two scores to Toomer and no interceptions. The Giants played with a severely depleted secondary. Sam Madison (stomach) and Kevin Dockery (hip flexor) were inactive. A third cornerback, Aaron Ross, left the game for good in the third quarter with a shoulder injury. That left Corey Webster, McQuarters and Geoffrey Pope — who spent the entire regular season on the practice squad before joining on the active roster on Dec. 31 — as the only healthy corners. All played extensively in the second half. The secondary, aided by a relentless second-half pass rush, stayed strong throughout the game. The Cowboys scored on Tony Romo's five-yard touchdown pass to Terrell Owens and Marion Barber's one-yard run in the second quarter and Nick Folk's 34-yard field goal in the third. Romo completed 18 of 36 passes for 201 yards and his 64.7 rating was less than half of Manning's. Toomer turned a short Manning pass into a 52-yard touchdown on the Giants' fifth offensive play. After Dallas took a 14-7 lead, Manning led the Giants on a 71-yard drive in the final minute of the half that ended with a four-yard scoring pass to Toomer and a 14-14 halftime tie. Folk gave the Cowboys a 17-14 lead before Jacobs' touchdown on the third play of the fourth quarter gave the Giants the lead for good. But the Cowboys had one last chance when they took possession at the Giants' 48-yard line with 1:50 remaining. Dallas soon faced second-and-11 at the 23. Two incomplete passes left them staring at a fourth down with the seasons of both teams hanging in the balance. Owens was double covered, so Romo threw to the center of the end zone for Terry Glenn. But McQuarters stepped up and picked off the pass, sending the Giants to the NFC Championship Game.

NFC Championship Game

Jan. 20, 2008 at Lambeau Field (72,740)

The coldest game in Giants history was also one of the most memorable and satisfying the franchise has ever played. The Giants overcame the elements — and the Packers — to defeat Green Bay in overtime, 23-20, in the NFC Championship Game in frigid Lambeau Field. Lawrence Tynes provided the game-winning points when he kicked a 47-yard field goal with 2:35 elapsed in overtime. Tynes had missed his previous two attempts, including one on the final play of regulation. It was the first time in the history of Lambeau that a visiting player had kicked a field goal of more than 40 yards in a postseason game. The score was set up by Corey Webster's interception on the second play of overtime. The temperature at game time was minus-one degree with winds of 12 miles-an-hour — a numbing wind chill of minus-23. In terms of temperature alone, this was the third-coldest NFL game on record. At the famed Ice Bowl between the Packers and Dallas Cowboys in Lambeau on Dec. 31, 1967, it was 13 below zero at kickoff. In the 1981 Chargers-Bengals AFC Championship Game in Cincinnati, it was nine below. Brandon Jacobs (one-yard run) and Ahmad Bradshaw (four-yard run) scored touchdowns and Tynes added a 29-yard field goal for the Giants. Eli Manning set career postseason highs with 40 passes, 21 completions and 251 yards. Plaxico Burress established a franchise postseason record with 11 catches, for 151 yards. The old mark of 10 was set by Ike Hilliard in the 2000 NFC Championship Game victory over Minnesota. Defensively, the Giants held Green Bay to 28 rushing yards, forced Favre into two late interceptions and limited the Packers to one successful third down conversion on 10 tries. The Giants dominated the game statistically, outgaining Green Bay (380-264), rolling up 11 more first downs (24-13) and owning the ball for 40:01 to just 22:34 for the Packers. The Packers scored on Driver's 90-yard catch-and-run and Favre's 12-yard touchdown pass to Donald Lee, plus field goals by rookie Mason Crosby of 36 and 37 yards. Crosby's second field goal, with 11:46 remaining in the fourth quarter, tied the score at 20-20. The Giants had a chance to prevent the score when R.W. McQuarters intercepted a Favre pass at the eight-yard line. But McQuarters was hit by Ryan Grant and fumbled and the ball bounced right to Packers tackle Mark Tauscher, who plucked it out of the air at the 19. It was the Giants' first turnover of the postseason... In overtime, Favre threw a pass to Driver, but Webster stepped up and picked off the ball, returning it nine yards to the Green Bay 34-yard line. Ahmad Bradshaw gained five yards on two runs before Manning's pass for Steve Smith fell incomplete. Tynes then sent the Giants to the Super Bowl with one of the biggest field goals in franchise history.

Super Bowl XLII had a perfect ending, but the unexpected twist was that it belonged to the Giants. Eli Manning engineered a fourth quarter comeback drive for the ages and concluded perhaps the greatest postseason run in NFL history as the underdog Giants upset the previously undefeated New England Patriots, 17-14, in Super Bowl XLII in University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale, Ariz. The Giants won their third championship of the Super Bowl era — the first in 17 years — and seventh overall in what will surely be remembered as one of the most exciting title games in NFL history. It was the first of 42 Super Bowls in which the lead changed hands three times in the fourth quarter. Plaxico Burress scored the game-winning points with only 35 seconds remaining on a 13-yard pass from Manning. The score concluded a 12-play, 83-yard drive that commenced immediately after New England had taken a 14-10 lead with less than three minutes remaining. Manning, voted the game's most valuable player, completed 19 of 34 passes for 255 yards, two touchdowns and an interception, which deflected off Steve Smith's hands. David Tyree scored the Giants' first touchdown and made an unbelievable catch on the game-winning drive. Ahmad Bradshaw and Brandon Jacobs combined for 87 rushing yards. Amani Toomer caught six passes for 84 yards and Smith added five for 50 yards.

Lawrence Tynes kicked a 32-yard field goal, which ultimately proved to be the deciding points. The Giants' defense was magnificent. New England averaged almost 37 points a game in the regular season. The Giants held them to 14. The Patriots averaged 411.3 yards a game, but totaled only 274 in the Super Bowl. The Patriots rushed for only 45 yards and did not have a run longer than nine yards. Tom Brady was sacked five times. Brady's six-yard touchdown pass to Randy Moss gave the Pats a 14-10 lead with just 2:42 remaining. Cornerback Corey Webster slipped on the play and New England reached the end zone at the end of a 12-play, 80-yard drive. Manning responded by completing five of nine passes for 77 yards on the game-winning drive. The one everyone will long remember came on a third-and-five from the Giants' 44. Manning, seemingly about to be sacked, escaped, steadied himself and fired a pass down the middle of the field for Tyree, who was closely covered by safety Rodney Harrison. Both players jumped for the ball, which somehow landed on top of Tyree's helmet. But the receiver wrestled the ball away from Harrison for what may well be the greatest catch in Super Bowl history. The 32-yard gain gave the Giants a first down at the New England 24. Three players later, Smith picked up a huge first down and Manning followed with the game-winning throw to Burress.

The Giants picked a bad day to have a bad day and saw their championship reign has come to an end in a 23-11 home loss to the Philadelphia Eagles. The Giants lost just two home games in the 2008 season - both to Philadelphia. They outgained the Eagles, 307-276, including 138-59 on the ground, but were doomed by an inability to take advantage of opportunities in close. The Giants advanced as far as Philadelphia's 17-yard line three times - and had a first down on the 11 on their initial possession - but settled for field goals each time. The Giants converted only three of 13 third down opportunities. Their last five possessions ended, in order, with a missed field goal, twice on downs, an interception and a fumble. The Giants scored on John Carney field goals of 22, 34 and 36 yards and a safety when Donovan McNabb was penalized for intentional grounding in the end zone. Carney also missed field goal attempts of 46 and 47 yards. Philadelphia got a one-yard touchdown run from McNabb, a one-yard scoring pass to tight end Brent Celek and David Akers field goals of 25, 35 yards and 20 yards. Brian Westbrook was held to 36 rushing yards and 10 receiving yards (on two catches).

The Giants used a smothering defense and an opportunistic, big-play offense to rout the Falcons, 24-2, their first postseason victory since Super Bowl XLII and their first home playoff win since the 2000 NFC Championship Game triumph over Minnesota. Eli Manning threw three touchdown passes - four and 72 yards to Hakeem Nicks and 27 yards to Mario Manningham. The Giants also got a 22-yard field goal from Lawrence Tynes. Manning completed 23 of 32 passes for 277 yards. Brandon Jacobs ran for a career postseason high 92 yards and Ahmad Bradshaw added 63 as the Giants ran for 172 yards, 50 more than their previous high total in the 2011 season. The Giants' 442 net yards was their third-highest total in a postseason game. The defense was even more dominant. The unit did not allow a point - the Falcons' only score was on a safety. Atlanta rushed for only 64 yards, including 41 on 15 carries by Michael Turner, who ran for 1,340 yards in the regular season. The Giants stopped the Falcons on 10 of 14 third down attempts and all three of their fourth-down conversion tries, including a pair of fourth-and-one quarterback sneaks by Matt Ryan.

NFC Divisional Playoff Game

January 15, 2012 at Lambeau Field

For the second time in five seasons, the Giants traveled to Wisconsin in January and stunned a higher-seeded Green Bay Packers team. They rode a terrific defensive effort and three Eli Manning touchdown passes to defeat the top-seeded, 15-1, defending Super Bowl Champion Packers, 37-20, an NFC Divisional Playoff Game in Lambeau Field. It was the third time the Giants eliminated the defending Super Bowl champions from the playoffs. In 1985, the defeated the 49ers in an NFC Wild Card Game in Giants Stadium, 17-3 and five years later, they beat the Niners in San Francisco in the NFC Championship Game. The defense held a Packers team that had averaged 40.1 points at home to half its average and forced four turnovers. Manning completed 21 of 33 passes for a career postseason-high 330 yards and three touchdowns — 66 and 37 yards to Hakeem Nicks and four yards to Mario Manningham. The 37-yarder to Nicks was a Hail Mary on the final play of the second quarter. Brandon Jacobs scored on a 14-yard run and Lawrence Tynes kicked field goals of 31, 23 and 35 yards. The Packers scored on Aaron Rodgers touchdown passes of eight yards to fullback John Kuhn and 16 yards to wide receiver Donald Driver, plus Mason Crosby field goals of 47 and 35 yards.

NFC Championship Game

January 22, 2012 at Candlestick Park

The Giants again showed they know how to play exciting NFC championship games. More importantly, they know how to win them. Just as they did four years earlier, the Giants advanced to the Super Bowl with a thrilling overtime victory on the road in the conference title game. In rainy and windy Candlestick Park, Lawrence Tynes kicked a 31-yard field goal with 7:54 elapsed in the extra period to give the Giants a 20-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers. The game-winning kick was set up by an overtime takeaway when Devin Thomas recovered a Kyle Williams fumble on a punt return that was forced by Jacquian Williams. In the fourth quarter, Thomas had recovered a Kyle Williams fumble on a punt, setting up Eli Manning's 17-yard touchdown pass to Mario Manningham. The officials originally ruled that Williams didn't touch the ball and that Thomas had merely downed it. Tom Coughlin challenged the ruling and after review, referee changed the call to a fumble and a recovery. Manning threw for 316 yards and two touchdowns while setting Giants postseason records with 58 passes and 32 completions. The other touchdown was scored by Bear Pascoe, his first as a professional. Tynes kick another 31-yard field goal. Victor Cruz had 10 receptions for 142 yards, including eight for 125 in the first half. Ahmad Bradshaw totaled 126 yards from scrimmage, including 74 on the ground. Chase Blackburn had a team-high seven tackles (five solo). Jason Pierre-Paul had six tackles (five solo), a half-sack and deflected a pass. The 49ers scored on Alex Smith touchdown passes of 73 and 28 yards to tight end Vernon Davis and David Akers' 25-yard field goal.

WORLD CHAMPIONS

History happily repeated itself for the Giants in Super Bowl XLVI. Ahmad Bradshaw's scored on a six-yard run with 57 seconds remaining in the game and the defense withstood one final assault from Tom Brady as the Giants defeated the Patriots, 21-17, in Lucas Oil Stadium. The Giants won their fourth Super Bowl and eighth championship in franchise history in a game that was eerily similar to their victory over the same opponent in Super Bowl XLII four years before. Eli Manning completed his first nine passes and 30 of 40 overall for 296 yards and a touchdown to win his second Pete Rozelle Trophy as the game's Most Valuable Player. He was at his best in the fourth quarter, when he hit 10 of 14 passes for 118 yard, including a pinpoint 38-yarder to Mario Manningham to start the game-winning 88-yard, nine-play masterpiece that was completed in 2:49. In addition to Bradshaw's touchdown, the Giants scored on Manning's two-yard touchdown pass to Victor Cruz, Lawrence Tynes field goals of 38 and 33 yards and a safety when Brady was penalized for intentional grounding in the end zone. New England's points came on Brady touchdown passes of four yards to Danny Woodhead and 12 yards to Aaron Hernandez and Steve Gostkowski's 29-yard field goal.
